Summary claims Nixon innocent

House probers receive transcripts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon today turned over 1,200 pages of transcripts covering Watergate-related conversations to House impeachment investigators and the White House expressed confidence the material would prove him innocent of any criminal activity.

The White House released a 50-page summary of the transcripts it said would show the President was not guilty of involvement in any "criminal plot to obstruct justice" regarding Watergate or its cover-up.

The "white paper" was a full-fledged attack on the credibility of the President's chief accuser, John W. Dean III.

"Throughout the period of the Watergate affair the raw material of these recorded confidential conversations establishes that the President had no prior knowledge of the Watergate break-in and that he had no knowledge of any coverup prior to 1973," the conclusion of the summary said.

The full transcripts were to be released to the public later in the day.

The transcripts were taken by presidential aides in a black station wagon on a 10-minute trip from the White House, reaching Capitol Hill half an hour ahead of the 10 a.m. deadline set by the Judiciary Committee for 42 Watergate tapes.

But the subpoena asked for the tapes themselves and Nixon said he would not comply, although in a nationwide television speech Monday night he said he would allow the ranking Democrat and Republican on the committee to hear the tapes to verify the transcripts.

Many Democrats on the committee indicated this would not be enough.

Rep. Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass., a member of the Judiciary Committee, said the transcript he received had the word "inaudible" in place of sections of conversation. Drinan said this was another reason why the committee should have full access to the tapes.

Nixon said in his Monday night speech that a reading of the transcripts with "an open and fair mind" would show him innocent" and that "the President has nothing to hide in this matter."

The summary said: "In all of the thousand words spoken, even if they are not clear and ambiguous, not once does it appear that the President of the United States was involved in a criminal plot to obstruct justice."

The summary dealt in large part with contradicting Dean's testimony before the Senate Watergate committee last summer. Much of it was devoted to the Sept. 15, 1972, meeting between Dean and Nixon, in which Dean said he was congratulated for his covering up of the scandal, and March 21, 1973 when Dean said he warned Nixon of a "cancer on the presidency."

The summary quoted Nixon as telling Dean on Sept. 15 that "the way you have handled all this seems to me has been very skillful, putting your finger in the leaks that have sprung here and have sprung there."

The summary said the statement was "in the context not of a criminal plot to obstruct justice as Dean alleges, but rather in the context of the politics of the matter." Dean had said Nixon's comments meant the President knew of the cover-up.

The March 21 meeting, according to the summary, showed Nixon posed more than 150 questions to Dean, specifically asking what other White House aides knew about the cover-up.

The summary did not have answers but said the transcripts contain "ambiguities and statements which taken out of context could be construed to have a variety of meanings."

It said the transcripts of that meeting did show that Nixon had no prior knowledge of hush money paid Watergate defendants, that he rejected such payments and said the best solution to the scandal was to have White House personnel appear before the grand jury, "even though it meant that some people might have to go to jail."

The summary contained few extended conversations. Single statements by Nixon were quoted without the context of other conversations.

The White House said some swearing had been omitted from the transcripts "in the interest of good taste, except where necessary to depict accurately" the conversation.

It said material not related to the President's conduct as well as personal characterizations of other parties also was omitted.

HERE COME THE TRANSCRIPTS!

Transcripts of edited versions of many of President Nixon's Watergate conversations arrive on Capitol Hill today to be turned over to the House Judiciary Committee in the old Congressional Hotel.

Two men bolt CIM, but captured later in L.A.

CHINO — Two maximum security inmates had to settle for less than 17 hours of freedom from California Institution for Men after overpowering a guard, smashing through a prison fence with a stolen state car, and hijacking a Chino woman's car Monday.

Inmates Joe Edward Johnson, 23, and William R. Walker, 23 were captured early this morning and are now in administrative segregation in the CIM Reception-Guidance Center pending further investigation by the Chino Police Department and prison investigators.

Walker according to Earl Muff, CIM assistant to the superintendent, was arrested by prison investigators and Los Angeles police hiding under a bed in his girlfriend's apartment in Los Angeles about 3:30 a.m.

Johnson was arrested in front of a Los Angeles motel about 12:30 a.m. by prison investigators.

About 10:45 a.m. Monday, according to Muff, Johnson, serving a prison term for first degree robbery, and Walker, serving terms for attempted murder and assault with a deadly weapon on another inmate in prison, were on a work detail cutting shrubbery on the east side of the Reception-Guidance Center. Six other inmates were in the area with Correctional Officer Steven Laughlin on the work detail.

Muff said one of the two inmates moved behind Laughlin and suddenly struck him in the back of the head with a shovel. Laughlin was knocked to the ground, suffering a gash in the head. Johnson and Walker, out of the view of the gun-towers on the West side of the Reception-Guidance Center, quickly scaled a 13-foot high fence and ran 200 yards to the CIM garage. Laughlin was unable to call for help immediately because of his injury.

Still unseen by other prison guards, the two inmates first tried to start a small foreign car parked near the garage, but failed. They then went into the garage where a number of state cars were parked.

Muff said Johnson and Walker saw two other inmates at the garage and began beating them, finally taking a set of car keys. The pair then drove the car over rough terrain and crashed through the prison's perimeter fence near Kimball Avenue.

Muff said the rough terrain ruptured the vehicle's fuel ank and caused serious undercarriage damage.

Johnson and Walker managed to drive the damaged vehicle to a nurses registry at Ramona Avenue and the Pomona Freeway. At the registry Mrs. Dorothy Davis, a nurse, was having difficulty backing her car out of the parking lot. Johnson and Walker, according to Muff, asked Mrs. Davis if she needed help.

Mrs. Davis believing the men to be state employes allowed one of the men to get in her car. As the one inmate got into the car, the other knocked her down and joined his accomplice.

Both Johnson and Walker drove the car onto the freeway and headed towards Los Angeles. All law enforcement agencies from San Bernardino

SLA surprise anticipated as deadline nears

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The poor will lose $4 million in free food unless the Symbionese Liberation Army releases Patricia Hearst by Friday —the deadline set by the Hearst Corp. for the safe return of the 20-year-old newspaper heiress who was kidnaped Feb. 4.

Miss Hearst's father, Randolph A. Hearst, president and editor of The San Francisco Examiner, has already paid out $500,000 in a giveaway food program for the Bay Area's needy, and the Hearst Corp. has chipped in with $1.5 million more.

The Hearst Corp. said $2 million more would be paid out at once and another $2 million next January if Miss Hearst is freed unharmed by Friday.

However, Miss Hearst has said in two recent tape recordings that she has foresaken her former life and has decided to join the SLA in its fight against "fascism."

Meanwhile, FBI agents and other police agencies have been placed on special alert for another surprise action by the SLA because of the deadline. The nature of the next action is a matter of speculation.

In one of its recent communiques the underground group indicated there would be no more kidnapings, but authorities were skeptical of such a pledge.

The Hearst Corp. placed the $4 million in escrow four weeks ago. If Miss Hearst is not released, the money will revert to the corporation.

President claims Dean is Watergate 'villain'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon says John W. Dean III is to blame for all his Watergate and impeachment woes —and that he has 1,200 pages of evidence that will prove Dean to be the villain.

Dean, fired a year ago today as White House counsel after he began cooperating with government prosecutors, emerged as the clear target of the edited White House tapes Nixon is making public today attempting to prove "the President has nothing to hide" in the bugging scandal.

Dean has sworn under oath he believes Nixon was a party to the Watergate cover-up. Nixon made clear he hopes to convince Congress and the nation that he is telling the truth but Dean is not.

"The basic question at issue today is whether the President personally acted improperly in the Watergate matter," he told a nationwide television audience Monday night. "Month after month of rumor, insinuation and charges by just one Watergate witness —John Dean —suggested that the President did act improperly.

"This sparked the demands for an impeachment inquiry ...

"If read with an open and fair mind, and if read together with the record of the actions I took, these transcripts will show that what I have stated from the beginning to be the truth has been the truth."

Specifically, Nixon said the tapes show Dean lied when he testified before the Senate Watergate committee last summer that he thought Nixon was "fully aware" of the cover-up plot as early as Sept. 15, 1972.

Though Dean's credibility has been challenged before, it was the first time Nixon himself had gone on the offensive and appeared to signal Nixon's intention to key his defense heavily to the Dean issue. There have been polls showing more Americans believe Dean than Nixon.

Attacks on Dean's veracity by White House aides in January and February prompted Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski —whose cover-up and other cases rest heavily on Dean's testimony —to defend Dean publicly by saying he knew of "no basis" for a perjury charge.

Construction starts on Alaska pipeline

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — Construction equipment and more than 1,000 workers moved out Monday to begin construction on the trans-Alaska oil pipeline project.

The initial phase consists of building a 360-mile road from the Yukon River to Prudhoe Bay on the North Slope, site of oil fields which oil companies hope will produce 9.6 billion barrels of crude oil.

The pipeline was first proposed by a consortium of major oil companies five years ago, and it is expected that the pipeline will begin carrying the oil in 1977.

When first proposed, it was estimated the project would cost $2 billion.

At least 9 tumble to death as German bridge collapses

KEMPTEN, Germany (UPI) — The middle section of a super-highway bridge under construction collapsed today and workers dropped to their deaths 45 feet into a Bavarian river valley, police said.

A police spokesman said that at least nine workers were smashed to their deaths.

The spokesman said another 13 laborers were dug out alive and rushed to nearby hospital for treatment on injuries. He said that some of the survivors suffered serious injuries.

The spokesman said that because it was not known exactly how many workers were on the bridge at the time of its collapse, rescue teams continued to dig their way through the rubble under rainy skies in search for more possible victims.

The spokesman said a total of 21 workers were believed to have been on the bridge at the time of its collapse at 7 a.m.

The bridge, construction of which began in November, is to span the Leubas River Valley north of this Bavarian winter sports resort over a length of 250 feet.

The spokesman said that most of the dead, injured and missing workers were foreign laborers.

The spokesman said that according to preliminary investigations, a supporting skeleton collapsed, dropping the middle section of the bridge carrying the workers down into the valley.

U.S. judge strikes down restrictive housing law

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Can a small town pass laws discouraging new residents in order to retain its rustic atmosphere?

Absolutely not, a federal judge ruled Monday.

The decision came in the case of Petaluma, a community of 30,600 persons 50 miles north of here, in Sonoma County. Studies indicate the population will double by 1985.

In an attempt to retain its rural character, the city passed laws and zoning regulations to prevent the building of more than 500 new houses a year.

U.S. District Judge Lloyd H. Burke Monday ruled the "Petaluma Plan" unconstitutional, saying the city could not halt the natural influx of suburbanites.

Burke said the ordinance was designed to restrict population growth and was "in violation of the right to travel and, hence, unconstitutional."

In a formal opinion backing up an order issued earlier this year, Burke said traditional zoning laws to regulate population density in neighborhoods and to set standards of construction were allowed.

"The only issue presented here, for the first time, is whether or not a municipality may claim the specific right to keep others away."

The decision, Burke said, "is intended to encompass, not only the outright numerical limitations upon the issuance of building permits, but also any and all features of the plan, which, directly or indirectly, seek to control population growth by any means other than market demands."

Burke said the city's argument that water and sewage facilities would not be able to handle the increased population was "not true" because such facilities could easily be expanded to handle growth.

He also noted that the no-growth policy of Petaluma would force other cities in the rapidly expanding San Francisco Bay Area to handle an increased share of people.

The construction industry brought the suit against the city, claiming that a procedure for obtaining building permits amounted to a "hazing system" intended to discourage builders. The judge said he would appoint a referee to handle disputes which arise over new housing in the future.

Nixon has paid most of tax bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has paid most of his half million dollar tax bill, an administration official said today.

The official declined to specify precisely how much of the $467,000 owed by Nixon in back taxes and interest had been in his first installment to the Internal Revenue Service, but said "most of it" was paid.

The IRS ruled that the President had underpaid taxes for his White House years between 1969 and 1972.

Presidential aides said Nixon would have to borrow money to meet the debt, but has returned thousands of dollars in contributions from sympathetic Americans who have read about his tax plight.

Oil executive freed by guerrillas returns home

MIAMI (UPI) — U. S. oil executive Victor E. Samuelson, held 144 days by Argentine leftist guerrillas before being ransomed for a record $14.2 million, arrived back in the United States today.

Dressed in a blue suit, and his long blond hair flowing over his collar, the 37-year-old Samuelson was aboard a Varig Airline flight that arrived in Miami about 8:30 a. m. EDT.

He ignored the cameras and shouts of newsmen when he first stepped from the plane and headed for customs. Later, however, he walked out of the Customs Office and acknowledged his identity.

"I'm feeling fine but I want to see my family," he said. "I want very badly to see my family."

After clearing customs he was hustled through the lobby of the airport and out a side door to an airport concourse where he boarded a twin-engine Mackey Airlines plane.

Officials did not disclose the destination of the Mackey airliner, which apparently was a charter flight, but he was expected to fly to New York.

A spokesman for the Esso Argentina Oil Co., who had an opportunity to speak with Samuelson, said he appeared "in good health, both mentally and physically, jovial, and in a good humor."

The company spokesman said Samuelson, a native of Cleveland, Ohio, and manager of Esso's Campana, Argentina, refinery, was "well treated" in the two "people's jails" where he was held.

Just when company officials had begun to give up hope of finding him alive, Samuelson showed up Monday morning, 49 days after the ransom was paid, at the home of his family doctor.

After his release he had a cup of tea with the doctor's son, Federico Pfister, a 22-year-old medical student, and was driven to the Esso offices.

"He told me to take him downtown and don't ask any questions," Pfister said. "He said he was wearing the same suit he had on when they kidnaped him."

The student said Samuelson looked "in good health" and "did not show any signs of nervousness, but he was very disoriented."

Financial sources said the 49-day delay in the release was due to ERP's need to "launder" the money —that is, transfer the funds through several bank checks and drafts to make the ransom difficult to trace.

The sources said Exxon delivered the 300-pound ransom in suitcases containing 142,000 bills in $100 denominations.

Senate wants to prevent them in future

Anticrisis move in motion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate leaders today proposed creating a temporary commission to study ways for the government to foresee and then prevent possible national economic crises.

The proposal was made by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Hugh Scott at a meeting with top administration officials.

Mansfield said that if a central government resource data bank had been established years ago to measure the nation's fuel resources, "there would have been no fuel crisis."

"And if it is energy today, of what will we as a nation be in dire need tomorrow?" Mansfield said in a statement.

He and Scott first proposed the idea of a resource data bank in a letter to President Nixon last February.

"Unless we have some synchronized and coordinated machinery for this purpose, the nation will be subject to a plague of crises, one after another, in the years ahead," the Senate leaders said.

Nixon agreed to the meeting, although he observed that "large meetings are not good for thinking through anything."

Scheduled as participants in the meeting, in addition to House and Senate leaders, were Treasury Secretary-designate William Simon, Budget Director Roy Ash, Cost of Living Council Director John Dunlop, preseidential economic adviser Peter M. Flanigan, and Herbert Stein, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers.

Mansfield said the energy crisis may be only one aspect in a whole range of possible shortages that could produce even greater crises for the United States.

Both he and Scott have proposed bringing together representatives of government, industry and labor on a regular basis to study "national needs, not only as they confront us today, but as they are likely to be five, 10 or more years hence and how they are best to be met.

"If the government is to intervene in these matters, as it is now doing, an effort ought to be made to put that intervention..on a rational and far-sighted basis." the leaders said in their letter to Nixon.

House probers are not satisfied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Most members of the House Judiciary Committee say they are not satisfied with President Nixon's offer of Watergate transcripts rather than tapes.

One urged a vote of "noncompliance" —which probably would have no teeth. It appeared unlikely the committee would take any concrete action to enforce its demand for the actual recordings.

The committee apparently will proceed with its impeachment inquiry with what the White House gives it, while continuing to press for more. Its confrontation with the President therefore appeared far from over.

Demorratic members of the committee who were asked about Nixon's decision generally found it unacceptable. Republican members praised it, although a few expressed reservations.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., who refused to comment directly on the speech, had said earlier that "we will accept no less" than the 42 tapes subpoenaed on April 11.

The ranking Republican, Edward Hutchinson of Michigan, said he was satisfied with the offer although the committee would have to "study it and satisfy ourselves" that what Nixon delivered was "a complete record of Watergate . . at least insofar as the President's involvement."

Nixon's offer would give the committee and the public edited transcripts of the 42 conversations plus material the committee had not requested.

He said he would invite Hutchinson and Rodino "to come to the White House and listen to the actual, full tapes of these conversations, so they can determine for themselves, beyond question, that the transcripts are accurate and that everything on the tapes relevant to my knowledge and my actions on Watergate is included."

Nixon added: "The task of Chairman Rodino and Congressman Hutchinson will be made simpler by the fact that the work of preparing the transcripts has been completed; all they will need to do is satisfy themselves of their authenticity and completeness."

Rep. Charles Rangel' D-N.Y., was irate. "Certainly a vote of noncompliance will come before the week is over," he said. If no one else makes the move, he would, he said. Enough colleagues expressed similar sentiments on Monday, he said, that he thought the motion had a good chance of carrying. But such a vote apparently would lack any enforcement provision.

Committee sources had let it be known previously that Nixon was not likely to be held in contempt of the House, but that if he failed to comply this would be evidence itself in an impeachment proceeding.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford, who would succeed Nixon if the impeachment process were carried to its ultimate end — conviction in the Senate and removal from office — said: "I thing thePresident is being cooperative —and I hope and pray the impeachment matter now can be quickly brought to a conclusion."

George Bush, GOP chairman, called it " a major step in putting impeachment proceedings behind us," and Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott welcomed the "wealth of material," he said was being given the committee.

The White House itself reported the initial public reaction running 5 to 1 in favor of Nixon, according to telephone calls through the White House switchboard.

Huge tanker waits to unload 1st Saudi oil since embargo

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Standard Oil of California prepared today to pump the biggest crude oil shipment ever to reach the Pacific Coast from an enormous supertanker into two smaller tankers.

The F. Hornsby Wassom, carrying the first Saudi Arabian oil for this country since the end of the Arab oil embargo, lay off San Clemente Island Monday, the Coast Guard reported. The 218,888 ton tanker is 1,068 feet long, 50 feet longer than the Queen Mary. It carried more than 1.5 million barrels of oil, worth $18 million. The tanker is too big to enter any West Coast port and the oil will have to be transferred to smaller tankers at sea.

The Coast Guard estimated it will take at least 40 hours to complete the pumping operation. Standard of California spokesmen have said there will be special precautions against spills, with boats standing by with absorbent materials to sop up any leaks.

Tiles give way, con lands in courtroom

HOUSTON (UPI) — Samuel G. Sanchez, 33, had almost made good his escape from the county jail. He had wormed his way through air conditioning ducts and onto the roof of the courthouse and was moving toward freedom. That's when the tiles he was walking on gave way, and he crashed through.

Martha will sue Mitchell; Nixon cited

NEW YORK (UPI) — Martha Mitchell has decided to sue her estranged husband, former Attorney General John Michell for separate maintenance, attorney Marvin Belli said Monday.

"We don't know what he (Mitchell) has so we are asking for reasonable temporary support, legal fees and division of property and assets wherever located," the San Francisco attorney said.

Mrs. Mitchell returned to New York Monday night from Phoenix, Ariz., and would move back into her Fifth Avenue condominium today after a two-week absence, Belli said.

The Mitchell's separated last September and Mitchell moved into the fashionable Essex House, where a Belli associate sought Monday night and early today to serve Mitchell with a civil summons to respond to his wife's suit.

Belli blamed the break up of the marriage on President Nixon. "I think the principle party in the whole break up was the White House," he said. "This was a good marriage and a long one, and she is a very good, substantial girl and if there is a villain in this piece it is you know who."

Two men bolt...

and Los Angeles counties began an intensive ground and air search in the Los Angeles-Pasadena area, where both Johnson and Walker were known to have numerous relatives and friends.

The escapees were finally located about 17 hours later.

Muff said that Laughlin was first given emergency treatment at the CIM hospital and then transferred to Kaiser Hospital in Fontana. He was later released in good condition. Mrs. Davis was not injured when she was knocked down by the escapees.

Muff said the two prisoners working at the CIM garage were not injured seriously. He declined to reveal their names.

Muff said that both Johnson and Walker were considered management problems and had been assigned to the Reception-Guidance Center's Palm Hall. Johnson had been transferred to CIM from the Duell Vocational Institute in February and Johnson had been transferred from San Quentin prison in October 1973.

JOANNE D. CHESIMARD — CAPT. MARK PHILLIPS — LORD SNOWDEN

People in today's news

Phillips criticized

LONDON (UPI) — A citizen complained to police that Capt. Mark Phillips, the husband of Princess Anne, mistreated the horse he rode to victory last week in the three-day Badminton riding trials.

"Capt. Phillips obviously terrified Columbus, forcing him over some of those terrible jumps," Mrs. Jean Pyke said. "I watched it all on television."

She said Britain's Protection of Animals Act made it an offense "to terrify, over-ride, beat, kick, torture or infuriate an animal."

John Lockwood, 70, owner of a home for retired horses, also threatened to take action —not only against Phillips, but also against the queen. He said Phillips rode the horse "very very hard over the 17 miles" and "the queen, as owner, should not let this happen."

He loves just her

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UPI) — Britain's Lord Snowdon said Monday he loves his wife, Princess Margaret, "and only her."

"Although there are rumors about my marriage, I love my wife and only her," the newspaper Hurriyet quoted Snowdon as saying.

Snowdon was in Istanbul working as director of photography for a film version of Agatha Christie's "Murder on the Orient Express."

Ex-singer pleads

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — William "Chad" Mitchell, 36, founder of the once popular "Chad Mitchell Trio," pleaded innocent in federal court Monday to a charge he conspired to possess 400 pounds of marijuana.

U.S. District Judge Adrian Spears set a May 31 pretrial hearing on a defense motion to supress evidence in the case.

Mitchell, president of Devonshire Music Corp., of Chicago, was arrested by federal narcotics agents Oct. 21 at a San Antonio motel as he got into a pickup camper in which the marijuana allegedly was found.

Bell enters race

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — Rex A. Bell Jr., 39, son of the late Western movie actor Rex Bell, is seeking the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor of Nevada.

Bell, a former Las Vegas justice of the peace, said Monday there was not one candidate of either party "I can't get along with."

Extradition asked

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (UPI) — Joanne D. Chesimard, reputed leader of the Black Liberation Army, refused Monday to waive her right to an extradition hearing Monday on an attempted murder indictment in New York.

Mrs. Chesimard, 25, who will stand trial in New Jersey for murder after the birth of her child expected in September, asked for a full extradition hearing before Middlesex County Court Judge John E. Bachman.

New Jersey Gov. Brendan T. Byrne signed an extradition order April 26 to move Mrs. Chesimard to New York to face charges of two counts of attempted murder, attempted assault and possession of dangerous weapons.

Burton injured

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Richard Burton, who is in the process of getting a divorce from Elizabeth Taylor, will be hospitalized for another week for treatment of a hand injury suffered in a movie fight scene, a spokesman said Monday.

Burton and Miss Taylor announced last week that they are seeking a divorce in Switzerland, ending their 10-year marriage.

Burton entered St. John's Hospital here April 14 after finishing work in "The Klansman." A spokesman said he was suffering from bronchitis, but Monday his representative said he also had a hand injury, received in a fight staged for the movie. "His lung problem is clearing up rapidly, but the doctors don't want to release him until his hand is completely healed," he said.

Miss Taylor, who returned here from Hawaii last week, has been in seclusion in a Beverly Hills hotel. She has not visited Burton.

Faith increased

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Evangelist Billy Graham says one effect of Watergate has been a national "renewal of faith" and increase in church attendance.

Graham was questioned about Watergate and his relationship to President Nixon at a news conference called to announce plans to mark the 25th anniversary of the start of Graham's career as an evangelist.

He said Nixon is now "a very busy man and I don't see him as much as I did before he was President."

Suspects make stand, terrorize residents

Neighborhood in seige as fugitives hole up

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI) — Residents of a quiet neighborhood in this college town huddled behind locked doors Monday as the forces of four combined police agencies rooted out a gang of bank robbers holed up in homes in the area.

Gunmen entered two residences in the neighborhood as they fled lawmen. In one home, an elderly man was beaten with a shotgun and his wife terrorized. In another, an ailing elderly woman was dragged to the basement of her house, where an armed suspect made his last stand.

Three suspects were apprehended and most, if not all, the bank money was recovered, authorities said. At least one suspect remained at large.

County prosecutor Milt Harper said the case began when a man entered the First Bank West dressed in women's clothing. The other bandits followed shortly, armed with shotguns and pistols. Customers and employes were held at gunpoint as money was collected.

The arrival of police interrupted the holdup, forcing the bandits to run to a getaway car, leading a chase from the West side Columbia Shopping Center.

Shots were exchanged, including a shotgun blast which injured five West Junior High School students as the chase passed the school grounds. Their injuries were described as minor and none was hospitalized.

The car was abandoned in the north part of town, where the bandits split up on foot to seek shelter in the residential neighborhood.

Police said one man entered the Albert Heisrodt home, where he beat Heisrodt, 76, with a shotgun. His wife Josephine, managed to escape and summon police. The assailant had fled when officers arrived.

Heisrodt was admitted to Boone County Hospital in fair condition. Mrs. Heisrodt, who suffered shock, was in satisfactory condition.

In another home, an elderly woman, Mabel Ray, was taken hostage. Police said they were summoned by a neighbor who had called the sick woman to see if she was all right and got no answer.

Police said they convinced the fugitive he was surrounded and talked him into surrendering.

Bad choice of street to try stealing bike

UPLAND — A young thief picked the wrong cul-de-sac street Monday in which to snatch a 10-speed bike. The residents there include three highway patrolmen and two city police officers.

And because of one of these residents, two 17-year-old boys are in custody today.

Officer Tom Fitch of the California Highway Patrol was returning home Monday afternoon from work when he spotted a stranger crossing his neighbor's driveway and walking into the garage.

A few minutes later, the youth exited the garage riding a bike. Fitch, who had waited outside his home, gave chase in his own car. The pursuit followed a zig-zag course and finally ended in an alley where the thief attempted to put the stolen bicycle in the back of a waiting car.

When Fitch stopped his car, the youth riding the bike fled on foot between two apartment buildings. A Montclair policeman, however, spotted him a short time later in an open field.

Meanwhile, Fitch arrested another youth who had been waiting by the car in which the stolen bike was placed. Both youths were detained by Upland police.

JOHN G. PARKER, of Glendora, former captain of Los Angeles County Fire Station 85 in Glendora, has retired after 14 years of service. Parker retired because of a service-related disability and plans to continue his education in the field of fire service. He spent most of his career in the San Gabriel Valley and most recently in Glendora. Parker and his wife, Carole have three children and make their home in Covina.

Art center to get study

POMONA — The City Council by a 5-0 vote authorized the expenditure of up to $3,000 for a feasibility study into the proposed use of the vacant United Artists building as a community theater for the performing arts.

In a second motion which carried 4-0, the council authorized Mayor Ray J. Lepire and Dr. Robert Davis, chairman of the Cultural Arts Commission, to ask the United Artists chain to hold off negotiations with other parties for the lease of the building pending the results of the study.

It was disclosed at the meeting that two other parties besides the city are interested in the vacant building.

City Administrator Jerrold Gonce said he had learned Monday that one of those two parties, a movie operator from Hawthorne, had applied for a conditional use permit to reopen the United Artists. City officials did not say what type of business the two competitors were interested in opening.

Councilman Adrian T. Wright declined to vote on the second motion, indicating he did not understand what he was being asked to vote on based on the explanations of the theater proposal offered by Fred Sharp, executive director of the Redevelopment Agency, and Commissioner Philip Browne.

The commission following lengthy studies had recommended that the council enter into preliminary negotiations for the possible lease of the United Artists but that these negotiations not become final pending the results of the study.

Hit-run crash victim dies in hospital

UPLAND — Anna Marie Mosqueda, 27, of San Bernardino, died in San Antonio Community Hospital Monday from injuries she suffered Saturday in a collision with a hit-run driver.

Investigating officers said the woman was eastbound on Foothill Boulevard in Fontana when he car collided with another vehicle which made a left turn in front of her.

The driver of the second vehicle was pulled over by two sheriff's deputies two miles away from the accident scene but fled on foot and was still being sought.

San Bernardino County

Littering on private land banned

SAN BERNARDINO (CNA) — Littering private land will be included in the ordinance covering dumping trash on public thoroughfares, it was decided by the Board of Supervisors Monday.

The decision came after owners of vacant land, particularly those in the Chino district, protested against the high cost of weed abatement, including rubbish dumped by unknown persons.

Chairman Nancy E. Smith proposed that victimized property owners post "No rubbish dumping" as a warning to the culprits, who can be dealt with when the amended ordinance is formally adopted. Calvin C. Peterson, Chino, cited a charge of $449 for cleaning up his property last year, against the usual $50.

At present most of the contractors operate from Los Angeles County. Chairman Smith disapproved of out of county contractors and insisted weed abatement should be handled by in-county firms.

Man shooting coyotes almost hits patrol car

LA PUENTE — Two helicopters and several back-up radio cars were called in by sheriff's deputies who believed they had been fired on here Monday night.

But investigation disclosed that the blast which missed a patrol car near a field at 16195 Main St. had been fired by a man shooting at coyotes, deputies said later.

The radio car was part of the sheriff's Special Enforcement Bureau which has been assigned to the area in an effort to put down youth gang activities.

Deputies said the shot was fired by Raymond Edderly, 64, and not by a sniper as they at first believed. They said they planned to seek a complaint against Edderly, who lives nearby, charging him with unlawfully discharging the gun within city limits.

Water skier injured at Bonelli Park

SAN DIMAS — A young Covina man was injured in a water skiing accident at Bonelli Park here Monday.

Witnesses said that Jeffery L. Corder's skis dug into the sand when he got into shallow water in the ski beach area on the lake's north shore. When the skis dug in, Corder, 18, was thrown head over heels.

The victim was aided by fire department paramedics who treated him for shock and a head injury. He was taken to San Dimas Community Hospital where he was admitted briefly to the intensive care unit. He was reported in stable condition this morning under routine care.

Speakers and their topics include Dr. A. H. Osborne, an orthopedic surgeon of the Metcalf Orthopedic Medical Center in West Covina, speaking Wednesday on "Surgery of the Hand."

Dr. Peter Macs, an orthopedic and hand surgeon also from the center, will discuss "Knee Surgery" May 8.

Girl injured when hit by motorcycle

POMONA — A 9-year-old girl was injured slightly Monday afternoon when she was hit by a motorcycle as she attempted to cross East End Avenue north of Phillips Boulevard.

Shelly Lynn Klinefelter, 1419 S. East End Ave., was released after treatment at Kaiser Foundation Clinic in Ontario.

The motorcyclist, John Cittel, 21, 12641 Benson Ave., Chino, said the girl started to cross the street, hesitated, began to return to the curb and then turned and started ahead again when his handlebar hit her.

Mather to speak for historians

LA VERNE — Wiley W. Mather of Upland will speak under the theme "Rambling Recollections of Earlier Years," at the quarterly meeting of the Historical Society of La Verne tonight at 7:30 in the community room at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of San Gabriel Valley.

Mather is a former professor at Chaffey College in the fields of political science and economics. The meeting is open to the public.

Oil nations to consider levying tax

VIENNA (UPI) — The world's major oil exporting nations announced plans today to consider levying a tax on petroleum company earnings in a bid to get an even bigger share of fuel profits.

The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) said the decision would be made next June during an overall review of long-term oil price policy.

A panel of experts from OPEC's 12 member nations, which produce 85 per cent of the world's oil exports, was scheduled today to conclude a tax study expected to provide the information for making the decision.

OPEC said the panel's findings would be submitted at the summer meeting of OPEC oil ministers in Quito, Ecuador.

OPEC Secretary General Abderrahman Khene said in London last week the recent tripling of crude oil prices had failed to give the exporting nations a large enough share of oil company profits.

"Further action is needed to correct the situation," he said.

His statement came amid reports by U.S. oil firms of record earnings despite having to pay the exporting nations a record $7-a-barrel in taxes and royalties.

After deducting shipping, refining and distribution costs, OPEC officials said, petroleum companies earn $4 on each barrel of crude oil —eight times more than the 50 cents earned before the energy crisis.

Venezuela to take over U.S. firms

CARACAS (UPI) — American executives tried today to learn the details of a surprise Venezuelan plan to nationalize the local holdings of U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Sears Roebuck and a Rockefeller-owned supermarket chain.

President Carlos Andres Perez, in a special message to Congress, announced plans Monday night to cancel iron ore exploitation rights held by the two American steel firms. The rights were to run until the year 2000.

U.S. Steel and Bethlehem have been mining rich iron deposits in Venezuela's southeastern Guayana region since the 1930's, investing more than $500 million.

Perez, who took office 49 days ago, announced the Sears and Rockefeller nationalizations earlier Monday in a speech to union leaders.

"We are going to nationalize all the supermarkets and department stores — Cada, Sears and all of them," he said.

The Cada supermarket chain is a subsidiary of the International Basic Economic Corp., partly owned by the Rockefeller family. Sears Roebuck has been operating in Venezuela for more than two decades and has branches across the country.

"All we know is what the president said in his speech," one U.S. businessman said after the announcement.

Perez also announced plans to eliminate investment tax writeoffs for international companies operating in Venezuela, the Western Hemisphere's main petroleum exporter.

The oil industry, headed by such international giants as Exxon, Shell, Gulf and Mobil, now pay a 58 per cent income tax rate —two per cent less than the flat 60 per cent stipulated by law —due to exemptions for investments made in Venezuela.

The Venezuelan Congress has been studying several bills for the takeover of foreign oil companies within the next 24 to 36 months.

Perez told members of the Venezuelan Workers Confederation his government would try to "create a bonanza situation" out of the 3 million barrels of oil exported daily, more than half to the United States.

He proposed wage increases of between five and 25 percent for the nation's 3.2 million workers as well as regulation of prices and profits on basic goods and services.

Man gives up vacant-lot home in box for apartment

TALLAHASSEE, Florida (UPI) — Harvey Smith has a comfortable garage apartment with a shower, hot plate for cooking, radio and television and an orthopedic mattress for his bad back.

Quite a come-up from several days ago when the 67-year-old Smith was sleeping in a discarded cardboard appliance box and cooking his meals on a camping stove in a vacant lot.

To top it off, he has an offer from a lonely Tennessee widow to come live with her.

"I think I'll hang on to that," Smith chuckled, tucking the letter in the pocket of his neat shirt.

Smith, who is using an alias to keep from embarrassing his six children who are grown and live away from Tallahassee, moved in with a middle-aged Tallahassee couple last week.

After his plight was made known, he received offers of help from as far away as Michigan and California.

He chose to stay in Tallahassee, however, and now has the home-like apartment.

Smith, living on his Social Security pension, isn't paying rent, but will help his landlord build a greenhouse behind the garage and do other chores.

High court upholds right of search

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's four appointees to the Supreme Court, joined by two others, ruled Monday that police applying for a search warrant in a federal narcotics case need only show that there is evidence to be found on the premises, even though the search is to be conducted at night.

Three members of the court who normally object to curbs on individual liberties, Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan and Thurgood Marshall, read the law to require an additional showing for a nighttime search. They said Congress intended to pursue "its strong policy against nighttime intrusions into the home."

Writing for the dissenters, Marshall recalled "the public outrage at the series of mistaken nighttime raids by narcotics agents in Collinsville, Ill., last April." He suggested that the way Justice William H. Rehnquist interpreted the law for the six-man majority may be a violation of the Constitution's ban on "unreasonable searches and seizures."

The case stemmed from narcotics seizures in the Dsitrict of Columbia, for which Congress enacts laws of local application only. Rehnquist held that the federal statute applied rather than local law.

Before adjourning for its last two week recess of the current term, the court, in a California case, laid down some standards for censoring prisoners' mail.

In an opinion by Justice Lewis F. Powell, Jr., it said state authorities may censor mail of prison inmates only to further a "substantial government interest" and not to suppress "unflattering opinions." It said both the writer and the recipient of the prisoner's letter have the right to free speech.

The Douglas-Brennan-Marshall trio wanted to go farther, saying that prison authorities have no "general right to open and read all incoming and outgoing prison mail."

A spokesman for the federal prison system said the opinion would apparently require no changes in its current rules.

Massachusetts, Ohio, Rhode Island and Washington all permit outgoing mail to be sent in sealed envelopes.

South Carolina and Wisconsin neither censor nor inspect outgoing mail if the adressees are on an approved list.

Alaska and Pennsylvania inspect outgoing mail for physical content but do not read it.

In other action the court:

—Refused to overturn anti-pollution standards set by the Environmental Protection Agency and challenged by electric utilities.

—Agreed to decide whether President Nixon has power to withhold from the states allotments authorized by Congress to finance water pollution control. It was the first time the court agreed to review at least part of the issue of presidential "impoundment" of funds.

Intruder shot after struggle

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A 32-year-old burglary suspect was shot to death Monday when he entered an unlocked apartment and struggled with the occupant.

Ladislas Boet, 25, told police he went to sleep without locking his front door and a short time later, was awakened by an intruder.

Boet said he seized a .30-caliber rifle and shot the intruder twice.

The suspect, Amo Burciago, an ex-convict, was pronounced dead at the scene.

Calif. produces 80% of nation's tomatoes

SACRAMENTO, California (UPI) — California tomato growers produced 4.8 million tons of canning tomatoes in 1973. This is 80 per cent of the nation's supply and had a value og $199 million.

Funeral

Henry Sinzig

POMONA — Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. in Pollock Mortuary Chapel for Henry Sinzig of 1715 Russell St. who died Saturday in Pomona Valley Community Hospital following a brief illness.

Entombment will be made in the Pomona Mausoleum. Friends may call at the mortuary today from 6 to 9 p.m.

Mr. Sinzig, a native of Germany, had been a resident of the Pomona area for 33 years.

U.S. keeping ties with Portugal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has accepted Portugal's new military junta without question.

State Department spokesman Paul Hare said Monday that the United States had decided to continue diplomatic relations with Portugal "without interruption."

Hare was responding to questions by State Department reporters following last week's military coup which led to the overthrow of the civilian government and its replacement by a military junta.

Hare said that the Portugese ambassador, Joao Hall Themido, had called at the State Department Saturday to deliver a note fro mthe new administration announcing its assumption of power and outlining its plans.

Monday, Hare said, the State Department had called Themido in to present him with an American note which, Hare said, marked the continuation of American relations with Portugal "without interruption."

Hare said it was too early yet for the United States to decide what it thought about the new government's policies on dealing with Portugal's African territories.

Santa Maria, San Luis Obispo coastal area: Fair thru Wednesday except for increasing coastal fog and low clouds night and morning. Cooler. High temperatures today near 60 along the coast to the upper 70s inland and Wednesday upper 50s along the coast to the low 70s warmer inland areas. Northwest winds 10 to 20 mph afternoons.

Extreme Southern Nevada: Fair thru Wednesday. A little warmer today and tonight. Highs both days in 80s. Lows tonight in 50s.

4th suspect in torture slayings held

OGDEN, Utah (UPI) — Police have arrested a fourth man in connection with the torture slayings of three persons at a local stereo shop.

Lawrence M. Anderson, a former airman at Hill Air Force Base and now a student at Weber State College, was arrested on charges of tampering with evidence.

Keith L. Roberts, 20, was arraigned Monday on a similar charge. City Judge E.F. Ziegler continued arraignment until Thursday for two other Hill airmen charged with murder in the grisly murder spree in which five persons were forced to drink liquid drain cleaner and then were shot in the head. An 18-year-old girl was raped before being shot and a pen was shoved in the ear of another survivor.

Three of the victims died, including the girl. Two others survived but one is still in a coma. The other survivor is recovering from a superficial head wound and a punctured eardrum received when one of the killers jammed the pen into his ear and kicked it.

Charged with murder are Dale S. Pierre, 21 and William A. Andrews, 19.

Walnut church will hold prayer meeting

WALNUT — The Walnut Valley Assembly of God Church will hold a special prayer meeting in conjunction with National Day of Humiliation, Fasting and Prayer, at 7:30 tonight.

First choice of Loeb, Leopold dies at 59

CHICAGO (UPI) — Attorney John O. Levinson, 59, first choice of thrill killers Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, died Saturday in a Portland, Me., hospital, nearly a half century after "just luck" saved his life.

Levinson was 9, and a resident of Chicago's Hyde Park neighborhood when he was targeted for the kidnap-murder scheme, Loeb later testified.

But Levinson walked home a different way on the day of the kidnaping and Loeb and Leopold decided on a different victim—Bobby Franks, 14. Loeb and Leopold were defended by Clarence Darrow in the ensuing murder trial and escaped the death penalty. Loeb died in jail and Leopold spent 33 years in prison before being paroled to Puerto Rico where he became a model citizen. He died in 1971.

Leopold and Loeb testified they attempted to follow Levinson on May 21, 1924, after he finished a sandlot baseball game at 49th Street and Drexel Avenue on Chicago's South Side.

Levinson later said, "the rest of the boys went down Drexel and Loeb and Leopold followed them, thinking I was with them."

Levinson said, "I went down Ellis—not premonition or fear or anything like that. Just luck."

Realizing their error, Loeb and Leopold, members of two wealthy Chicago families, doubled back but Levinson got home ahead of them. It was then the two boys cruised through the Hyde Park neighborhood and found Franks.

Levinson, a Yale graduate who got his law degree at the University of Chicago, said he apparently was picked to be the victim of the plot when he attended the birthday party of Loeb's younger brother Tommy "four or five days before the killing."

Levinson said, "When it came time to give Tommy Loeb his birthday spanking, Dick Loeb preferred me for some reason. He grabbed me and starting whacking me."

Levinson was a member of the Chicago and American Bar Associations who spent considerable time in New England where he was the amateur golf champion three times.

Survivors include his widow, Elizabeth, and children John W. and Elinor.

165 cyclists arrested for tailgating

165 CYCLISTS—1-24 ... ...

READING, Pa. (UPI) — State Police arrested about 165 members of the Pagans motorcycle gang near here Sunday "for following each other too closely."

Nearly 100 state troopers stopped the gang members on the Morgantown Expressway about eight miles south of here and gave out citations ordering them to pay $15 fines.

"We are arresting them for following each other too closely," said Capt. Michael Kostow, Reading Troop L commander. "That is a violation of under Section 1010B."

About 25 State Police sharpshooters, looked on from hills rimming the highway as the citations were issued. The Pagons sat quietly on the roadside, and there were no serious incidents.

Kostow said a State Police helicopter had kept the cyclists under surveillance since they left a Chester County farm earlier in the day. He said there were about 200 motorcyclists, many of them from outside Pennsylvania.

They were headed, he said, for the annual Billy Huber Memorial Motorcycle Race at the Reading Fairgrounds.

Kostow said a number of weapons were confiscated but no charges were filed.

Four receive bank awards

LOS ANGELES — Four Chaffey College students have been named preliminary winners in the Bank of America's annual California Community College Awards program.

Robert Keeran a business major and Jose Hermocillo a social science and humanities major, both of Upland; and Keith Deans, a science and engineering major and Renee Lovato, a technical-vocational major, both of Ontario each won $250 in recent competition held at Mt. San Antonio College.

The four winners will go on to final competition May 1 and a chance to win one of four $2,000 first place awards.

Sound carries far

When the volcano Krakatau, exploded in Indonesia Aug. 27, 1883, the explosion was heard 2,500 miles away and tidal waves killed 35,000 persons.

Who says?

You can't go home again

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Mrs. Giovanna Ashley has given up trying to give away her dog, Lucky.

About four months ago, she gave the 5-year-old German shepard-collie mix to a friend about 30 miles north of her home. Three days later, he came home "tired out" Mrs. Ashley said.

She tried again last Thursday. She drove the animal to her stepdaughter's house 60 miles away in Yuba City.

"When I gave him away this time, I figured he can't walk home again," she said with an Italian accent. "My little daughter, Mary Ann—she's 12— said, 'Momma, why you do that for?' I say, 'Because I can't afford his license I gave him to a good home.' But she was heartbroken."

Mary Ann need not have worried. On Saturday, Mrs. Ashley heard a howling outside her gate. It was Lucky.

"I gave him a bath. He can hardly walk. He's got sore feet and I think he's got a charley horse. But Mary Ann is happy. She says, 'Momma, you can't give him away any more.' So I guess I'll have to get that license. He eats a lot, too, but I'll make room for him this time," Mrs. Ashley said.

Tug boat sinks, spilling oil

MORRO BAY (UPI) — The Coast Guard said Thursday a minor oil spill in the harbor from a tug boat that sank the previous day posed no immediate danger to marine life.

The tug boat Blue Eagle, carrying some 6,000 gallons of diesel fuel, sank in 50 feet of water Wednesday during dredging operations when a swell rolled the 85-foot vessel over.

A Coast Guard oil pollution investigator said the oil was leaking at a rate of 20 gallons an hour and two divers were attempting to seal the tug's fuel tanks.

GETTING READY

Ambulance firm asks city for subsidy to cover debts

POMONA — The City Hall staff was directed by the City Council Monday to come up with recommendations next week on the formation of a committee that would look into a request by the Cole-Schaefer Ambulance Service for city financial assistance the firm says is necessary to stay in business.

Cole-Schaefer, 1830 N. Orange Grove Ave., as the holder of a certificate of public convenience and necessity, is responsible for answering all calls for emergency ambulance services in the city.

It is asking the council for reinstatement of a program whereby the city was paying about $18,000 a year for debts incurred for providing emergency ambulance services to patients from whom the firms said it was unable to collect payment.

Discontinuance of the subsidy program in 1971 came following a long and bitter dispute between the council and the firm on emergency ambulance services provided under an Emergency Aid Program (EAP) administered by the county.

At a hearing Monday, Harvey Cardwell, certified public accountant for the firm, testified that since September of 1972 there has not been a quarter that Cole-Schaefer has not operated in the red in Pomona.

Cole-Schaefer here is part of a larger company that operates ambulance and other services in other cities, including Ontario, Los Angeles, West Covina and Hacienda Heights.

Charles Birkemeier, division manager for the firm, said the uncollectable bills involved the nonpayment by a "multitude" in the 20-25-year-old bracket and a "good number" of DOAs (dead on arrival) in the 18-25 bracket.

In his written recommendation, City Administrator Jerrold Gonce asked for denial of the request, saying that "if this privilege is granted, additional problems with the EAP will occur. I believe it is in the best interest of the citizens of Pomona to have adequate ambulance service but not to subsidize such services with public funds."

Gonce said a review of records revealed that the firm was allowed to retain a franchise for ambulance service after agreeing to operate without city financial aid.

The arrangement approved by the council and county supervisors in 1971 did away with the city subsidy for emergency ambulance services but did not affect the EAP provision for emergency hospital services locally.

In their written recommendations, Police Chief F. P. Wallick and Fire Chief John Fowlkes said they found the services being performed by the firm satisfactory.

But Fowlkes recommended against granting the request, saying he did not believe the city should subsidize private enterprise.

Fowlkes said fire personnel had expressed concern about the firm's slow response times, lack of knowledge of the city's geography, lack of cooperation of some of the attendants and delay in the transportation of patients since paramedic training was initiated by the firm.

Councilman Adrian T. Wright said he recalled years ago when another ambulance firm had offered to provide emergency ambulance services without city financial aid, a program he figured would cost the city in the neighborhood of $30,000 a year.

Councilman Charles W. Bader asked for a close look at the problem in view of the "warning signals" received on the possibility of the firm being unable to stay in business in Pomona.

THE LAST GOODBY

James Taylor, principal, at right, and Mrs. Sharon Brazel, PTA president, chat with youngsters for the last time at the entrance to the main administration building at Washington School in Pomona. Washington, the oldest school in Pomona, will have its administration, kindergarten and bungalow buildings demolished this summer to make way for earthquake-safe buildings. The final farewell to the oldest structures at the school was held last week by the PTA. Former administrators, teachers, students and parents at Washington attended the ceremony.

Most county employes on job; await pay vote

LOS ANGELES — County employes are heeding the recommendation of their leaders to return to work pending action on an 8 per cent pay raise offer by the Board of Supervisors Friday.

Department heads reported today that absences due to "sick leave" were lower Monday than usual for the first day of the week.

But union officials cautioned the supervisors that the wage offer has not been accepted. They said it will take 10 to 14 days to complete and tabulate votes by the 36 unions involved in the bargaining sessions.

Approximately 13,000 of the 60,000 employes involved continued negotiations for higher wages today.

Union officials said that if one group rejects the wage offer, they may all reject it.

A strike was to start Monday morning, but when the supervisors raised their offer from 5½ per cent to 8 per cent, union officials asked the employes to stay on the job, pending the outcome of a ratification vote.

Helping hand new symbol of United Way

San Gabriel-Pomona Valley Region of the United Way has adopted a new symbol to replace its traditional torch.

The new design symbolizes the helping hand beneath the rainbow of hope and promise. The change at the local level stemmed from a recommendation by United Way's corporate public information committee.

Since the logo was first adopted in 1972 by United Way of America, most of the 2,200 United Way organizations across the country have replaced their various logos with the new one to unify the organization.

The change to the new design was made to eliminate confusion from numerous logos and help the United Way maintain a single identity.

Southwest pictured in slide presentation

POMONA — A slide show picturing the Southwest will highlight the next meeting of the Pomona Valley Camera Club on Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

The show, presented by Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wooden, will feature state and national parks in Utah, Colorado and Arizona. In addition, slides taken during a ride on the narrow gauge railroad from Durango to Silverton, Colo., will be shown.

The meeting is open to the public and will be held at 300 Pomona Mall West.

Murder suspect faces preliminary hearing

POMONA — Rachel Jean Lewis, 25, was ordered Monday to face preliminary hearing May 7 on a charge of murdering Hassan Abdul Rahman Saturday night in his apartment at 955 S. Hansen St.

Miss Lewis, of 1108 Oxford Place, was arraigned before Pomona Municipal Court Judge W.J. Harpham. He ordered her held without bail.

The defendant, a teacher's aide, was arrested Sunday in San Dimas after police received a telephone tip she could be found at 306 Toluca St. She was surrendered there by her attorney and has made no statements on his advice.

Rahman, 27, died as the result of stab wounds in his throat and chest. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Investigators said the couple had argued over a new girl friend of Rahman's. They said Miss Lewis stabbed him previously, but he had refused to prosecute her.

Court site of Law Day observance

POMONA — Law Day will be observed locally Wednesday in Pomona Superior Court's Department A with an address by Robert Hickson, president of the Pomona Valley Bar Association.

City officials, as well as judges and area attorneys, are expected to attend the observance in the court of Presiding Judge Paul Egly. The event is scheduled for 9 a.m.

Law Day is observed across the nation and was originated to offset May Day, a spring-time festival marked in some other countries.

Chairman named for open house

POMONA — A student chairman and principal directors have been chosen for Cal Poly's 1974 Poly Vue celebration and open house, May 10-12.

As chairman, Bohdan Buchynsky, of Glendale, a chemical engineering major, will be responsible for the coordination of all events during Poly Vue, which is expected to attract more than 8,000 visitors this year.

Bruce Finley of San Dimas, a biology major, will supervise campus operations and transportation, while Carol Elrod of Pomona, a social sciences major, will direct the events, publicity and public relations programs.

Poly Vue activities this year include a two-day rodeo, academic displays by all six schools of the university and teacher preparation center, a horse show, open-pit barbecue, tours, carnival, dance, student skills contest, professional and special interest club exhibits.

The weekly quiz, part of the Progress-Bulletin's school program, is sponsored by Pomona First Federal Savings and Loan Association.

2 killed in San Dimas cycle crash were prison escapees

SAN DIMAS — Two men killed April 11 when their motorcycle struck the rear of a pickup truck on Interstate 210 were both escapees from a Michigan prison, reported the highway patrol.

They were Richard Goodwin 36, and Robert William Riley, 35. Both men fled the Jackson State Prison in Jackson, Mich., on Jan 1, 1974.

Goodwin was sentenced for robbery and Riley for armed robbery, kidnap and attempted murder.

The two men were riding a motorcycle west on the freeway at high speed when it passed one car, whipped back in front of it and struck the rear of the pickup, said investigators. One rider was run over by the car.

At the time of the accident, Goodwin had listed his address in Madison Heights, Mich., and Riley in Glendora.

10 students to get inside view of city government

POMONA — Ten students from four area high schools will spend Wednesday at City Hall in a Youth Government Day observance sponsored by Pomona Elks Lodge as part of National Youth Week.

The students were chosen by their respective counselors and principals for their leadership abilities. What office each would fill Wednesday was decided at elections among the 10 held Monday at the Elks Lodge.

The 10 students represent Damien High School in La Verne and Pomona Catholic, Ganesha and Pomona high schools here.

Peggy Weis of Pomona High was elected mayor, with Gail Brown of Pomona High as city administrator. City clerk will be Brian Thornburgh of Ganesha. Bill Karr of Damien will be city attorney.

Ken Swart of Pomona High will be director of personnel and Laurie Thatcher of Pomona will be city librarian. The director of community development will be Maryann Cunningham of Pomona Catholic.

Dana Base of Damien was elected director of parks and recreation. Two Ganesha students, Fred Sampson and Stacy Adams, were elected police chief and fire chief, respectively.

The students will report to city Council chambers at 10 a.m. Wednesday where they will be greeted by Mayor Ray Lepire. Each will be assigned to his counterpart in city government and they will spend the day together.

The Elks will host the participants at a luncheon Wednesday noon at the Elks Lodge.

Merle Wooten, Elks Lodge Youth Government Day chairman, said the purpose of the observance, is to teach students firsthand how municipal government functions.

Last chance for voters to register

Deputies of Los Angeles County Registrar of Voters Leonard Panish will be on duty this week to sign up those who want to cast ballots in the June 4 primary elections.

Registration closes Sunday.

Deputies will register voters at all county fire stations as well as at Buffums in Pomona through Saturday.

To be eligible to register for voting one must be a citizen of the United States, at least 18 on or before election day, and a resident of the county for at least 30 days.

Voters who have moved to a new address must reregister.

Biochemist claims he has found cause of arthritis

LONDON (UPI) — A biochemist said that he has discovered the cause of arthritis and a way both to prevent and control the crippling disease.

A spokesman for the Arthritis and Rheumatism Council declined comment on the claim.

It was circulated in a news conference by Dr. E. C. Barton-Wright and in a booklet aimed at laymen and medical personnel.

"I am not claiming I have discovered a permanent cure for arthritis," he said. "What I do claim is that we have discovered the cause, the method of control and the method of prevention."

Barton-Wright said the disease was caused by a deficiency of pantothenic acid, a component of Vitamin B which is easily destroyed in food processing and cooking. Other scientists have considered arthritis a rejection disease in which tissues in the body's joints are treated as foreign invaders by the rest of the body.

"Arthritis is becoming worldwide in its incidence because people are eating more and more of these so-called sophisticated, highly processed but very palatable foods," Barton-Wright said. He said this processing destroys food's pantothenic acid.

Office will hire 60 to deliver new directories

POMONA — The Pomona Employment Development Office, 150 E. Arrow Highway, will recruit 60 people to deliver new telephone directories in this area Thursday at 8 a.m.

Jobs will last from three to 10 days with work beginning on Monday. Pay rates vary according to the routes assigned.

Applicants must be 18 or over, present a neat appearance, have a valid California driver's license and have use of a large car or truck with current California registration.

Holiday air is taking over at Garey High

POMONA — Garey High School has scheduled activities ranging from folk dancing to a field trip in observance of Cinco de Mayo Wednesday through Friday.

Cinco de Mayo, or May 5, marks the anniversary of the Mexican victory over the French at Puebla in 1867. It is a national holiday in Mexico and recognized throughout the southwest United States by those of Mexican-American heritage.

Activities will be held Wednesday and Thursday from 11 a.m. to noon in the Garey quad. The final day of school festivities Friday will include a field trip to Mt. San Antonio College.

Traffic, a Pomona Valley car club, will exhibit vehicles on the campus while students at Garey will be in charge of the "pan dulce", or Mexican bread, sale both days. Mexican folk dances by Garey students will be presented Wednesday. Students will take part in the breaking of a pinata Thursday.

A "cena," or dinner featuring Mexican food, will be held Thursday evening from 6:30 to 9. With a $1.50 ticket, the holder may enjoy tacos, rice and beans.

During the evening dinner, Mexican folk dances will be performed and Los Tilines, a mariachi band with members drawn from throughout Southern California, will provide other musical entertainment.

Mayor Ray Lepire is expected to attend the dinner affair.

The field trip to MSAC will feature festivities presented by the college's Mecha Club throughout the day.

Opinion

Is America really all that wasteful?

Americans are so used to being criticized, or to criticizing themselves, for their affluence that they have come to take it almost for granted that they alone of all the world's peoples are guilty of reckless exploitation of the world's resources.

Rather than being a credit to our technology, ingenuity and energy, our high standard of living has lately become something to reproach ourselves for, a sign of national selfishness — or so some critics would have it.

Yet if affluence is now to be equated with waste, America may actually be among the least "affluent" of nations. For while we may consume a disproportionate share of the world's resources, our consumption on the whole, is efficient, is conducive to even great efficiency, and is a contribution to the progress of the world.

Paradoxically, a nation like India, surely the world's poorest for its size, becomes in these terms truly "affluent."

In that country, millions of sacred cows roam the cities and countryside, consuming resources not adequate to feed the human population, to which 13 million are added each year. There, too, the inefficiencies of a government committed to thoroughgoing control of every aspect of the economy have barely enabled India to hold its own in the face of population growth.

The spectre of mass famine looms again in the subcontinent, and once again it is the "wasteful" United States, which sent $10 billion in aid between 1950 and 1971, that India is again calling on for help.

Chile, once one of the most stable countries in South America, was brought to the brink of economic collapse by the wasteful socialistic experiments of the late President Allende.

Those countries which practice slash-and-burn agriculture, turning forestland into desert after a few years, or which pour money into prestige items like steel mills or armies while having to import the basic necessities, are guilty of far greater waste than Americans, with all their air-conditioners and high-powered cars.

Even the Soviet Union, after a half-century of supposedly rational state control of the means of production, has still not begun to approach the ability of the American farmer to utilize the land efficiently, and despite its vaunted technology is still unable to provide its people with the kinds of consumer goods available even to the poorest American.

Rather than being a mark of virtue, as those American youths who like to play at being poor seem to believe, national backwardness is in many cases really a mark of national folly.

It is no doubt true that the world will simply be unable to support an expected population of six billion by the end of the century on a scale presently enjoyed by Americans.

It is also true that Americans have wasted much, especially of nonrenewable hydrocarbon sources of energy. But we have begun to realize this, and to take steps to utilize resources more efficiently, and to develop substitute ones.

Whether technology can win the race against soaring world population and finite resources, or whether we will all eventually be reduced to a level of living hopefully somewhat higher than that of India, is the burning question in these last decades of the 20th century.

But those nations who indict America for exploiting the poor of the world could do worse than copy some of our "wasteful" ways.

Brand X the loser again

The United States Trademark Association reports in its annual roundup of new registrations issued by the Patent Office that the motion picture industry has been granted registrations for the "G," "PG" and "R" symbols used in film ratings as an alleged guide to viewers.

The letter "X" apparently remains in the public domain, which will be good news to people who make maps of buried treasures and such.

"X" as in "Brand X" appears to be on the way out, however, says the association, now that all three major television networks permit advertisers to name the name of their competitors. The Federal Trade Commission also prefers specific references to a competing product by its trade name rather than by "Brand X" or "the leading brand."

All of which may or may not be good news to those consumers who are wont to make X-rated comments about some of the advertising they are subjected to.

Klassen's fancy Christmas presents

WASHINGTON — Postmaster General E. T. Klassen soaked the taxpayers $48,091.10 last Christmas for 350 fancy stamp albums, which he gave away as Christmas presents to friends and officials.

This is another example of the extravagance which has driven up the price the public must pay for mailing letters. In a series of columns, we have been reporting on misspending and mismanagement in the Postal Service.

The procurement director, Conrad Trahern, was so startled over the order for 350 Christmas stamp albums that he began asking questions. This got back to Assistant Postmaster General Robert McCutcheon, who fired off a sharp memo to Trahern, demanding to know who was poking into Klassen's Christmas boondoggle.

Inquiries had been made, wrote McCutcheon indignantly, about "some souvenir stamp albums prepared for the Postmaster General. Questions were asked as to how many were bought, what the costs were and what they were used for. Please advise as to why this inquiry was made and who was requesting the information . . . What was the information to be used for?"

McCutcheon got back a straightforward reply. "I am responsible for procurement, I have always made it my business to know what is going on in my organization. For the present time, the information is to be used for only my personal knowledge."

The details, thereafter, were suppressed by the postal brass. Nevertheless, we have obtained a complete breakdown of the $48,091.10 it cost the taxpayers for Klassen's Christmas presents.

Footnote: A postal service spokesman told us that the stamp albums are not Klassen's gifts, but gifts from "the Postmaster General." One hundred ninety-nine albums have already been distributed, in accordance with the "international postal tradition," according to the spokesman. He claimed the albums went only to "dignitaries" and not to Klassen's personal friends.

Trahern, who has left the postal service, would not comment on postal matters.

SPARKMAN'S STYLE: Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., a Southern gentleman who likes to travel in style, saved 18 colleagues and their wives the indignity of flying home from Paris after Easter in a cramped and unadorned plane.

The senator from Alabama telephoned the White House from Paris and demanded a more suitable plane to return the nine senators, 10 representatives, their spouses and purchases.

At first, the White House told Sparkman all the plush planes were in use. But someone close to the President, possibly remembering that all those legislators in Paris soon will be voting on impeachment, had afterthoughts.

Sparkman got a return call from the White House, offering him one of Vice President Gerald Ford's planes. Ford was vacationing in Palm Springs, it was explained, and wouldn't be needing the plane over the weekend.

The sleek jet made a special flight to Paris — at the taxpayers' expense, of course — to pick up the congressional travelers.

Sparkman was pleased with himself. "It was the same plane," he boasted afterward, "that Lyndon Johnson used when he was President."

The congressional delegation traveled to Europe ostensibly to attend the Inter-Parliamentary Union meeting in Bucharest. Their wives went along, Sparkman explained to us, "as a matter of protocol." All their travel and hotel bills were picked up, therefore, by the taxpayers.

An examination of their itinerary suggests, however, that the group spent more time Eastering in Athens and shopping in Paris then attending inter-parliamentary meetings.

PAUL HARVEY

Were Patricia Hearst your daugher . . .

I don't know about Patricia Hearst. I do know that most of us — sooner or later, one time or another, more or less — have been rebellious. Indeed, if a youngster is not a revolutionary when he's 16 he ought to have his heart examined.

But if he's still one when he's 21 he ought to have his head examined. To the degree that we can, let's look inside hers.

You see this cartoon in The Wall Street Journal: Youngster, showing his father his report card, says, "It's not me, Dad, it's the system that failed."

What evidence is available indicates that Patricia Hearst has been sold the notion that the "system" which has been nothing but generous to her nonetheless has failed.

Psychologists will attach significance to the fact that this middle daughter of five daughters of very busy parents was raised mostly by a succession of governesses and maids. She went to parochial school as a child and for two years to the Catholic Santa Catalina High School in Monterey where she found discipline "hellish." She dropped out, went to a less confining school, did better.

Patricia Hearst, as an art history student at the University of California at Berkeley, only rarely discussed politics. She left her family to share an apartment with a boyfriend, Stephen Weed.

She had a $300-a-month allowance. He had a small income as an assistant teacher. She's a good cook and enjoyed preparing candle-lit dinners. She and Weed spent their evenings listening to stereo or watching TV reruns of Star Trek and Mission: Impossible.

Patty maintained the family ties, saw her parents often, took vacations with them. I understand she was making out a wedding guest list and picking a china pattern shortly before the Feb. 4 kidnaping. The parents were relieved by this promise of marriage.

Patty and Weed had tried marijuana, preferred wine. They did not subscribe to her father's newspaper, preferred reading Cosmopolitan, the satiric National Lampoon and the travel magazine, Sunset.

And now . . .

The last thing we hear from Patricia Hearst is a bizarre tape-recorded message in which she calls her parents "pigs" and calls her fiance an "ex-fiance" and a "clown" and a "sexist pig."

She called her father "Adolf," an obvious reference to Hitler.

She calls herself "a soldier of the people's army." She says she voluntarily helped rob that bank to take money from the Fascist dictatorship for the revolutionary forces.

She insisted that she has not been brainwashed. I don't know. Any father has to pray with hers that she is, but I don't know. I do know that a lot of young folks, sooner or later, more or less, do go through the "spoiled brat" stage of rebellion. And that some of them, while in it, make an unerasable mistake.

LETTERS FROM P-B READERS

As others see it . . . . . letters

Bicycle safety

Summer will soon be here, and many bicyclists will be out on the roads. My husband and I have noticed many times while cycling that both the motorist and cyclist do not know that both cars and bicycles are bound to the same laws of the road (excluding freeways where no bikes are allowed at any time).

Like autos, we cyclists must obey stop signs, lights, signal our intentions, yield to pedestrians, etc. Yes, we cyclists can be ticketed for the same violations as autos; and yes, cyclists can make left turns with the proper signals from the proper lanes.

We do not have to dismount our bikes and use the crosswalks. However, young children, I feel, should walk their bikes across crosswalks—although once on a public street they have, technically, the rights of a motorist, but lack of developed coordination may cause problems with this particular turn.

The bicyclist, to be legal, must ride with the traffic; against is for pedestrians only. However, how many times do we see bicyclists on the wrong side of the street, or weaving in and out of cars, never considering a signal, and riding illegally in a group, rather than single file, a legal must for the biker.

All these actions can cause problems for both the motorist and the cyclist going the correct direction and meeting a wrong-way cyclist. Poor bike attitudes by a few give the good cyclist a poor reputation, which at times causes unnecessary harrassment from motorists.

When in doubt on what to do, remember that even though you may do everything correctly, if you're hit while riding a bike you are always the loser.

More than once we have been yelled at by passing motorists to ride to the far right. There are legitimate reasons for cyclists to wish not to do this under certain road and traffic conditions.

The next time you're driving your car or taking a walk, look at the pavement next to the curbing. You will likely find uneven pavement, gravel, rocks (which can cause a bike to slide), broken bottles and beer cans (causing flats and falls), and most dangerous are streets using gratings for water drainage. These can be disastrous.

If a bike wheel gets caught in the grating, the rider could easily as not fall directly into the line of traffic. Many times it is quite unsafe to get to the "far right." A cyclist, as does the motorist, also has the problem of parked cars; there the rider should not weave from curbing to cut around parked cars.

We have found that it is much safer to pick an area three feet or so from parked cars and stay in that general line, always being aware of opening doors and people coming out between cars. A vocal "hold it!" or better yet, a bell or horn mounted on your bike can save a rider from being knocked off by a car door into traffic.

Bicyclist cannot leave their safety up to the motorist. A cyclist must always ride defensively. Bright colored clothing and safety flags are also useful.

Now that there are more bicyclists, we hope cyclists and motorists will try extra hard to be aware of each other, and each other's particular problems. Since many motorists are cyclists, this should not be too difficult. The laws are the same, and the few extra "could be" hazards on a bike can be avoided with practice and cooperation. —Mrs. Sue Norton, Claremont.

Gossip for today

Suppose you had to make an appointment, like you do in order to see your doctor, before you would be allowed to attend a church service — or maybe wait in line like you do at a service station in order to buy $5 worth of gasoline. Boy! That would be the day when all the Toms, Dicks and Harrys in the country would be falling all over themselves in their frantic efforts to get religion. So, for what it's worth, I offer this suggestion as a possible cure for today's dwindling church attendances. — One way to improve the situation might well be to make religion hard to get.

'Look, no cavities!' the old man was shouting gleefully. With good reason, too. He had finally lost his last tooth. — And despite the good advice of that kindly old druggist on TV who is forever switching customers to fluoridated tooth paste, that's the unfortunate solution to the cavity problem which faces most Americans. According to the latest survey, 55 million adult teeth are lost each year in the United States.

Presidency more powerful abroad?

WASHINGTON — At a critical time for the nation and the world, Thomas E. Cronin, distinguished young scholar of the presidency, warns us sharply against a strongly developed tendency to invest too much expectation in what presidents can do.

In a new book, "The Presidency Reappraised," a collection of essays to which he contributes and helps edit, Cronin dissects a phenomenon not new in mention but seldom more lucidly analyzed.

Franklin D. Roosevelt's dramatics in depression and war are to Cronin the obvious starting point in the building of public attitudes which place excessive hope in the presidency. What he calls an "FDR halo effect" persists, he says, even today. Continues Cronin in his essay:

"The vision, and perhaps the illusion, is that, if only we can identify the right man, our loftiest aspirations can and will be accomplished . . . But it seems to me that our textbook writers and many of our journalists have egregiously over-simplified and exaggerated the capabilities of the modern presidency for policy accomplishment. The typical 'textbook presidency' conveys an inflated, and unrealistic interpretation of presidential competence, omniscience, and beneficience."

At the close, he suggests that no conceivable ideas for betterment of the office will "measurably alter the fact that the burdens on the presidency are nearly impossible; expectations on presidents to lead us to easy victories will probably always exceed the realistic possibilities."

None of what the author says is deliberately set against the background of public disillusionment arising from President Nixon's Watergate troubles.

What Cronin has been studying for a considerable time is how the presidency and the White House establishment work not merely to frame and advance policies, but to implement those which Congress enacts and the president bears untimate responsibility for carrying out.

Since this scholar soon will have published a whole book on this subject, obviously only parts of his argument can be marshaled here — argument he offers in support of his view that the presidency, for all its great growth, is a severely limited office.

Cronin finds that, in the time of the last few presidents, they have not pressed well and hard to execute enacted programs, Their interest in the notably difficult field of domestic policy is painfully laggard.

Worse still, in interviewing 50 former White House aides, he discovered a potent consensus that White House monitoring and evaluation of domestic public policies (to gauge their execution and usefulness) have been "haphazard and inadequate — not employed when needed and often not offering much help when employed."

In fact, nearly two-thirds of those queried felt that White House capabilities in this field were "poor," "terrible," or almost non-existent.

Cronin repeats what we all know, that a president brings many of his key campaign helpers into the White House with him, and fills most of his cabinet and other top agency posts with men whose competence and fitness he has little time to weigh.

Domestic-area cabinet officers in rare White House visits have to act like super-salesmen, and still find decisions affecting their vast bureaucratic balliwicks being made by young men generally without prior experience in the areas concerned.

So, while presidents are usually basking in the glamour of foreign, policy headlines, except for the economy they are likely to be grossly ineffectual on the tangled home front.

Montclair mayor proclaims law observance week

MONTCLAIR — "Respect for Law Week," an annual observance sponsored by the Optimist clubs of the West End, has been proclaimed by Mayor Harold Hayes for Wednesday through Monday.

The observance marks the attempt by Optimist clubs in the United States and Canada to encourage citizens to become actively involved in combating crime.

Lorin Myers, vice president of the Montclair Optimist Club and chairman for the special week, said that the first step in creating a climate in which respect for law can exist is through establishing full cooperation between citizens and their local law enforcement officers. In areas where this cooperation has been accomplished, a measured decrease in the rate of crime has been noted, Myers added.

Optimist International's program was initiated seven years ago in reaction to public apathy towards the increasing problems of crime. Since that time, other civic groups throughout the country and Canada have joined in the effort.

"The Optimists are quick to point out that their program does not reflect a blanket endorsement of the practices and personnel of all law enforcement agencies, but does emphasize the need for citizens to demand good law enforcement and to offer cooperation in every possible way," stated Myers.

Gabriel A. Ferrer, president of the Breakfast Optimist Club of Montclair, reported that a special presentation by Police Chief Ray McLean will be featured at the 7:30 a.m. Thursday meeting at the Howard Johnson Restaurant in Claremont.

All members of the Montclair Optimist Club will have the opportunity to "ride-along" on police patrols during the special week of observance.

MATH AWARD

Kasey Schuetze, 12, a sixth-grade student at Madison Elementary School in Pomona, holds the trophy awarded her at an assembly in recognition of her accomplishment in math. She has completed all 100 levels of elementary school math taught at Madison and is ready to move on to secondary level instruction. Madison math specialist Joyce J. Lewke is pictured with Kasey, a student in Arch Grantz' homeroom.

MSAC schedules variety of Chicano Week events

WALNUT — Folk dancing and music, guest speakers, an art show, high school visits, a health fair and blood drive will be features of the Mt. San Antonio College Chicano Week Wednesday through Friday.

MSAC's own Folklorico will open festivities Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. with a presentation on the Student Center Patio. At 10 a.m., inmates from the California Institute for Men will discuss the problems of Mexican-American prisoners, and at 11 a.m. Maria Montes, candidate for Congress, will be guest speaker.

At noon Wednesday, members of the campus Mexican-American Club, MECHA, and other Mexicana-American students will present Mexican dances. In addition, the MSAC Teatro will make its first appearance, also at noon.

Wednesday evening has been designated Community Night and will present children's art on the Student Center Patio. Youngsters from all over the MSAC District have donated art works for the display. Mariachis "Tenampa" and the MSAC Folklorico and Teatro, will perform and Mexican pastries and punch will be served.

During the three-day affair, students from area high schools will be the special guests of the MECHA members. On Wednesday, students from Bonita, Pomona, Nogales and Bassett will be on campus for the day. Thursday will see visitors from Sierra Vista, Garey, La Puente and Workman High Schools and children from the Bassett Head Start Program. Ganesha High School students are expected on campus Friday.

MSAC's first health fair and annual blood drive will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Thursday at the Student Center, jointly sponsored by MECHA and the Student Activities Council. Blood donations will be accepted from persons both on and off campus. Interested people may make appointments to donate blood by calling the MECHA office or Student Center on Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday.

The health fair will include displays, information and personnel from 16 community and MSAC agencies. MECHA's purpose in sponsoring the event is to disseminate accurate information on health care and health careers to students and area residents, and to afford opportunities to all to take tests offered by some of the agencies.

On Friday 10 a.m. Estaban Torres, candidate for Congress, will be the guest speaker in the Student Center. A food sale, featuring all types of Mexican food, will begin at 11 a.m. and continue through the noon concert.

Changing Times and Higher Ground will be featured Friday evening as MECHA is host at a dance from 9 a.m. to 1 a.m. in the Student Center. Admission is $2 per person.

Throughout the week, MECHA will be collecting canned foods for its United Farm Workers Food Drive.

An art show, presenting the works of artists in the Chicano community, new talent, children and prison inmates, will be on display in the college's Art Gallery all week.

Montclair High Key Club named most outstanding

MONTCLAIR — Montclair High School Key Club was named the most outstanding club of 1973-74 at a recent Kiwanis-Key Club-Circle K Divisional banquet.

Matt Burkhart, Montclair junior who is secretary of the Key Club, was chosen lieutenant governor of Division 15. He has been in the Key Club since his freshman year and currently is club parliamentarian. He was installed lieutenant governor at a convention in San Diego.

Montclair junior John Lesko is the club's 1974-75 council president. Other officers are Robert Engle, vice president; Nrian Noyes, secretary; and Doug Minor, treasurer.

Daniel McCarter is advertising manager. Michael Aller is parliamentarian. George Lesko is historian.

Pomona is raising prices for street-tree planting

POMONA — Starting Wednesday the Parks and Recreation Department will charge higher rates for the planting of young street trees, which will be larger than they have been in the past.

The Parks and Recreation Commission, with the concurrence of the City Council, authorized that 15-gallon size trees rather than the five-gallon size be planted in residential, commercial and industrial areas.

Roger Taylor, superintendent of parks, said the change was requested because the five-gallon trees planted are susceptible to damage, disease, drought, vandalism and other critical early growth problems.

The charge for a residential tree planting will be increased from $10 to $15, and $25 per tree will be charged in the commercial, industrial and multiple family residential areas.

A charge of $36 per tree will be made for replants due to neglect.

Rock-roll festival

ONTARIO — Chaffey High School will present a rock and roll festival Friday from 5 p.m. to midnight in the school auditorium to raise funds to establish a Student Center.

Five bands will play. They are Black Creek, Dixon, Lucille, Pegasus and Roadside.

Tickets are $3 per person and may be purchased at the Chaffey bookstore, and at the Pizza Warehouse on Bonita Avenue and D Street in La Verne.

Rowland Heights

Class in backpacking offered to beginners

ROWLAND HEIGHTS — The Rowland Recreation Department will offer a class in backpacking for beginners starting Wednesday.

It is open to familes, couples, fathers and sons and scouts. The instructor, Ken Morse, said this is the best time of year for backpacking in Southern California mountains.

Completion of this class, and a trip, may be used toward the Presidential Sports Award in backpacking.

Subjects to be covered are the care and use of equipment and clothing, trail safety, food and its preparation, compass and topographic map reading and first aid.

An overnight outing and a class manual are included.

The class will meet each Wednesday from 7 to 8 p.m. at Alvarado Intermediate School. It will consist of six one-hour classroom sessions, and four hours of instruction on the outing.

Those interested in enrolling may register now at the recreation office at 1830 S. Nogales St. The office telephone number is 213 965-2541. The fee is $10 for the first family member and $7.50 for each additional member. There is a minimum registration of 12 students required for the class.

Upland Mayor's prayer breakfast

UPLAND — Dr. Ralph L. Byron, chairman of the Department of General and Oncologic Surgery at City of Hope, will speak at the second annual Upland Mayor's Prayer Breakfast on Wednesday.

Sponsored by the Upland Kiwanis Club, the event will be held in the Brethren in Christ Church. Breakfast will be served at 7 a.m. and the program will begin at 7:20 a.m.

Dr. Byron is an active layman in the Lake Avenue Congregational Church in Pasadena and is a member of the Tokyo Christian Crusade team of World Vision.

The public is invited to atend the breakfast. Tickets are $2.75 and may be obtained by calling Don Deal at 986-5847.

Xerox employe given leave to help in English program

POMONA — Lee Stone, an employe of the Pomona branch of the Xerox Corp., has been granted a six-month "social service leave" to help the Volunteer Vital English program.

The program is made up of 150 persons who go into non-English speaking homes to teach the English language.

Mrs. Stone is one of 34 persons chosen by the corporation from applicants from throughout the country.

The corporation grants fully-paid leaves of absence for periods ranging from one month to a year so that employes can pursue social service projects of their choice.

This is the third year Xerox has participated in the social service program.

Mrs. Stone lives in Cucamonga with her husband and a son. She has served as a volunteer teacher in Vital English since 1973.

The next two orientation meetings for persons interested in becoming teachers will be held Thursday, May 16, at 7 p.m. at the Mt. San Antonio College Education Center, 1158 W. Mission Blvd., Pomona, and on Tuesday, May 28, at 7 p.m. at the United Methodist Church of Cucamonga.

Air conditioned by Payne.

That menacing beast you're looking at is a tourist attraction in the desert near Palm Springs, California.

It didn't scare us a bit.

With all its king sized problems (large rooms, small rooms, tunnels, stairs), a Payne Air Management Specialist was able to air condition it.

Without any problems.

Which makes our point.

If a Payne Air Management Specialist can expertly air condition this monster, he can air condition your home as well.

Alcorn-Story vows exchanged in home

MRS. CHESTER ALCORN

Mary Ellen Story and Dr. Chester LeRoy Alcorn exchanged wedding vows in a double-ring ceremony at the Alcorn home in Pomona.

Pastor C. H. Peaden of Chino officated at the rites.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Johnson of Pomona, the bride was given in marriage by her son, Craig Bernard Story.

She wore a gown of light green chiffon and carried stephanotis on a nurse's white prayer book.

Donna Michelle Alcorn was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Julie Diane Alcorn and Mrs. Dennis Alcorn.

Dennis Warren Alcorn was best man for his father. The groom, son of Mrs. Geneva Alcorn of Lynwood, chose Douglas Alcorn and Craig Story as ushers.

Dr. and Mrs. Alcorn have returned from a wedding trip to San Diego and are making their home in Pomona.

Coming Events

WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Watkins to entertain NABA group

North American Benefit Association members will meet for a sack luncheon Friday in the home of Mrs. Mary Watkins, 429 S. Cataract St., San Dimas.

Games will be played during the afternoon and members are requested to bring a white elephant for a prize.

The group will hold its second meeting of the month at 10:30 a.m. May 17 when the local review will entertain the Tri-County Club at a luncheon.

Red Cross seeking volunteers

The Pomona Chapter of the American Red Cross is seeking registered nurses and other volunteers for its twice-weekly blood donor center operation.

The center at 420 N. Reservoir St. is open every Tuesday from 2 to 6:30 p.m. and Wednesday from 1 to 5:30 p.m.

According to Mrs. Dorothy Prickett, volunteer coordinator, workers were formerly asked to serve a full shift if possible. Now the center is seeking volunteers who will help for half of a shift.

Mrs. Prickett suggests that mothers of school-age children volunteer for the earlier part of the afternoon and working women or older volunteers serve during the latter part.

Needed to continue the highly successful program are registered nurses, typists, hostesses and nursing aides.

Persons who are interested in the community service project which provides blood to local hospitals are asked to call the Red Cross, 629-7455.

Woman given scholarship

GLENDORA — Mrs. Blanche Epps of Glendora has been selected as a recipient of one of 10 $300 scholarship awards presented by Alpha Gamma Sigma, the state honor society.

Mrs. Epps, a past officer of the Citrus College chapter of the society, was selected on the basis of her academic achievements in competition with students from all California community colleges.

Persons having articles to donate who are unable to bring them to the church may call the church office or Mrs. John Heesen.

Folk Dance Festival scheduled

Mt. San Antonio Council Camp Fire Girls' annual Folk Dance Festival is scheduled at 2 p.m. Saturday at Charter Oak High School in Covina.

Hundreds of girls from the council will participate in the colorful event which has "It's A Small World" as this year's theme. The girls have created the costumes they will wear as they perform dances representing different countries of the world.

The Camp Fire members learn to perform folk dances from other lands and recreate native costumes to help them understand different cultures and people.

The festival is one of the largest of its kind. The one-hour show is open to the public without charge.

Girls from 25 cities from the San Gabirel River to the western portion of San Bernardino County will perform, according to Mrs. Vincent Van Detta, general chairman.

Engagement announced

Miss Colleen Patricia Kelly and James Anthony Caponigro have set Nov. 14 as the date of their wedding.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Kelly of La Verne. She graduated from Bonita High School and Sawyer's Business College.

Miss Kelly is employed by Los Angeles County in Pomona.

Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Caponigro of Vista. He graduated from Vista High School and Cal State Pomona where he was affiliated with Ta Beta Pi fraternity.

Mr. Caponigro is employed by General Dynamics—Pomona Division.

Inflationary pressure causes fee increase

CLAREMONT — Tuition at Pomona College will be increased next Sept. 1 from $2,730 to $2,950 and room and board charges will be raised from $1,400 to $1,600 it was announced by Dr. David Alexander, president of the college.

Formal announcement of the increases was made in a personal letter from Alexander to Pomona College's 1,300 students and their parents. The costs of other general fees will remain unchanged.

Alexander in his letter blamed "inflationary pressures" and mounting costs for food services, "increases which are virtually unprecedented in American experience," as reasons for the cost boosts.

He further noted that "it should be of interest to all students and their parents that the budget for 1974-75 shows that tuition and fee income provides only one-half of the educational and general costs, the other half being made up from endowment income, gifts and other sources. This half represents the college's subsidy of every student."

College student, 20, is Selassie successor

ADDIS ABABA (UPI — Aging Emperor Haile Selassie, his government rocked by military, political and civilian unrest, has unexpectedly picked a 20-year-old college student as his eventual successor.

Selassie, 81, in a surprise announcement to 700 guests gathered at the imperial palace for Easter, named his grandson, Prince Zera Yakob Asfa Wossen, Sunday as acting crown prince and next in line to assume the throne.

Prince Zera, a student at England's Oxford University, replaced his ailing father, Crown Prince Asfa Wossen, 57, who was paralyzed by a stroke more than a year ago.

The move came after a series of military uprisings, worker protests and legislative rebellions this year over demands for higher living standards and an end to government corruption.

The unrest forced the "Lion of Judah" emperor, who once held absolute rule over his ancient kingdom, to name a new cabinet and give the legislature additional powers.

(In London, the Guardian newspaper said in a dispatch from southern Ethiopia at least 15 persons were shot and killed Friday at the town of Arba Minch. The dispatch said peasants revolting against local officials and landlords burned farms along a 250-mile stretch of the fertile Rift Valley.)

Selassie did not say why he named Prince Zera as acting crown prince, but diplomats said it was possible the youth's father, hospitalized in Geneva, had become too ill to ascend to the throne.

The diplomats noted however, the ailing prince's position at the palace had become clouded long before his January, 1973, stroke.

"The emperor has never really forgiven Crown Prince Asfa Wossen for what he sees as his treacherous role in the abortive 1960 military coup when the prince reluctantly sided with the rebels," a Western diplomat said.

Zera Yakob, who studied at Canada's McGill University before Oxford, was described by diplomats as a diligent, level-headed young man who remained aloof from court infighting sparked by his father's illness.

"The choice of the crown prince's eldest son is in line with the constitution and as such will probably be welcomed by almost everybody," a diplomat said.

Oregon girl named top homemaker

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Susan Van Wechell, 18, a senior at Sunset High School, Beaverton, Ore., has been named Betty Crocker 1974 All American Family Leader of Tomorrow.

Miss Van Wechel recently won over more than 703,000 high school seniors from all 50 states and the District of Columbia.

She will receive a $5,000 scholarship from General Mills, sponsor of the annual education scholarship program. Her school will receive a 20-volume reference work, "The Annals Of America" from Encyclopaedia Britannica Educational Corp.

Miss Van Wechel is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Van Wechel, Portland, Ore. She plans to major in chemistry or biochemistry when she enters college this fall.

The Gordo Van Wechels live at 9303 NMW. Cornell Road.

Flying saucers final show topic

ALTA LOMA — The flying saucer controversy will be explored in depth during the Chaffey College planetarium's final show of the academic year.

The program, "UFO's — Fact or Fiction?" will be presented Tuesday, May 7 and 21 at 7:15 p.m.

Features of the show include the age of the universe, the possibility of life on other planets, the speed of light, the alleged sightings of unidentified flying objects, and the motivation for these so-called visits from outer space.

The program is open to the public at no charge.

Glendora club plans English horse show

LA VERNE — Lone Hill Riding Club of Glendora will hold its all-English open horse show on Saturday, May 11, at the J. J. Ranch, 2510 Golden Hills Road.

Ten flat classes and 10 hunter and jumper classes are scheduled for the event. There will be a high point award and a reserve high point for horse and rider accumulating the most points for the day.

Prizes include imported silver for first place and ribbons for first through sixth places; horse cooler and horse blanket for the high point awards; and a $15 first place award in the open jumper class.

English attire, including hard hats, must be worn in order to ride. Scheduled starting time is 8:30 a.m. All classes have a $3 entry fee. Further information may be obtained by calling 599-3647, 983-8765 or (213) 335-7416.

Women's cancer topic for MSAC seminar

WALNUT — Nine nationaliy and internationally known medical experts will conduct a one-day seminar on cancer in women Saturday at Mt. San Antonio College.

The seminar, "A Symposium on Diagnosis and Clinical Management of Cervico-Uterine and Vaginal Cancer and Related Disease States," is being jointly sponsored by the American Cancer Society and the Inter-Hospital Council for Continuing Medical Education.

Taking part in the symposium, the first of its kind in the area, will be Juan A. Del Regato, director of radiotherapy at Penrose Cancer Hospital, Colorado Springs; James W Reagan, professor of pathology at Case Western Reserve University Medical Center, Cleveland; Stanley J. Robboy of the Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston Steven Silverberg, chief of the pathology department, University of Colorado School of Medicine, Denver; Gay Guzinski of the City of Hope Medical Center, Duarte; Charles P. Schwinn, director of cytopathology service of the County-USC Medical Center; Duane Townsend of the gynecologic oncology section of USC School of Medicine; Watson Watring of the UCLA Medical Center; Lydia Oswaldo, chief of surgical pathology at Mt. Sinai Hospital, Beverly Hills; and J. Douglas Smith, chairman of the American Cancer Society, East San Gabriel Branch, committee for medical education.

The inter-hospital council is comprised of staff from San Dimas Community Foothill Presbyterian and Glendora Community hospitals.

No leniency for this one

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A thief who stole $306 from a cash box in a county building ought to figure that if he gets caught, there's no point throwing himself on the mercy of the court.

The money was taken sometime between Monday night and Wednesday morning police said.

Then he escaped with the Superior Court judges' petty cash fund.

Nice bid can finish last

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South was pretty bitter about the whole thing. He had bid three notrump on the theory that the way to get top scores in match-point play was to play all hands in notrump.

He had won the heart lead and promptly led a spade. West had produced the king on that first spade lead and after mature deliberation, South had let that king hold. He was afraid it was a singleton, and in that case it was necessary to duck the first spade in order to score five spade tricks.

Opening lead—♥Q

West's play of second-hand high held South to three notrump and one match point on the score in the duplicate game.

How did this South get one match point?

It seems a couple of North-South pairs reached six spades. One made it.

At the other table the six-spade declarer won the opening heart in dummy; tried a spade finesse and then led a diamond to dummy's king.

West ducked as if he didn't have a care in the world. Later on North led a second diamond toward dummy and rose with the queen. West took his ace and promptly led diamonds back. If he hadn't, North would still have made the slam by means of a club-diamond squeeze against East.

She needs affection

By JEAN ADAMS

CUTTER: (Q.) My big hassle is that I'm on probation. I'm 15 years old and have been cutting school for almost two years.

Everybody talks to me about it but I just don't listen. That's my whole trip.

Can you give me some advice so I can get my head straight and keep in school? —Outsider in California

(A.) You need school more than school needs you. Face up to that fact. Stop copping out. The rest of your life depends on it.

LITTLE LOVE: (Q.) What can I do to make Jim more affectionate?

We have been dating off and on for a year and a half. We go to the movies and bowling but when we are alone he is like a tree trunk. Cold. When he leaves for the night, it is a quick peck on the cheek, with no embrace.

I really need affection. Not sex or heavy petting, but warmth. He is 20 and I am 18½ — Discontented in New Jersey

(A.) Discuss your feelings with Jim.

Then if he does not change for the better perhaps you should team up with a more affectionate human being.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The basic rights of human beings are being violated on every continent and in every region of the world, Nobel Peace Prizewinner Rene Cassin said Sunday.

Cassin, president of the International Institute of Human Rights, said in an address on Judaism and Human Rights, "there is no region of the world that is exempt from the taint of violence, no continent that does not offer the spectacle of the violation of fundamental human liberties."

Dodgers start quickly, hold off Mets

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES — There was only one game scheduled at Dodger Stadium Monday night. But 21,934 paying fans really saw two.

The first lasted just two innings and was an 8-0 Dodger victory. The second lasted 6½ innings and was won by the New York Mets, 7-0.

Walter Alston's spirited young crew outhit the Mets, 8-1, in the two-inning conquest. But the New Yorkers turned on their tormentors and lashed 12 hits to the Dodgers' none in the 6½-inning romp.

At least that was the way it looked from the press box.

Actually, the Dodgers, held on to take a narrow 8-7 decision from the visitors in one regulation game. But they were looking over their shoulders the last three innings.

The Angelenos played errorless ball. The Mets were guilty of two mistakes physically, two mentally, and one spiritualllly.

The last is the one that killed them. You can lay it on Felix Millan, the visitors' fine second baseman and number two hitter in the New York lineup.

Millan was hit by an errant Don Sutton pitch in the first inning. It made him mad. There's an old baseball axiom that says if you get hit, you take it out on the shortstop or second baseman.

Millan didn't have to try and steal. He got his chance when Cleon Jones, the next hitter rapped a double play ball at shortstop Bill Russelll.

Russell fired to Lopes for the first out. But there was Millan bearing down on the Dodger second baseman like a runaway express.

Somehow Lopes got the throw away to complete the double play. Then Millan crashed into him knocking him five feet backwards before he went down, completed a backward somersault, and wound up flat on his back.

Millan had done his job under the unwritten rules in spirited fashion. But it was a big mistake.

Lopes got up slowly, ignored Millan, stared briefly into the Mets' dugout and then trotted off the field. The visitors had been notified. A note was due and would soon be collected.

What followed was nearly a virtuoso performance. Lopes singled and stole second. Millan twice tried to sneak over for a pickoff attempt. Twice Lopes retreated toward the bag. Twice Millan turned back to his position.

The third time was different. As soon as Millan turned and started toward his position, Lopes was off like a shot for third base. He made it easily.

Meanwhile, pitcher George Stone had retired Tom Paciorek and walked Jimmy Wynn. Ron Cey should have been an easy out on a grounder to third baseman Wayne Garrett.

But Lopes dashed toward home to draw a throw and got himself into a rundown. While the Mets were trying to nail the elusive Lopes, Wynn and Cey were running flat out and reached third and second respectively.

Stone and first baseman John Milner were over between third and home now too. With all the traffic on the basepaths Mets catcher Ron Hodges, who didn't have the ball at the time, got in the way of Lopes.

Umpire Ed Sudol called interference and Lopes was awarded the next base which was home plate. Hodges was charged with an error.

So instead of two out and two on, the Dodgers had a run home, two on and only one out. Steve Garvey's tap to third should have been the third out. But it was only the second.

Singles by Willie Crawford, Steve Yeager and Bill Russell plus an error by Harrelson brought in three more runs, all unearned. Four hits in the second inning plus two walks and a sacrifice fly accounted for four more.

They needed them all.

"Lopes put on quite an exhibition," agreed Alston. "Without his determination, we couldn't have scored any runs in the first inning."

The Dodger play so far has opened the eyes of Mike Marshall and reduced the erstwhile scholar-instructor to words of one and two syllables.

"It's really something," he said. "This club can go out and play its average game, the players doing just what they do naturally, and play the greatest ballgame I've ever seen. There's an awful lot of talent."

It goes on display again tonight at 7:30 p.m. Tommy John (5-0) and Jerry Koosman (3-0) will be the pitchers.

Celtics in command?

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Tommy Heinsohn, while he denies it, has to feel a little like the guy in the drivers' seat.

His Boston Celtics won the first game of the National Basketball Association championship series Sunday. And they're in good shape for the second game tonight.

"We've proven we can play our style of game," he said. "But the Bucks haven't proved they can play theirs against us."

Bucks Coach Larry Costello has made some changes in an effort to prove his style of basketball can work against the run, run style of the Celtics.

"The Bucks aren't a running team," Heinsohn said. "They like to set up and work the ball for the shot."

Boston came out in a full court, game long press Sunday and they forced the Bucks to take so much time getting the ball into the forecourt there wasn't much time for Milwaukee to get set up.

Heinsohn can be expected to employ the same strategy tonight and some people expect Costello to try and get some help for his guards in bringing the ball up.

In the first game, which Boston won 98-83, Oscar Robertson hit only two of 13 shots from the floor and was generally ineffective on both ends of the court.

"But Oscar's a great, great player and you can't expect him to have that kind of a game all the time," Heinsohn said. "He'll be back in fine shape next time."

The Bucks will need good performances from Robertson and Bob Dandridge, who had only 12 points in the opener. Many people think Dandridge is the key to the entire series. As he goes, so go the Bucks, they say.

But the Celtics obviously feel very good about the series. They're confident and aware that they have set the tone so far.

"The intensity in the playoffs is great and you go out and do what you do because you have to," said center Dave Cowens.

"Everyone on this team is willing to sacrifice," he said. "It's not so much whether you hold your man down in points. It's the little things, like picking up a loose ball or geting a steal that can make the difference."

Heinsohn was confident, but not overly so on the eve of the second game.

"This series isn't over by a long shot," he said. "But the Bucks have to make some adjustments. Of course, if we win tonight, they'll have to make super adjustments."

Following tonight's game, the series shifts to Boston for games three and four Friday and Sunday.

Derby hopefuls get final chance

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — "I wish I was here with a lot more ammunition and had more time!"

Those were trainer Gene Cleveland's sentiments today when he sent Laguna Seca's Ga Hai to the post in the $20,000 added Derby Trial Stakes, a race that will decide whether the son of Determine takes on the nation's best 3-year-olds Saturday in the 100th running of the Kentucky Derby.

Eight horses were entered for this final prep race for aspiring Kentucky Derby winners. Two were withdrawn and another loomed as a possible scratch. That left Ga Hai, Crimson Ruler, To the Rescue, Robard and Perfect Aim as starters in a race that hasn't produced a Kentucky Derby winner since Tim Tam turned the trick in 1958.

Prove Lively hurt himself in his stall. King of Rome was too exhausted to race, according to his trainer. Gallant Cord is getting over a touch of colic but may be able to start.

"Ga Hai has blossomed since he arrived in Kentucky. But we really need more time. Four days to the Kentucky Derby after the Trial is too close. But we had no choice. if he runs a good race and doesn't come back all stretched out, we will run him back in the Derby," Cleveland said.

Ga Hai hasn't raced since he won a division of the Gold Rush Stakes on March 30.

"I planned to run him in the California Derby but he developed a low fever. It wasn't anything but he missed a workout and I couldn't start him. Now we are behind schedule and I hope we can make it up in the Trial."

Churchill Downs officials can count 18 sure runners in the richest renewal of the race that will be worth more than $300,000 if as many as 20 start.

The winner would get most of it, more than $200,000. Second place will be worth only $30,000 with $15,000 to third and $7,500 to fourth.

"That practically makes it a winner-take-all race," said one trainer, who said he would be more than glad to start his colt in the Twin Spires Purse on Saturday's program if its value was increased from $25,000.

Judger, Cannonade, Rube the Great, Accipiter, Agitate, Confederate Yankee, Flip Sal, Gold and Myrrh, Hudson County, Little Current, Sharp Gary, Triple Crown, Consigliori, Lexico, Set n' Go, J.R.'s Pet, Sir Tristram and Buck's Bid are expected to be entered on Thursday.

Destroyer, Bold Clarion and Silver Hope, along with the strong runners in the Trial, probably will join them and what once loomed as an unmanageable field will have shrunk as low as could be expected.

Sandoval joins U.S. boxing team

POMONA — Albert Sandoval, the defending AAU regional and national 106-pound boxing champion, has been named to the U.S. team which will meet the Russians in a series of three matches in the Soviet Union, May 11-19-22.

Sandoval, an 18-year-old freshman at Cal Poly, is one of 12 young boxers who will represent the U.S. It will be his second trip abroad as a member of the U.S. team.

The squad will leave New York, May 8 and return to this country May 24, in time for several members of the team to compete for AAU national titles at Knoxville, Tenn. in June. Sandoval will defend his 106-pound title at the nationals.

Broncos recruit cager

POMONA — Cal Poly basketball recruiter Allen Van Winkle has come up with his first top prospect to help rebuild the Broncos' cage fortunes.

Van Winkle, who handles most of the recruiting for head coach Don Hogan, announced the signing of forward-guard Denny Weisse, a 6-5 transfer from Casper (Wyo.) College.

Weisse is already enrolled at Poly.

A product of Marmian Military Academy and Aurora West High School in Aurora, Ill., Weisse averaged 12 points and 10 rebounds in his two seasons at Casper.

"Denny is an excellent shooter and I feel he will be an exciting player for us," Van Winkle said. "He is constantly moving and hustling. He brings real versatility to the team being able to play forward or guard."

Asked about deciding to transfer to Poly, Weisse said, "I considered Illinois State and Jacksonville before selecting Poly. My wife, Drew, and I are really enjoying California and are happy to be here"

McCraw loves Fenway Park

BOSTON (UPI) — It was a night in the life of a utility ballplayer—the kind of game every bench warmer fantasizes about over and over.

It was Tom McCraw's night Monday. He was put in the California Angels' lineup after the team had dropped five straight and eight of their last nine, including six by one run.

McCraw, 1-for-7 on the season, tripled his batting average off Luis Tiant in hitting two homers and a pair of doubles to knock in four runs in a 7-2 victory.

"I always have had good luck in Fenway Park," McCraw said. "When I walk out in this ballpark, I feel like I want to play ball. This is the nicest park in the American League. It's neat, it's clean; I love it here."

The 33-year-old infielder-outfielder, now with his fourth American League team in his 12th major league season, displayed his love affair with chummy Fenway in front of 9,674 voyeurs that included a couple of streakers.

McCraw erased a 1-0 Boston lead with a second inning home run; set up a fourth inning run with a double; doubled driving home a sixth-inning run and scored moments later on the first of shortstop Dave Chalk's two triples; and homered with a man aboard in the eighth.

Boston went ahead on a walk to Doug Griffin (whose 0-3 night broke a 15-game hitting streak), a single by Cecil Cooper and a sacrifice fly by Carl Yastrzemski.

The Angels scored single runs in the second, third and fourth innings, added two in the sixth and two in the eight. The Sox got one back in the bottom of the eighth when Bernie Carbo's single scored Cooper who had walked.

Designated hitter Winnie Llenas was lost to the Angels for seven to 10 days when he was spiked by catcher Carlton Fisk while sliding home with the third California run in the fourth inning. Outfielder Joe Lahoud also suffered a minor injury in the game—pulling a muscle in his left side while batting in the first inning.

Boston could do little with right-hander Bill Singer. Singer, now 3-2, said he had most of his success "with my slurve ball— that's a cross between a slider and a curve."

Singer said his shoulder bothered him in the middle of the game. "The right shoulder kills me every game this year, starting about the fifth inning."

But it was Singer's "slurve" that killed the Red Sox, as seven batters struck out in Boston's sixth loss in seven games.

Angel players met for 1-½ hours in their Fenway Park clubhouse without Manager Bobby Winkles or the coaches.

"The meeting settled things," according to McCraw. "It helped bring problems to the top. We talked about the guys who weren't playing and thought they should be and things like that.

"I said, 'Why worry about not playing? That's the manager's job. It's up to him to put what he thinks are the nine best men on the field. It's not our worry. Don't take on his headaches—just be ready.'"

McCraw certainly was ready Monday night.

Walton to meet groups

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Bill Walton, UCLA's All-American center, was to meet today with two groups from the American Basketball Association who reportedly want to put a franchise in Los Angeles if Walton signs with the league.

Sam Gilbert, Walton's adviser, said the Bruin star also will meet with the San Diego Conquistadors of the ABA Wednesday and the Portland Trail Blazers of the National Basketball Association Thursday. Gilbert indicated Walton will make a decision Thursday on his professional future.

The Trail Blazers have the NBA draft rights to Walton and the Conquistadors have the ABA rights. San Diego had not previously indicated it would exercise its rights but a team representative Monday asked for a meeting with the Bruin center.

Gilbert would not identify the two groups involved in today's meeting.

"Bill has seen all the offers (except San Diego)," Gilbert said, "but the groups want to meet with him personally and it is only morally right that they do."

Cal Poly, Chaffey players honored

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Dave Metkovich of Cal Poly and Dennis Hawkins of Chaffey College were named Players of the Week at the weekly baseball luncheon Monday at the Castaway Restaurant.

Poly played four games last week. The Broncos won two of three conference games from Cal State Northridge and lost a non-conference tilt to UCLA.

In the four games, Metkovich had five hits and batted in two runs. The sophomore from Torrance has played in 25 of the Broncos' 42 games. He has 19 hits including one double in 55 at-bats for a .345 average and has batted in six runs and scored six.

Chaffey outslugged Palomar 10-8 last week, but lost to Grossmont 11-3 and Citrus, 3-2.

Hawkins seven hits in 14 at-bats and stole nine bases in nine attempts. He batted in two runs and scored four.

The freshman from Fontana has stolen 44 bases in 48 attempts and has been successful 30 of 33 times in conference play. He is batting .363 overall.

The two edged three other strong candidates for honors.

Brad Koppel of Claremont-Mudd went six-for-10 as the Stags won two of three crucial extra-inning games from Occidental.

The former Pomona High player had three doubles and batted in five runs and brought the Stags from behind twice in a 15-inning marathon.

He doubled in the only C-M run in the 10-inning loss Saturday and singled in one of the three runs the Stags scored in extra innings to win the nightcap, 4-1.

Koppel leads the club in doubles with 10 and is tied for the club lead in runs batted in with 21.

Mike Alonso of La Verne had four home runs and eight runs batted in as the Leos swept three games from Pomona-Pitzer, 14-1, 9-6 and 23-0. For the season the big designated hitter is hitting .478 with 13 home runs and 38 runs batted in.

Quoting the coaches:

BILL ARCE, CLAREMONT-MUDD — "Brad Koppel is a pre-med major and has to take an examination Saturday morning. He'll miss at least the first game of our doubleheader at Whittier and may miss the second. Mike Bruno is throwing without pain now, but we can't afford to experiment with him as a starter because of the tight pennant race. However, we will use him in relief if needed."

BEN HINES, LA VERNE — "The race is going right down to the wire between Claremont-Mudd and La Verne although Whittier could back in. John Verhoeven has a bone bruise on the finger where the nail was torn loose and it hurts him when he throws a curve. Alonso is hitting the ball so hard that anything close to the foul pole is trouble. The ball clears the fence and lands a hundred feet beyond and the umpires are going by where the balls land instead of where they are when they clear the fence. He (Alonso) had another homer called foul Saturday. He lost two the week before."

TOM NELSON, APC — "Jim Donker (pitcher) suffered a separated shoulder last week. Our pitching has been our problem all season. Chuck Van Schoych has bated in 56 runs in 37 games. It's phenomenal. I've never seen anything like it. He's money in the bank whenever we get a runner on second or third."

JOHN SCOLINOS, CAL POLY — "It's going to be rough trying to wind up the season .500 or better overall. Our guys deserve it. But we're 20-22 now and we play USC and UCLA this week along with USD. Next week we wind up with Cal State Fullerton."

SKIP CLAPROOD, CITRUS — "We've won eight of our last 10 games and that's a tribute to our athletes. I think it's indicative of our conference's strength that there are four teams that have won 20 or more games. There have also been five tournament championships, two seconds and two consolation titles."

JIM SCHROEDER, CHAFFEY ASSISTANT — "The key to stealing is getting on base and Dennis Hawkins does that. I've never seen anybody take the lead that he gets. A single is like a double. He's a great kid and does anything you tell him."

ART MAZMANIAN, MSAC — "We lost four games to Cerritos this year but we played good ball. They were great games. If you could package the games and change the results, I'd buy 'em. They were just four fantastic games and we could have won all four.

Olympic rules

LONDON (UPI) — The International Olympic Committee (IOC) Monday announced the draft for its new rule 26 on eligibility for the Olympic Games. A draft of the by-laws accompanying it is as follows:

Eligibility code
To be eligible for participation in the Olympic games, a competitor must:
1. Never have received any financial rewards or material benefit in connection with his or her sports participation and conform with the bye-laws to this rule and the IOC rules 1 and 3 (fundamental principles), 7 (citizenship), 22 (affiliation), 24 (doping), 27 (special condition) and 48 (reporting, etc.) 2. Observe and abide by the rules of his or her international federation, as approved by the IOC, even if the federation rules are more strict than those of the IOC.

By-laws to Rule 26
1. A competitor must NOT:
A) Be or have been a professional in any sport, (or have competed in world championships open to professionals and amateurs.)
B) Have allowed his person, name, photograph or sports performance to be used for advertising, other than what his or her international federation, national Olympic committee or national federation enters into a contract for sponsorship or equipment. All payments must be made to the international federation, national olympic committee or national federation concerned, and not to the individual. No competitor shall carry advertising material on his person in an international competition.
C) Have acted as a professional coach or trainer in any sport.
2. A competitor may:
A) Be a physical education or sports teacher who gives elementary instruction. B) Accept, during the period of preparation and actual competition, which shall be limited by the rules of each international federation:
I Assistance through his or her national Olympic committee or national federation in respect of: food and lodging, cost of transport, pocket money to cover incidental expenses, insurance cover in respect of accidents, illness, personal property and disability, personal sports equipment and clothing.
II Compensation, authorized by his or her national Olympic committee or national federation, in case of necessity, to cover financial loss resulting from his or her absence from work on basic occupation, on account of preparation for, or participation in, the Olympic games and international sports competitions. In no circumstances shall payment made under this provision exceed the sum which the competitor would have earned in the same periods. If the compensation is not paid by the employer, it may be paid by the national federations or the national Olympic committees at their discretion.
III Accept prizes won in competition within the limits of the rules established by the respective international federations.
3. Eligibility commission:
A commission may be appointed to enforce this rule and by-laws during and between the games.

Utah's Willie Wise tries to cope with Uniondale 'jinx'

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI) — Utah Stars forward Willie Wise has a problem to overcome in the American Basketball Association championship series starting tonight against the New York Nets at the Nassau Coliseum.

And if he doesn't overcome that problem, the Stars are in deep trouble.

"I don't like this building, I don't like this city," Wise said in mid-season. "Every time we come here we play bad. I think it's got a jinx on me. I don't think I've ever had a good game here."

Wise made those statements right after the Stars had gotten blown out by the fast-breaking Nets.

Monday the Stars went directly from airport to arena for practice and back at his hotel Wise was asked whether his feelings had changed.

"I still don't like this place," Wise said. "But maybe the bad luck will hold off awhile."

The Nets, youngest team in the ABA and hoping for their first league title, don't think they need goblins in the rafters to beat the Stars.

"We've got the talent to beat anyone," said Julius "Dr. J" Erving, who may be guarded by Wise in the series, though Wise rarely played him defensively during the season. "I don't say we'll beat them in four straight like we did Kentucky but I think we're a better rebounding and running team and I'm glad we're playing Utah rather than Indiana."

The Nets sat waiting and watching for nine days after their blitz of the Colonels in the East finals while the Stars and Pacers battled to seven games. New York coach Kevin Loughery admitted Monday that both he and his players had gotten a little edgy waiting for an opponent and he wondered whether the layoff would have a positive or negative effect on his team.

"The first two periods will tell," Loughery said. "We'll have to come out strong. You don't want to play catch-up to a veteran team like Utah. We're healthier now and certainly well rested but we may have lost some of our competitive sharpness."

Utah has a serious handicap with strong 6-foot-9 center Zelmo Beaty still sidelined with an infection. Beaty will not play in the first game but is expected back for the second game Saturday night, also at Nassau Coliseum. The third and fourth games next week will be played in Utah.

Stars' coach Joe Mullaney said he was surprised the Nets handled Kentucky so easily and had hoped the Colonels would beat New York.

"I would rather have played Kentucky," Mullaney said. "We've found it hard to keep up with the Nets. They're so fast and strong off the boards. We'll just have to rely on our shooting. If we're hitting our shots it's harder for them to run on us. But if we're not hitting, we may have to look for cover."

Black Hawks get one last chance

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Black Hawks, who never have beaten the Boston Bruins in a playoff series, get a last chance tonight to try to break that jinx.

The Hawks meet the Bruins on the Chicago ice for the sixth game of their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semifinal series, and it's a win-or-go-home contest for the Hawks. Boston holds a 3-2 lead in games and can advance to the finals against the Philadelphia-New York winner with a victory.

A win for the Hawks wouldn't be entirely unexpected. In the regular season Chicago won two and tied three against the Bruins, losing none, and in the playoff, Boston has won once in Chicago and twice at home while the Hawks have won once on each rink.

But the Hawks played subpar hockey in the last two games, both victories for Boston, and Coach Billy Reay conceded he was "disappointed" in the way his team played.

"We can play better," he said, "and we're going to have to play better."

But the Bruins have been gathering momentum in the series and, even though playing in Chicago, had to be favored to wrap up the event tonight. Coach Bep Guidolin of the Bruins was expected to use Gilles Gratton in the net again while Reay was expected to assign Tony Esposito.

The Hawks might be hampered a bit if left wing Dennis Hull can't play, and whether he will probably won't be decided until the pre-game warmup. Hull suffered a back spasm midway through the fourth game and was ineffective the rest of the contest. The ailment kept him out of the fifth game.

Both clubs were expected to have ice available this morning for warmups, but there was no indication how much skating either team would do. The Bruins arrived late Monday while the Hawks had a team meeting with little skating.

Reay did not indicate surprise at the fact the Hawks are trailing the Bruins since throughout the series he has praised his opponents as a "great" team. "They capitalize on our mistakes," he said, "and we have to make practically no mistakes to beat them. We have to capitalize on their's too, and they don't make many."

Should the Hawks win tonight, the seventh game would be played in Boston Gardens Thursday night.

Lakers hoping to sign Russell

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — The Los Angeles Lakers are bidding for the services of Golden State Warriors forward Cazzie Russell.

"I think we have a good chance of getting him," Alan Rothenberg, the Lakers' attorney, said Monday. "We're offering the same money that other teams are who want him and Cazzie wants to play for us."

Tryouts tonight for Sr. Division

LA VERNE — Tryouts for the La Verne Little League Senior Division (ages 13-15) will be held this evening at 5 p.m. at Pelota Park. Late sign-ups will also be accepted.

La Crosse game set

CLAREMONT — An all-star la crosse game will be played Wednesday night at 7 p.m. on Pomona College's Alumni Field.

There will be no charge for admission to the event which will feature two teams made up of the best players in the eight-team Southern California La Crosse Association.

One team will be chosen from the players in Wednesday night's game. This team will play national champion Johns Hopkins of Baltimore, Md. Sunday, June 16 at USC's Cromwell Field.

Horrifying start

Astros can laugh

By United Press International

An evening that started on a horrifying note Monday night turned out to be a regular laugher for the Houston Astros.

The Astros were taking batting practice before the game with the Chicago Cubs when shortstop Roger Metzger, running laps in centerfield, and pitcher Don Wilson, shagging fly balls, collided head-on, causing Metzger to momentarily swallow his tongue.

The 26-year-old shortstop's life was saved by the quick reactions of third baseman Doug Rader and catcher John Edwards, who administered first-aid to the stricken player.

"He had swallowed his tongue," Edwards said, "and he was turning grayish and his eyes rolled where all you could see was white ... it really scared me."

Rader ran to Metzger, who was stretched out on his back in the outfield, and began pounding the side of his jaws with his fists. He succeeded in getting Metzger's mouth open and told Edwards to pull out the tongue, which he did.

Metzger then was rushed to the hospital and pronounced fit, except for a chipped bone at the base of his left thumb. Astro officials placed him on the 15-day disabled list.

The incident was similar to one involving Jesus Alou, a former Astro player who swallowed his tongue in a game against Pittsburgh a few years ago. Alou's life was saved in the same fashion by Pirate trainer Tony Bartirome.

Metzger's mishap might have taken the fight out of many clubs but the Astros certainly didn't show they were distraught. Instead, they pounded six Cub pitchers for 20 hits and equalled a club single game scoring record in an 18-2 triumph.

"When we got the good news that Roger was okay—that it was nothing serious—we all felt very good," said Astros' manager Preston Gomez. "We said 'let's win this game for Roger' and we went out and had a good night."

Lee May had the biggest night of any of the Astros, equalling a major league record by hitting two home runs in one inning and collecting five hits in five at bats. May hit a pair of two run homers in the sixth when the Astros scored nine runs. He also singled home another run.

Dave Roberts, allowing seven hits, went the distance for Houston to get his fourth win in six decisions. Roberts admitted later, however, that the sight of Metzger lying on the Astroturf was almost more than he could bear.

"I didn't want to see him lying on the Astroturf. It kind of upset me. It kind of drained me," Roberts said. "I went back to the locker room and started signing autographs. When we did get word from the hospital, somebody said Roger wanted to play. Can you imagine that?"

In the only other National League game, Los Angeles edged the New York Mets 8-7 while in the only American League games, California downed Boston 7-2 and Cleveland nipped Minnesota 3-2.

Indians 3, Twins 2

Dave Duncan's bouncing single over third base with two out in the ninth inning capped a two-run rally and gave Steve Kline his first victory in an Indian uniform. Kline, acquired from the New York Yankees last Friday night, went the distance scattering nine hits to boost his record to 3-2. Harmon Killebrew hit his 548th career homer for Minnesota while George Hendrick hit his fourth of the season for Cleveland.

Rangers can put Flyers away tonight

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The injury-plagued Philadelphia Flyers are faced with a must-win situation tonight when they host the New York Rangers in the fifth game of their Stanley Cup semifinal series.

The Flyers, who won the first two games of the series here, turned around and lost two games, two players and their momentum in New York.

"I guess we've just got to go home and regroup," said Flyers' captain Bobby Clarke after Sunday's 2-1 sudden death loss at Madison Square Garden.

"It's a best-of-three series now, and two of the games are in Philadelphia. I'd say that puts us in the driver's seat."

Rangers' Coach Emile Francis disagreed with Clarke's analysis of the home ice advantage.

"Nobody has an edge on home ice when two teams are evenly balanced," he said. "All you have going for you is what's going in a particular game."

What the Rangers have going for them is the confidence that comes with winning two pressure-packed games they had to win and the fact the Flyers have been hit with a rash of key injuries.

The most important was to defenseman Barry Ashbee who took a puck just above the right eye late in Sunday's game.

Sports news in brief

JACK GORDON, who was named general manager of the Minnesota North Stars last Thursday, also was named coach Monday by club president Walter Bush. Gordon, 46, was the coach of the Stars until last fall when he resigned for health reasons. Many believed this was a diplomatic way of bowing out after disagreements with Wren Blair, 48, general manager since the club was organized as a National Hockey League team in 1967.

CALE YARBOROUGH holds a less than 38-point lead over Richard Petty going into Sunday's Winston 500, final event in the first leg of the NASCAR Grand National standings. By beating Petty by 2.1 seconds in last Sunday's Virginia 500 at Martinsville, Yarborough climbed back into the lead with 517.14 points. Petty, the previous leader, now has 479.16.

AFTER 15 National Football League seasons with the San Francisco 49ers, defensive tackle Charlie Krueger is hanging up his cleats. Krueger said Monday his decision was "final." Coach Dick Nolan previously talked Krueger out of retirement in 1968 and Krueger did not miss a game in those next six years. The 49ers picked Krueger as their first round draft choice from Texas A & M in 1958. Now 37, Krueger said Monday "I delayed announcing my retirement for personal reasons but I plan to live and work in private business in the San Francisco Bay Area.

THE MILWAUKEE BREWERS said Monday they have placed veteran Felipe Alous on waivers for the purpose of giving him his unconditional release.

THE CINCINNATI Stingers, scheduled to begin play in the World Hockey Association (WHA) in 1975, were expected to name Terry Slater as head coach at a news conference today. Slater coached the Los Angeles Sharks of the WHA for two seasons. When the Stingers begin play in 1975 they will occupy new Riverfront Colisum, currently under construction along the Ohio River next to Riverfront Stadium.

THE SAN FRANCISCO Giants, hit by injuries at second base, Monday purchased utility infielder Damaso Blanco from their Phoenix affiliate in the Pacific Coast League. A Giants' spokesman said Blanco, 32, who spent parts of the last two seasons with San Francisco, was used primarily as a shortstop at Phoenix but is expected to fill in at second until Tito Fuentes and Mike Phillips are fully recovered from their injuries.

BALTIMORE COLT tackle Tom Drougas has signed a contract with the Portland Storms of the World Football League, it was announced Monday. Drougas, a 6-foot-4, 257-pounder, was the No. 1 draft choice of the National Football League Colts in 1972. Details of his Portland contract were not disclosed. The Storms said he would join their club in 1976.

Angels deal Scheinblum for Schaal

ANAHEIM (UPI) — The California Angels traded righthanded hitting outfielder Richie Scheinblum to the Kansas City Royals today for third baseman Paul Schaal in a straight player deal.

Schaal, 31, who started his major league career with the Angels before going to Kansas City in the 1969 expansion draft, was expected to rejoin California Friday when the Angels open a nine-game homestand.

Schaal, the player with the longest continuous service with the Royals, was batting only .176 this year. He was with the Angels five years before going to Kansas City.

The 29-year-old Scheinblum, used mainly as a designated hitter by the Angels, was hitting .154 this season after finishing 1973 at .328.

The trade will enable the Angels to move Bob Oliver back to first where he prefers playing, with Schaal taking over at third. Kansas City has been looking for someone to hit behind John Mayberry to keep the Royals' slugger from getting walked so often.

Pomona Kings collect doubleheader victory

PICO RIVERA — The Pomona Kings remained in contention for the Northeast Softball Association title Sunday by sweeping a doubleheader against the Los Angeles Braves.

The Kings, led by Dominic Acossano's four-hitter, defeated the Braves in the first game, 4-1. The Kings needed a little pressure to down the Braves in the second in e

Hacienda prelims close

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

LA VERNE — Unlike the Hacienda League dual meet season this year, San Dimas High failed to completely dominate the league's track preliminaries Monday afternoon at Bonita High.

However, the Saints did qualify the most athletes for Thursday evening's league finals, but two other teams just about matched them.

A total of 23 varsity and frosh-soph positions were grabbed by the San Dimas spikers, while Royal Oak and Ontario produced 22 qualifiers each and Alta Loma 20.

Numerous frosh-soph league records were established in the meet, but not a single varsity mark tumbled.

Most of the frosh-soph marks were recorded simply because there were no records in the books for the specific events.

Alta Loma qualified nine athletes for 13 varsity positions, the most varsity spots in the league. However, Royal Oak produced 10 qualifying athletes for 12 spots, while Ontario came up with eight athletes filling in 12 positions.

San Dimas could only claim 10 varsity qualifying spots, using eight athletes to do it.

Double qualifiers for the Saints on the varsity level included hurdlers Shelley White and Darrell Craig. White won his heat in the 120 high hurdles in 15.0 seconds.

Ontario and Alta Loma had four spikers each record doubles.

The guys who made the twin killings included hurdler Jim Donaldson, and sprinters Gilbert McCroey, Dave Warren and Joe Jefferson.

Alta Loma's double qualifiers were hurdlers John Lawrence and Pat Cowan, and sprinters Ron Ward and Mark Stokes.

Walnut failed to have any of its varsity athletes qualify in more than one spot. But sprinter Mike Pfeil had his chance. Pfeil qualified in both the 100 and the 220, but decided to pull out of the 100 and concentrate on the 220. So Royal Oak's Lenwood Young will fill the spot vacated by Pfeil.

The varsity field events were not held Monday, but will be conducted Thursday in the finals. Thursday's finals are scheduled to begin at 5:30 p.m. for the field events and 6 p.m. for the running events, all at Bonita.

The finals for the frosh-soph field events were held Monday, with two league records broken and one tied.

Ontario's George Beckner won the pole vault at 11-0, which topped the previous mark by three inches. Sierra Vista's Mark Caproni captured the long jump at 20-9¼ and upped the league record of 19-6¾. Bob Gildea of Gladstone tied the league record in the frosh-soph high jump at 5-8. Gerold Burleson took first place in the shot put (10 pounds) at 53-5.

Bruins rate as favorites over Trojans

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — University of Southern California track coach Vern Wolfe and UCLA's Jim Bush both predicted Monday that the Pacific-8 dual meet between the Trojans and the Bruins at the Coliseum Saturday probably will be close.

"I think the meet will go down to the mile relay,' Bush told the weekly luncheon meeting of the Southern California Track Writers. "And if I had money I would bet that we would win because our mile relay team is the best in the country.'

'It should be a close meet," said Wolfe. 'It could go either way. However, one or the other team might win by a big margin.'

Nineteen of 26 writers and coaches at the meeting picked UCLA to win the competition. The largest margin predicted for a Bruin victory was 93-52. The biggest margin given by a Trojan supporter was 80-65.

Wolfe said that his team will have to win the 440-yard relay and get at least one-three in both sprint races (the 100 and 220) to be able to win.

He also said that the javelin and long jump are key events.

"If we mess in these events,' Wolfe noted, 'we could be in real trouble.'

Bush listed nine events which could go either way—440 relay, both sprints, 440 intermedjate hurdles, javelin, high jump, long jump, pole vault and mile relay.

Wolfe announced that sprinter Guy Abrams, who reinjured a leg muscle last Saturday in the Mt. San Antonio Relays, will not be able to compete this weekend.

Long Beach State will host an invitational meet Sunday. Five name athletes have accepted invitations; long jumper Jerry Proctor, pole vaulters Casey Carrigan and Bob Richards Jr., and intermediate hurdlers Jim Bolding and Wes Williams.

Jerry Tarkanian's lawyer ask NCAA to hear client

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Nevada-Las Vegas basketball coach Jerry Tarkanian's lawyer has written a letter to NCAA Executive Director Walter Byers asking for a hearing for his client, it was disclosed Monday.

The letter, sent by attorney Richard Phillips, was dated last Saturday.

In effect, the letter threatened a suit against the NCAA unless Tarkanian was granted a hearing to refute four charges of misconduct inferred against him by the NCAA.

The charges included a long list of alleged violations of NCAA rules by former Long Beach State personnel in a release made public by the NCAA Council last Jan. 6.

Tarkanian was the head basketball coach at Long Beach for five years. He coached here last season.

In the letter, Phillips said he had been advised by Tarkanian that "these allegations bear no truth in fact as they pertain to him."

Stating that Tarkanian has never been allowed to confront his accusers and present evidence in his own behalf, Phillips told Byers:

"I am well aware that no action has been taken against coach Tarkanian and therefore he is not entitled to review. However, it should be abundantly clear that the action of the council adversely affects my client's interest. I requested that the appropriate administrative relief be granted in the form of a hearing and the eventual revision of the resolution; otherwise we will have no recourse but to litigate."

Tarkanian was never referred to by name in the allegations by the NCAA, which has placed Long Beach on probation for at least three years.

But the charges said "the former head basketball coach" engaged in illegal recruiting practices in four separate instances.

Claremont Cardinals switch to Legion play

CLAREMONT — Anyone from Claremont or Damien highs and living in the Claremont School District up to 18 years old, as of August 1, is invited to tryout for Jack Helber's Claremont Cardinals.

The Cards, who participated in the Connie Mack program last summer, will be switching to the American Legion program this year.

Helber will coordinate the sign-ups and tryouts Saturday morning beginning at 9:30 a.m. at Claremont High.

Practice will begin on the Monday immediately following the high school season.

Rowland qualifies eight

WALNUT — Eight Rowland High track athletes qualified for the Montview League finals Monday at the league's preliminaries.

None of the eight who did qualify won their heats.

A total of 14 frosh-soph spikers from Rowland moved into the finals, with sprinter Vic Garcia turning up the only victories. Garcia won the 100 in 10.5 seconds and the 220 in 24.0 seconds.

The Montview finals will be held at Mt. San Antonio College Thursday afternoon at 3:30 p.m.

Webb beats Sherman for 6-0 league mark

RIVERSIDE — Webb High took a 1½ game lead in the Arrowhead League standings Monday afternoon by virtue of a game-shortened 9-1 win over the Sherman Indian School.

Sherman's Daniel Lyons walked 10 batters, uncorked four run producing wild pitches while catcher Mike Monogye was charged with four run producing passed balls in the five inning fiasco.

"The game got started late and the wind was blowing extremely hard," said Webb coach Joe Zakem. "The wind was blowing so hard that their junk ball pitcher couldn't get the ball over and with the game starting late and the wind and them getting so far behind — they called the game after five innings."

Dan Wood picked up his fourth win in five decisions on the season and ran his Arrowhead slate to 2-0. Wood went the distance allowing three singles, including a second inning homer to Gus Hurtado, walked three and struck out seven.

Webb improved its record on the year to 13-5 and remained unbeaten against league opposition in six outings. Sherman dropped to 0-6.

The Gauls await today's outcome between defending champion Notre Dame (3-2) and Aquinas (4-1).

'Pack golfers edge Damien

CHINO — Claremont High, in its closest golf match of the year, still managed to keep their unbeaten record intact with a 211-216 victory over Damien at the Western Hills Country Club (back nine) in Chino.

The Wolves' Chuck Rosin took low medalist honors with a one-over par 38, his second good round in a row.

Damien's John Muchmore and Charles Ralston and Claremont's Andy Koppel all finished at 42 for runnerup honors.

The Spartans' Charles Fox and the Packs' Ralph Haas and Scott Sullivan toted 43's.

Claremont ran its 1974 record to 11 straight, 7-0 in league, and hope to make it 12 in a row Wednesday when they return to Western Hills for a match with Chino.

The Wolfpack junior varsity team also remained unbeaten in 11 matches with a 219-261 rout of Damien.

At Bridges Auditorium

Brendel presents recital

By RALPH PIERCE

CLAREMONT — Southern Californa pianists and music lovers who are in the know turned out in good numbers Thursday night to hear Alfred Brendel give one of his memorable recitals of great masterworks for the paino. Those who chose to stay at home and accounted for some of the empty seats in the large Bridges Auditorium were the losers.

In our present day concert world it seems that most performers feel they have to have a gimmick of some sort to justify the adulation of their public. Some rely on spectacular technical facility, others on unusual programming or various devices. This simply isn't necessary for Brendel. When he walks on the dimly lighted stage wearing a conservative business suit, you could mistake him for a college professor, but when he sits down to the keyboard and plays with his particular degree of sensitivity he is set apart from just about all of his contemporaries. He never includes any of the "show pieces" of piano literature but instead builds his programs from the great masterworks of piano repertoire.

From the opening Haydn Sonata in C to the closing bars of the monumental Beethoven Sonata Op. 111, one was constantly aware of the genius of the composer. For this reviewer it was the first time in a decade that the Beethoven Sonta Op. 111 was performed in a way that was completely convincing. The last few Beethoven sonatas have baffled many pianists as well as their listeners and only an artist of this calibre, who has studied and performed all 32 of the Beethoven sonatas, can project the work with the degree of understanding which gives the listener an insight into the composer's thinking.

The same thing was the case with the Schumann "Kreisleriana" which, because of its length and fragmentary sort of construction, has defied many pianists. It often comes off as a series of unconnected short excerpts but not as played by Brendel. As the work unfolded the listeners were made aware of the big concept of the composer as well as its programatic form. In this , as with all of the other works on his program, the emphasis was always on the composer rather than on the interpreter. If one were to try to make a listing of all of the greatest musical interpreter in all fields of music Alfred Brendel would have to come out awfully close to the top of the list.

Local chorus seeks singers

POMONA — The Pomona Community Chorus has issued a call for singers to present Brahms' "German Requiem" at the Pilgrim Congregational Church June 2.

Raymond Woods, director, will conduct the concert. Soloists will be soprano Tanya Harrell and bass Klass Volbeda. Gary Toops will accompany on the organ.

Singers interested in taking part in the concert can call Woods at 623-5251, Ext. 332, during business hours, or 983-6265.

Local groups represented at CAR convention

Three local agencies of the California Association for the Retarded (CAR) will send delegates to the CAR convention May 8 to 11 at the International Hotel, Los Angeles.

Keynote speaker for the convention will be Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Sending delegates will be Friends of Pacific State Hospital, Pomona, Retarded Children's Association of San Gabriel Valley, Covina, and the Ontario-Pomona Association for Retarded Citizens.

For Wednesday, May 1

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll not make as much of opportunities today as you should. This will be due to your indifferent attitude and lax judgment.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Too much of a good thing can be just as bad as too little. Be careful you don't over-indulge in gratifying pursuits.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Today you'll feel you have to be something you're not — to make a favorable impression on one whose position intimidates you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Choose your words and topics for discussion with friends carefully. You're apt to say something you'll want to retract, but can't.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your generosity will take precedence over your common sense and this could make a considerable dent in your wallet.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Even though you will know better, you'll succumb to pressure from another and make a wrong decision based on their advice.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It's nice to help others, particularly those who'd help you. Today, however, you'll neglect one who is helpful to assist one who isn't.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You will not be at your best if you are dealing with too large a group. Keep committees and advisers to a minimum.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Try not to take credit for something you haven't accomplished as yet, even though you feel it's a certainty. There will be a small delay.

CAPRICORN (Dec: 22-Jan. 19) Someone you know with some very grand ideas tells them in a manner that's quite believable. Dividing them in half is nearer their worth.

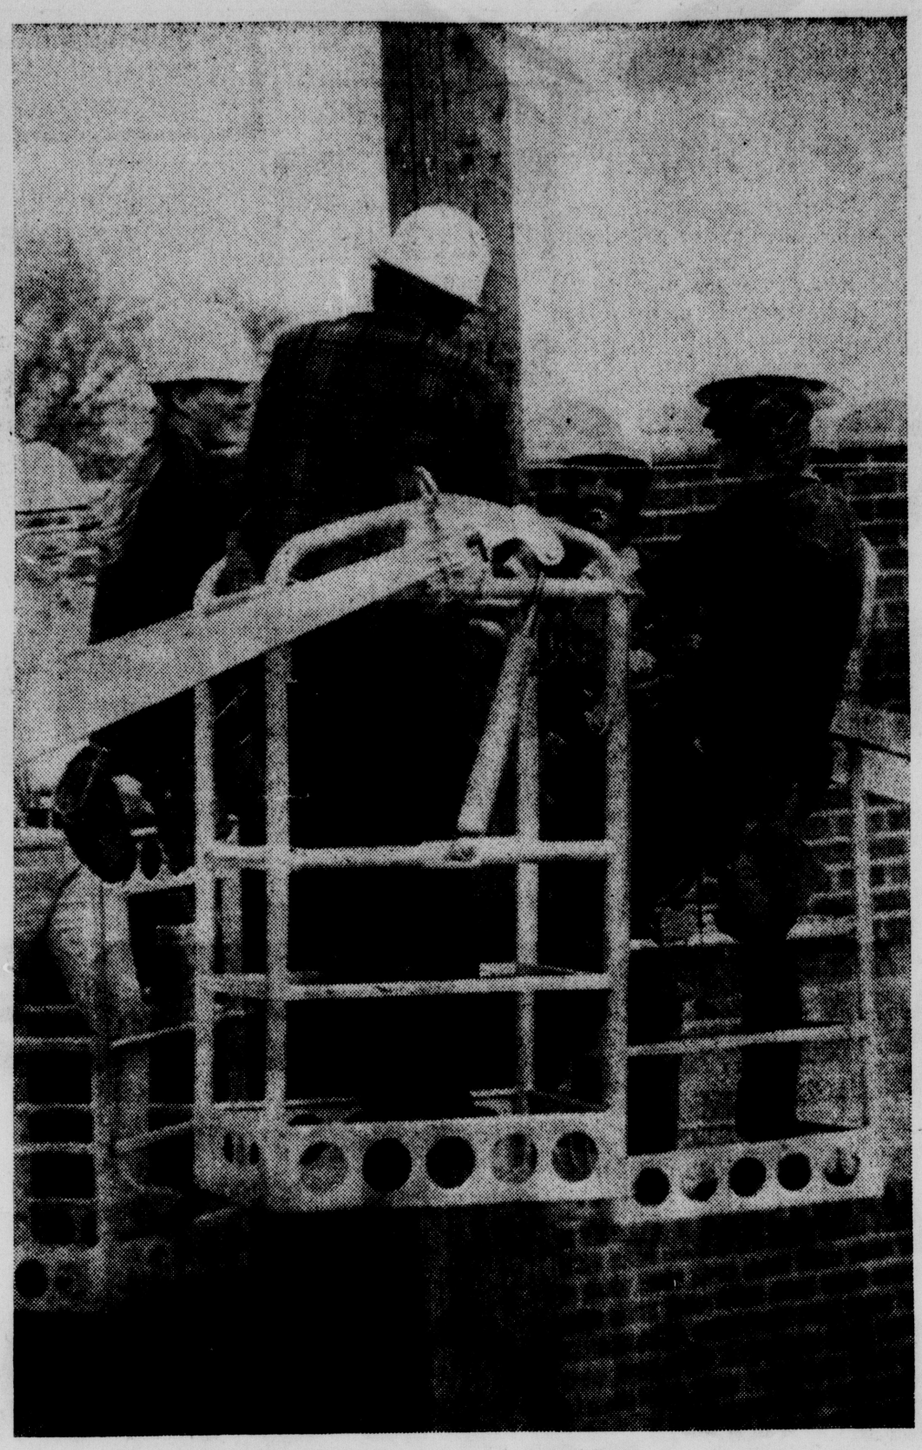
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your're not the best adviser today in helping another sort out business affairs. It would be wise to offer as few suggestions as possible.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't rush into making hasty judgments today. You're likely to overlook important details that should be considered.

Your Birthday
May 1

This will be a very active year for you socially. New groups you will travel in offer new opportunities if you're on your toes.



UP IN THE AIR OVER WEDDING — John Thornton, right, and Sue Rees, left, exchanged traditional wedding vows in a nontraditional setting Saturday. They were strapped to a telephone pole in North Des Moines, Iowa. Thornton, a foreman for a cable-TV firm said poles are his way of life "so why not get married this way?" The young couple are shown exchanging vows while magistrate Gerald Levy (back to camera) performs the ceremony from a bucket truck next to the pole.

Wallace says he will run for president

ABERTVILLE, Ala. (UPI) — All the voters have to do is ask and Gov. George C. Wallace says he will run for President in 1976, making his fourth bid for the office.

"I'll run for the Presidency in 1976 if they want me to run, whether my critics like it or not," Wallace said as he campaigned this weekend for his unprecedented third term as governor.

"If I think it will help Alabama and the country —that will be the main thing," Wallace said. "When I was shot in the last primary I had more votes than anybody."

Wallace was paralyzed from the waist down during an assassination attempt in May, 1972, as he campaigned in the Maryland presidential primary, which he won the day after he was shot.

"Despite all the dark days, I would do it all over again because I love Alabama, and if you elect me governor again, I'll make you proud of me," Wallace said.

At another weekend campaign stop, in mostly black Tuskegee, Wallace said he wants "to have the endorsement of all the people of Alabama" in his bid for reelection.

Wallace recently was endorsed by several black leaders around the state including Tuskegee Mayor Johnny Ford and black probate Judge William McKinley Branch of Greene County. Wallace's reaction to the black endorsements have been terse. While in Tuskegee' he told a civic group he "appreciates very much" Ford's endorsement.

The endorsements by Ford and others, who claim Wallace's stand on segregation has changed, drew criticism from Joe Reed, chairman of the Alabama Democratic Conference, the state's largest black political group.

Reed said Wallace could expect nothing but "nonsupport" from his group in any political race he chose to enter.

"These folks who pretend they are going to get blacks to vote for George Wallace are just whistling Dixie," Reed said.

Peak assaulted

During 1973 a record 1,924 persons registered before attempting to climb Mt. Shasta in California. During 1972, 1,796 registered before assaulting the 14,162-foot peak.

Traveling pet needs health certificate

By DR. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: Is it always necessary when going into Mexico to have a bill of health for your dog? — T. A.

Dear T A: Yes, you need a current health certificate (Form 7743, available from your veterinarian) validated by the Mexican Consulate, each time your dog enters Mexico. A current rabies vaccination is also required.

Incidentally, you need the same health certificate to bring your dog back into the United States from Mexico.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Mudder and Merriweather are my freshwater mussels. I got them as pets but they're very dull as far as I know because I never see them. They move around in the sand, though, so I guess they are exciting to each other. My questions (which I know you are waiting for) are: (1) What are they eating? (2) Are they always going to be this kind of pet? — E. G.

Dear E. G.: Freshwater mussels feed on algae in the sand, presuming of course there is some. Mudder and Merriweather may not be quite as interesting as some pets but there are advantages. They do, indeed, have modest mealtime requirements. They are friendly, never getting into fights that disturb the neighbors — and they never need to be walked in the rain.

DEAR DR. MILLER: I'm rather new at the petting game, myself. I've always loved animals but never had any until now. One thing that worries me a little: How do you know whether a furry list beastie is ever in pain or not? — I. G.

Dear I. G.: Pain in a pet may be subtle and obscure or pronounced and obvious. A puppy whose paw is stepped on may cream and limp about on three legs or perhaps not even move. One more phlegmatic, or with a slightly lesser injury, may not fuss at all or hardly even limp. A dog may have a very painful stomach ache, and still respond with enthusiasm to going for a walk. A cat with a painful spine may resent handling but remain active and move about with no easily apparent problems

All pets, like owners, vary from the incrdinately infantile to the sedately stoic where pain is concerned. The susceptible sissies usually let their owners know soon enough when they have a sore spot. For the rest, you should know your animal's normal behavior. If this pattern changes, consider pain as a possible reason. Your veterinarian is the logical adviser on what to do.

Six persons die in crash

FARMINGTON, New Mexico (UPI) — Six persons, three of them small children, were killed early Sunday in a headon collision outside Farmington, police said.

Police said the accident occurred shortly before 4 a.m. on a hill one mile west of State Road 170 on U.S. 550.

One of the victims was Henderson Talk, 24, of Shiprock, who was alone in his pickup.

The other victims, all of whom were in the same car, were Ruby Mae Merritt, 30, Aneth, Utah, her 9-year-old son, Peter, her 6-year-old son, Amos, and her 2-month-old daughter, Diane. The other victim had not been identified, and police said she was believed to be a hitchhiker about 19 years old.

Mrs. Merrit's 3-year-old daughter, Karen, was critically injured and was in the intensive care unit at the San Juan Hospital in Farmington.

Apartment hunting

Young Wallace tests interracial reactions

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — George Wallace Jr., son of Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace, said Monday he did not get clearance from his father before he and a young black woman went apratment apartment hunting.

Wallace, a 22-year-old Huntingdon College student, and Huntingdon coed Evelyn Bradford visited four local apartment complexes as a part of a social problems class study to get the reaction of persons to unusual circumstances.

He and Miss Bradford posed as an interracial couple about to be married and apartcent hunting.

"I only told Daddy that we were having a sociological experiment at school, the mustachioed young Wallace told UPI. "It was fun. It gave me a lot of insight into people."

Wallace, who is dating a white girl, said one apartment manager was willing to rent to them as a prospective couple and the others turned them away. He said several of them recognized him as the governor's son and were dumbfounded before they were told it was an experiment.

"One showed us around and the others were cold," he said.

"At first they looked at us, looked away and then acted like we had knocked the breath out of them," young Wallace said.

"I was really a little apprehensive about the whole thing," he said. "I thought the attitudes would be worse, but the times are changing."

Other Huntingdon students pretended to be blind shoppers at stores, posed as female slaves offered for sale at $2,500 each in the shopping mall, and some painted their faces green to get the reaction of fellow shoppers.

Kaiser receives emission delay

SAN BERNARDINO (UPI) — The County Air Pollution Control District hearing board recently agreed 5-0 to grant Kaiser Steel Corp. of Fontana variance until Dec. 31, 1976, on emissions from its coke ovens.

The firm is currently experimenting with a device to reduce such emissions.

You're doing your part.

We're doing ours.

Long before the energy shortage hit the headlines, we were anticipating a shortage of natural gas in Southern California.

That's why for the past four years, the Southern California Gas Company and its parent company, Pacific Lighting Corporation, have been doing everything possible to increase the supply of natural gas.

And we are making progress. In terms of an adequate gas supply for residential customers, our area is in better shape than most parts of the country. Even without additional supplies, we can meet these needs at least through 1978.

But the outlook for our industrial customers isn't so bright. They need more gas, along with other energy sources, if a cutback in production and employment is to be avoided.

So, we're working to bring even more gas into Southern California. For example, we have a contract already signed in Indonesia for a minimum twenty-year supply, subject to governmental approvals. And an agreement in Canada with Pan-Alberta Gas Ltd. for a six-year supply.

We've filed an application with the Federal Power Commission to build a coal gasification plant in New Mexico. We're negotiating with producers in the Cook Inlet area of south Alaska for a liquefied natural gas source. We're supporting exploration and development of gas supplies in Australia, Panama and Colombia.

And, along with other California and U.S. companies, we're working on the largest energy project ever conceived: The $5.7 billion Arctic Gas pipeline.

Nowhere in the world is there a more widespread and aggressive search for new gas supplies. We pledge to you that this search will continue. And that the highest priority attention will be given to the environmental effects of our proposed projects. Sufficient energy and environmental protection must go hand in hand.

We're doing everything within our power to eliminate unnecessary delays and to continue serving you with clean-burning natural gas at a price that will still make it a bargain among energies.

Has your cigarette "changed" lately?

Maybe it's time to change your cigarette.

Has your brand changed its filter? Its taste? Its pack?

Change to Kent.

It'll give you back what your brand took away. Maybe even more.

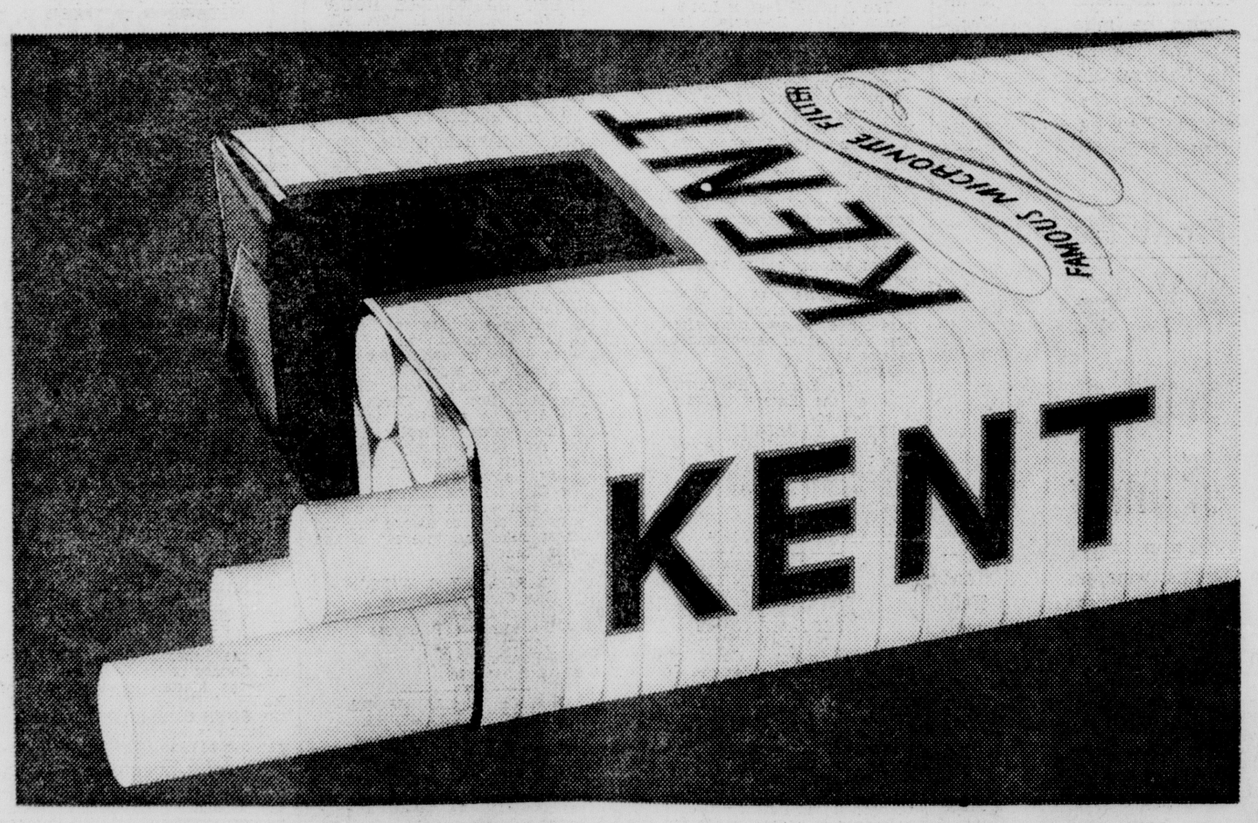
The mild, smooth taste you want.

The clean, white Micronite filter.

And, of course, the famous Kent quality.

Try a taste that's too good to change.

Mild, smooth taste. Famous Micronite filter. America's quality cigarette.



Kent. We wouldn't change it for the world.

WINTER GUESTS — This family of Canadian geese strolls along the shore of Lake Merritt in Oakland enjoying the East Bay sunshine. An expert at the San Francisco Zoo said the parents probably decided to spend the winter in the Bay Area instead of flying south with the rest of the flock. He said the birds will probably fly north as soon as the youngsters have learned how to fly. (UPI telephoto)

S.F. business hurt by Zebra

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The rash of random street murders by the "Zebra" killers have caused a sharp drop in business in many parts of San Francisco.

"Zebra has petrified the city," says Davey Rosenberg, the portly spokesman for the city's North Beach District. "If it weren't for the Japanese tourists, we'd all be out of business."

He said that businesses with valet parking or garages nearby are doing far better than those without.

"People simple wont walk the streets after dark anymore," said Rosenberg.

Rosenberg called on Mayor Joseph L. Alioto to either resign or quit his campaign for the governorship.

"This is a crisis. We need a full-time mayor," he said.

Republicans facing rough 1974, says Ford

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republicans are in for "a tough time in 1974," says Vice President Gerald R. Ford, and part of the trouble is that they are worrying about the 1976 presidential election instead of their chances this year.

"Republicans in 1974 are facing a tough election and we should not sweep under the rug the fact we've lost some special elections this year," Ford said Wednesday at a meeting of the Republican Women of Capitol Hill, an association of congressional secretaries and aides.

"I find too much concentration among Republicans on 1976 and not enough concern about 1974," he said. "The fact we have to recognize is that the Republican party is having a tough time in 1974."

He urged the women to "go back to your bosses and tell them to be optimistic rather than pessimistic."

Marco DeFunis case

Supreme Court action threatens split in civil rights movement

WASHINGTON UPI) — In sidestepping a decision on the merits of a controversial discrimination suit, the Supreme Court has left unresolved an issue that threatens to split the civil rights movement down the middle.

The Court rejected a few days ago the claim of a white law student that he was discriminated against by the University of Washington's programs for admitting minorities. The Court thus left undecided the central issue of the case — whether quotas or preferential admissions constitute a form of reverse discrimination.

At stake is not only the issue of admissions policies in colleges and universities, but potentially affirmative action programs of both corporations and labor unions designed to increase minority participation in predominantly white institutions.

In the University of Washington case, Marco DeFunis argued he was turned down for admission to the Law School even though blacks with lower grades and qualifications were admitted.

For many in the old civil rights coalition —that included religious groups, labor unions, public interest organizations and black groups —quotas or preferences for blacks are considered necessary at this time and represent a logical implementation of the Supreme Court's 1954 decision outlawing segregated school systems.

Supporters of this view argue that the effects of racial discrimination are so deeply embedded and long-lasting that special or affirmative actions need to be taken to erase those effects.

Opponents of minority preference programs argue that institutions should be color blind and persons should be judged only on how well they meet an institution's qualifications. Quotas or preference systems, in this view, constitute reverse discrimination and violate constitutional guarantees.

In addition, many Jewish groups harbor strong memories of the use of quotas as a discriminatory device used to limit their admission to certain institutions.

The depth of the split in the civil rights coalition can be gauged in part by the volume of "friends of the court" briefs filed in the DeFunis case.

Among them are briefs from practically every civil rights group, many major religious groups, several unions and some prominent members of the legal profession.

Justice William J. Brennan, one of four dissenters in the 5-4 ruling on DeFunis, said the number of briefs indicate that "few constitutional questions in recent history have stirred as much debate, and they will not disappear."

Brennan added: "They must inevitably return to the federal courts and ultimately to this court."

The breakdown of the briefs suggests the size of the break in the rights coalition.

Among those supporting DeFunis were the American Jewish Congress, the American Jewish Committee, the Anti-Defamation League of B'Nai B'rith, and the AFL-CIO. Groups supporting preferential admissions policies included the United Auto Workers, the United Mine Workers, the National Education Association, the Union of American Hebrew Congregations and the National Council of Jewish Women.

For the rights movement, the danger is that in having agreed on the principle of a desegregated society —and pushed that principle to legal acceptance in the 1954 school desegregation decision —it will break apart over its implementation.

Former Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg recently summed up the scope of the DeFunis case when he said "there is a clear and present danger that the fissure in the civil rights coalition evident in the DeFunis case will widen to busing and other difficult cases which are coming to the courts for adjudication."

Record month seen for speeding cases

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California Highway Patrolmen will arrest a record 100,000 speeders this month in a "saturation point" crackdown on violators of the energy crisis-spawned 55 mile per hour limit, Commissioner Walter Pudinski said today.

Pudinski said arrests so far this month were averaging 3,623 a day—nearly triple the number cited in April of last year.

"Speed enforcement is approaching the saturation point, based on the number of men we can put on the road at any given time," Pudinski said. The CHP has 4,900 men in the uniform traffic division:

"Violation percentages indicate we could arrest 100,000 per day if we had enough men and equipment," the commissioner added.

Speed studies for March and April, he added, show that 70 per cent of vehicles are exceeding the 55 m.p.h. maximum limit on rural freeways and from 30 to 45 per cent on the San Diego and Los Angeles urban freeways.

"Speed enforcement will continue at this peak level until evidence shows that violations are headed down. We will keep the pressure on until motorists comply voluntarily," Pudinski added.

"The need to conserve energy still exists, and as long as the law is on the books it will be enforced," the CHP chief said.

He also said that truck and bus arrests number from 160 to 200 per day with the balance of the current 3,623 representing passenger vehicles and motorcycles."

N.Y. health dept. warns of imports

NEW YORK (UPI) — Drums, wine skins, rugs and other items made in Haiti from untanned goatskin with hair attached may be contaminated with anthrax, an acute bacterial disease which can be fatal if untreated, the New York City Health Department warns.

No cases of anthrax illness have been reported in New York State, but a health department spokeman said a Florida woman was reported last week by the National Center for Disease Control to have been affected by the illness.

The city health department said recently anyone who has bought any such untanned goatskin products from Haiti should immediately put them in a sealed, tied plastic bag and bring them to health authorities for proper disposal.

"People should not attempt to sterilize or decontaminate the items themselves, or throw them away," the health department said. Inspections were ordered today of music, curio and souvenir shops and boutiques in New York City to look for contaminated products.

First to use police whistle

First policeman who used a whistle to direct traffic was Capt. Bernard Hoppe on the Boston force in 1908. File that . . .

Just $15,000 was all the inventor of the brassiere made out of that useful device . . . A billboard in that carrot country around Holtville, Calif., advertises a pesticide thusly: "Fear no Weevil". . . . Only one out of every 50 cases of Rocky Mountain spotted fever crop up in the Rocky Mountains . . .

Before age 3, boys get more colds than girls. After that, it's vice versa. All the way up.

A German doctor named Professor Fritz Roeder at Gottingen University claims he has cured repeat cured nine out of 10 of the alcoholics and drug addicts he has treated by use of brain surgery. With no serious side affects. The craving, he says, centers in a small area of the brain. By destroying cells in that area, he reports, the urge to partake is also destroyed. Interesting, if true.

Q. "What sort of standard allowances do parents give their children, say from ages 6 through 12?"

A. Age 6, nothing to a quarter. Age 7, a quarter. Age 8, a quarter to a half collar. Age 9, a half dollar. Age 10, a half dollar to a dollar. Age 11, maybe 75 cents to a dollar. Age 12, a dollar or more. So reports the researchers.

Vesco terms N.Y. verdict a surprise

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fugitive financier Robert Vesco said he was surprised at the outcome of the Mitchell-Stans trial, telling CBS news Sunday it was "the first fair verdict I've heard in a long ime."

But he added he has "no desire to come back" to the United States. Vesco was reached at his San Jose, Costa Rica, home.

The government alleged Vesco looted $224 million from four overseas mutual funds and the $200,000 campaign donation was made with the hope of stopping the Securities and Exchange Commission probe.

Vesco said he was surprised at the not-guilty verdict because he thought the publicity would override the legal process.

"My own view ... the pretrial publicity had been so serious that it may override the proper judicial process ... that they may be found guilty due to nonlegal facts."

When told former Attorney Genera John Mitchell did not share surprise, Gesco said, "he's in a much better situation than I."

"I certainly would hope that people would take proper notice ... that this would have a dramatic favorable impact ... because the type of circumstantial evidence that surrounds the impeachment process is comparable to what Mitchell and Stans had there in New York."

Drag racing crash kills one

LONG BEACH (UPI) — One person was killed and another seriously injured Sunday when their car was struck by an auto which allegedly ran a traffic signal while drag racing.

Dead was Jennie Macenski, 51, of Bellflower. Her husband, Alex, who was driving their car, suffered serious injuries.

Charged with suspicion of manslaughter were a 17-lear-old youth who drove the car which collided with the Macenski auto, and Carman J. Lachat, 20, the driver of the other car in the race.

Sheriff's officers said the drag-racing autos were clocked by radar at 87 miles an hour before the crash.

Olympic winners

The United States won the first 10 modern Olympics Games, beginning in 1896 in Athens and continuing unbroken until 1936 when Germany was the unofficial winner in Berlin. After the World War II hiatus, the U.S. won in 1948 and 1952, the Soviet Union in 1956 and 1960, the U.S. again in 1964 and 1968 and the USSR was the winner of the last games in 1972.

Bradley budget $739.3 million

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Mayor Tom Bradley Monday presented a $739.3 million proposed budget for the 1974-75 fiscal year to the City Council.

This represents a $43.5 million increase over the current budget.

About $594 million of the money was set aside for general government operations while the other $145.3 million makes up the "noncontrollable" section of the budget.

The "noncontrollable" part is expected to result in an 89-cent rise in property taxes for every $100 of assessed valuation. This would place the city's property taxes at about $2.85 for every $100 of assessed valuation.

The council's finance committee will hold public hearings on the budget next Monday.

Summary claims Nixon innocent

House probers receive transcripts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon today turned over 1,200 pages of transcripts covering Watergate-related conversations to House impeachment investigators and the White House expressed confidence the material would prove him innocent of any criminal activity.

The White House released a 50-page summary of the transcripts it said would show the President was not guilty of involvement in any "criminal plot to obstruct justice" regarding Watergate or its cover-up.

The "white paper" was a full-fledged attack on the credibility of the President's chief accuser, John W. Dean III.

"Throughout the period of the Watergate affair the raw material of these recorded confidential conversations establishes that the President had no prior knowledge of the Watergate break-in and that he had no knowledge of any coverup prior to 1973," the conclusion of the summary said.

The full transcripts were to be released to the public later in the day.

The transcripts were taken by presidential aides in a black station wagon on a 10-minute trip from the White House, reaching Capitol Hill half an hour ahead of the 10 a.m. deadline set by the Judiciary Committee for 42 Watergate tapes.

But the subpoena asked for the tapes themselves and Nixon said he would not comply, although in a nationwide television speech Monday night he said he would allow the ranking Democrat and Republican on the committee to hear the tapes to verify the transcripts.

Many Democrats on the committee indicated this would not be enough.

Rep. Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass., a member of the Judiciary Committee, said the transcript he received had the word "inaudible" in place of sections of conversation. Drinan said this was another reason why the committee should have full access to the tapes.

Nixon said in his Monday night speech that a reading of the transcripts with "an open and fair mind" would show him innocent" and that "the President has nothing to hide in this matter."

The summary said: "In all of the thousand words spoken, even if they are not clear and ambiguous, not once does it appear that the President of the United States was involved in a criminal plot to obstruct justice."

The summary dealt in large part with contradicting Dean's testimony before the Senate Watergate committee last summer. Much of it was devoted to the Sept. 15, 1972, meeting between Dean and Nixon, in which Dean said he was congratulated for his covering up of the scandal, and March 21, 1973 when Dean said he warned Nixon of a "cancer on the presidency."

The summary quoted Nixon as telling Dean on Sept. 15 that "the way you have handled all this seems to me has been very skillful, putting your finger in the leaks that have sprung here and have sprung there."

The summary said the statement was "in the context not of a criminal plot to obstruct justice as Dean alleges, but rather in the context of the politics of the matter." Dean had said Nixon's comments meant the President knew of the cover-up.

The March 21 meeting, according to the summary, showed Nixon posed more than 150 questions to Dean, specifically asking what other White House aides knew about the cover-up.

The summary did not have answers but said the transcripts contain "ambiguities and statements which taken out of context could be construed to have a variety of meanings."

It said the transcripts of that meeting did show that Nixon had no prior knowledge of hush money paid Watergate defendants, that he rejected such payments and said the best solution to the scandal was to have White House personnel appear before the grand jury, "even though it meant that some people might have to go to jail."

The summary contained few extended conversations. Single statements by Nixon were quoted without the context of other conversations.

The White House said some swearing had been omitted from the transcripts "in the interest of good taste, except where necessary to depict accurately" the conversation.

It said material not related to the President's conduct as well as personal characterizations of other parties also was omitted.

The transcripts were wrapped in plain brown envelopes and transported to Congress during the morning.

HERE COME THE TRANSCRIPTS!

Transcripts of edited versions of many of President Nixon's Watergate conversations arrive on Capitol Hill today to be turned over to the House Judiciary Committee in the old Congressional Hotel.

Two men bolt CIM, but captured later in L.A.

CHINO — Two maximum security inmates had to settle for less than 17 hours of freedom from California Institution for Men after overpowering a guard, smashing through a prison fence with a stolen state car, and hijacking a Chino woman's car Monday.

Inmates Joe Edward Johnson, 23, and William R. Walker, 23 were captured early this morning and are now in administrative segregation in the CIM Reception-Guidance Center pending further investigation by the Chino Police Department and prison investigators.

Walker according to Earl Muff, CIM assistant to the superintendent, was arrested by prison investigators and Los Angeles police hiding under a bed in his girlfriend's apartment in Los Angeles about 3:30 a.m.

Johnson was arrested in front of a Los Angeles motel about 12:30 a.m. by prison investigators.

About 10:45 a.m. Monday, according to Muff, Johnson, serving a prison term for first degree robbery, and Walker, serving terms for attempted murder and assault with a deadly weapon on another inmate in prison, were on a work detail cutting shrubbery on the east side of the Reception-Guidance Center. Six other inmates were in the area with Correctional Officer Steven Laughlin on the work detail.

Muff said one of the two inmates moved behind Laughlin and suddenly struck him in the back of the head with a shovel. Laughlin was knocked to the ground, suffering a gash in the head. Johnson and Walker, out of the view of the gun-towers on the West side of the Reception-Guidance Center, quickly scaled a 13-foot high fence and ran 200 yards to the CIM garage. Laughlin was unable to call for help immediately because of his injury.

Still unseen by other prison guards, the two inmates first tried to start a small foreign car parked near the garage, but failed. They then went into the garage where a number of state cars were parked.

Muff said Johnson and Walker saw two other inmates at the garage and began beating them, finally taking a set of car keys. The pair then drove the car over rough terrain and crashed through the prison's perimeter fence near Kimball Avenue.

Muff said the rough terrain ruptured the vehicle's fuel ank and caused serious undercarriage damage.

Johnson and Walker managed to drive the damaged vehicle to a nurses registry at Ramona Avenue and the Pomona Freeway. At the registry Mrs. Dorothy Davis, a nurse, was having difficulty backing her car out of the parking lot. Johnson and Walker, according to Muff, asked Mrs. Davis if she needed help.

Mrs. Davis believing the men to be state employes allowed one of the men to get in her car. As the one inmate got into the car, the other knocked her down and joined his accomplice.

Both Johnson and Walker drove the car onto the freeway and headed towards Los Angeles. All law enforcement agencies from San Bernardino

SLA surprise anticipated as deadline nears

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The poor will lose $4 million in free food unless the Symbionese Liberation Army releases Patricia Hearst by Friday —the deadline set by the Hearst Corp. for the safe return of the 20-year-old newspaper heiress who was kidnaped Feb. 4.

Miss Hearst's father, Randolph A. Hearst, president and editor of The San Francisco Examiner, has already paid out $500,000 in a giveaway food program for the Bay Area's needy, and the Hearst Corp. has chipped in with $1.5 million more.

The Hearst Corp. said $2 million more would be paid out at once and another $2 million next January if Miss Hearst is freed unharmed by Friday.

However, Miss Hearst has said in two recent tape recordings that she has foresaken her former life and has decided to join the SLA in its fight against "fascism."

Meanwhile, FBI agents and other police agencies have been placed on special alert for another surprise action by the SLA because of the deadline. The nature of the next action is a matter of speculation.

In one of its recent communiques the underground group indicated there would be no more kidnapings, but authorities were skeptical of such a pledge.

The Hearst Corp. placed the $4 million in escrow four weeks ago. If Miss Hearst is not released, the money will revert to the corporation.

President claims Dean is Watergate 'villain'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon says John W. Dean III is to blame for all his Watergate and impeachment woes —and that he has 1,200 pages of evidence that will prove Dean to be the villain.

Dean, fired a year ago today as White House counsel after he began cooperating with government prosecutors, emerged as the clear target of the edited White House tapes Nixon is making public today attempting to prove "the President has nothing to hide" in the bugging scandal.

Dean has sworn under oath he believes Nixon was a party to the Watergate cover-up. Nixon made clear he hopes to convince Congress and the nation that he is telling the truth but Dean is not.

"The basic question at issue today is whether the President personally acted improperly in the Watergate matter," he told a nationwide television audience Monday night. "Month after month of rumor, insinuation and charges by just one Watergate witness —John Dean —suggested that the President did act improperly.

"This sparked the demands for an impeachment inquiry ...

"If read with an open and fair mind, and if read together with the record of the actions I took, these transcripts will show that what I have stated from the beginning to be the truth has been the truth."

Specifically, Nixon said the tapes show Dean lied when he testified before the Senate Watergate committee last summer that he thought Nixon was "fully aware" of the cover-up plot as early as Sept. 15, 1972.

Though Dean's credibility has been challenged before, it was the first time Nixon himself had gone on the offensive and appeared to signal Nixon's intention to key his defense heavily to the Dean issue. There have been polls showing more Americans believe Dean than Nixon.

Attacks on Dean's veracity by White House aides in January and February prompted Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski —whose cover-up and other cases rest heavily on Dean's testimony —to defend Dean publicly by saying he knew of "no basis" for a perjury charge.

Construction starts on Alaska pipeline

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — Construction equipment and more than 1,000 workers moved out Monday to begin construction on the trans-Alaska oil pipeline project.

The initial phase consists of building a 360-mile road from the Yukon River to Prudhoe Bay on the North Slope, site of oil fields which oil companies hope will produce 9.6 billion barrels of crude oil.

The pipeline was first proposed by a consortium of major oil companies five years ago, and it is expected that the pipeline will begin carrying the oil in 1977.

When first proposed, it was estimated the project would cost $2 billion.

At least 9 tumble to death as German bridge collapses

KEMPTEN, Germany (UPI) — The middle section of a super-highway bridge under construction collapsed today and workers dropped to their deaths 45 feet into a Bavarian river valley, police said.

A police spokesman said that at least nine workers were smashed to their deaths.

The spokesman said another 13 laborers were dug out alive and rushed to nearby hospital for treatment on injuries. He said that some of the survivors suffered serious injuries.

The spokesman said that because it was not known exactly how many workers were on the bridge at the time of its collapse, rescue teams continued to dig their way through the rubble under rainy skies in search for more possible victims.

The spokesman said a total of 21 workers were believed to have been on the bridge at the time of its collapse at 7 a.m.

The bridge, construction of which began in November, is to span the Leubas River Valley north of this Bavarian winter sports resort over a length of 250 feet.

The spokesman said that most of the dead, injured and missing workers were foreign laborers.

The spokesman said that according to preliminary investigations, a supporting skeleton collapsed, dropping the middle section of the bridge carrying the workers down into the valley.

U.S. judge strikes down restrictive housing law

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Can a small town pass laws discouraging new residents in order to retain its rustic atmosphere?

Absolutely not, a federal judge ruled Monday.

The decision came in the case of Petaluma, a community of 30,600 persons 50 miles north of here, in Sonoma County. Studies indicate the population will double by 1985.

In an attempt to retain its rural character, the city passed laws and zoning regulations to prevent the building of more than 500 new houses a year.

U.S. District Judge Lloyd H. Burke Monday ruled the "Petaluma Plan" unconstitutional, saying the city could not halt the natural influx of suburbanites.

Burke said the ordinance was designed to restrict population growth and was "in violation of the right to travel and, hence, unconstitutional."

In a formal opinion backing up an order issued earlier this year, Burke said traditional zoning laws to regulate population density in neighborhoods and to set standards of construction were allowed.

"The only issue presented here, for the first time, is whether or not a municipality may claim the specific right to keep others away."

The decision, Burke said, "is intended to encompass, not only the outright numerical limitations upon the issuance of building permits, but also any and all features of the plan, which, directly or indirectly, seek to control population growth by any means other than market demands."

Burke said the city's argument that water and sewage facilities would not be able to handle the increased population was "not true" because such facilities could easily be expanded to handle growth.

He also noted that the no-growth policy of Petaluma would force other cities in the rapidly expanding San Francisco Bay Area to handle an increased share of people.

The construction industry brought the suit against the city, claiming that a procedure for obtaining building permits amounted to a "hazing system" intended to discourage builders. The judge said he would appoint a referee to handle disputes which arise over new housing in the future.

Nixon has paid most of tax bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has paid most of his half million dollar tax bill, an administration official said today.

The official declined to specify precisely how much of the $467,000 owed by Nixon in back taxes and interest had been in his first installment to the Internal Revenue Service, but said "most of it" was paid.

The IRS ruled that the President had underpaid taxes for his White House years between 1969 and 1972.

Presidential aides said Nixon would have to borrow money to meet the debt, but has returned thousands of dollars in contributions from sympathetic Americans who have read about his tax plight.

Oil executive freed by guerrillas returns home

MIAMI (UPI) — U. S. oil executive Victor E. Samuelson, held 144 days by Argentine leftist guerrillas before being ransomed for a record $14.2 million, arrived back in the United States today.

Dressed in a blue suit, and his long blond hair flowing over his collar, the 37-year-old Samuelson was aboard a Varig Airline flight that arrived in Miami about 8:30 a. m. EDT.

He ignored the cameras and shouts of newsmen when he first stepped from the plane and headed for customs. Later, however, he walked out of the Customs Office and acknowledged his identity.

"I'm feeling fine but I want to see my family," he said. "I want very badly to see my family."

After clearing customs he was hustled through the lobby of the airport and out a side door to an airport concourse where he boarded a twin-engine Mackey Airlines plane.

Officials did not disclose the destination of the Mackey airliner, which apparently was a charter flight, but he was expected to fly to New York.

A spokesman for the Esso Argentina Oil Co., who had an opportunity to speak with Samuelson, said he appeared "in good health, both mentally and physically, jovial, and in a good humor."

The company spokesman said Samuelson, a native of Cleveland, Ohio, and manager of Esso's Campana, Argentina, refinery, was "well treated" in the two "people's jails" where he was held.

Just when company officials had begun to give up hope of finding him alive, Samuelson showed up Monday morning, 49 days after the ransom was paid, at the home of his family doctor.

After his release he had a cup of tea with the doctor's son, Federico Pfister, a 22-year-old medical student, and was driven to the Esso offices.

"He told me to take him downtown and don't ask any questions," Pfister said. "He said he was wearing the same suit he had on when they kidnaped him."

The student said Samuelson looked "in good health" and "did not show any signs of nervousness, but he was very disoriented."

Financial sources said the 49-day delay in the release was due to ERP's need to "launder" the money —that is, transfer the funds through several bank checks and drafts to make the ransom difficult to trace.

The sources said Exxon delivered the 300-pound ransom in suitcases containing 142,000 bills in $100 denominations.

Senate wants to prevent them in future

Anticrisis move in motion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate leaders today proposed creating a temporary commission to study ways for the government to foresee and then prevent possible national economic crises.

The proposal was made by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Hugh Scott at a meeting with top administration officials.

Mansfield said that if a central government resource data bank had been established years ago to measure the nation's fuel resources, 'there would have been no fuel crisis."

"And if it is energy today, of what will we as a nation be in dire need tomorrow?" Mansfield said in a statement.

He and Scott first proposed the idea of a resource data bank in a letter to President Nixon last February.

"Unless we have some synchronized and coordinated machinery for this purpose, the nation will be subject to a plague of crises, one after another, in the years ahead," the Senate leaders said.

Nixon agreed to the meeting, although he observed that "large meetings are not good for thinking through anything."

Scheduled as participants in the meeting, in addition to House and Senate leaders, were Treasury Secretary-designate William Simon, Budget Director Roy Ash, Cost of Living Council Director John Dunlop, preseidential economic adviser Peter M. Flanigan, and Herbert Stein, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers.

Mansfield said the energy crisis may be only one aspect in a whole range of possible shortages that could produce even greater crises for the United States.

Both he and Scott have proposed bringing together representatives of government, industry and labor on a regular basis to study "national needs, not only as they confront us today, but as they are likely to be five, 10 or more years hence and how they are best to be met.

"If the government is to intervene in these matters, as it is now doing, an effort ought to be made to put that intervention..on a rational and far-sighted basis." the leaders said in their letter to Nixon.

House probers are not satisfied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Most members of the House Judiciary Committee say they are not satisfied with President Nixon's offer of Watergate transcripts rather than tapes.

One urged a vote of "noncompliance" —which probably would have no teeth. It appeared unlikely the committee would take any concrete action to enforce its demand for the actual recordings.

The committee apparently will proceed with its impeachment inquiry with what the White House gives it, while continuing to press for more. Its confrontation with the President therefore appeared far from over.

Demorratic members of the committee who were asked about Nixon's decision generally found it unacceptable. Republican members praised it, although a few expressed reservations.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., who refused to comment directly on the speech, had said earlier that "we will accept no less" than the 42 tapes subpoenaed on April 11.

The ranking Republican, Edward Hutchinson of Michigan, said he was satisfied with the offer although the committee would have to "study it and satisfy ourselves" that what Nixon delivered was "a complete record of Watergate .. at least insofar as the President's involvement."

Nixon's offer would give the committee and the public edited transcripts of the 42 conversations plus material the committee had not requested.

He said he would invite Hutchinson and Rodino "to come to the White House and listen to the actual, full tapes of these conversations, so they can determine for themselves, beyond question, that the transcripts are accurate and that everything on the tapes relevant to my knowledge and my actions on Watergate is included."

Nixon added: "The task of Chairman Rodino and Congressman Hutchinson will be made simpler by the fact that the work of preparing the transcripts has been completed; all they will need to do is satisfy themselves of their authenticity and completeness."

Rep. Charles Rangel' D-N.Y., was irate. "Certainly a vote of noncompliance will come before the week is over," he said. If no one else makes the move, he would, he said. Enough colleagues expressed similar sentiments on Monday, he said, that he thought the motion had a good chance of carrying. But such a vote apparently would lack any enforcemnt provision.

Committee sources had let it be known previously that Nixon was not likely to be held in contempt of the House, but that if he failed to comply this would be evidence itself in an impeachment proceeding.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford, who would succeed Nixon if the impeachment process were carried to its ultimate end — conviction in the Senate and removal from office — said: "I thing thePresident is being cooperative —and I hope and pray the impeachment matter now can be quickly brought to a conclusion."

George Bush, GOP chairman, called it " a major step in putting impeachment proceedings behind us," and Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott welcomed the "wealth of material," he said was being given the committee.

The White House itself reported the initial public reaction running 5 to 1 in favor of Nixon, according to telephone calls through the White House switchboard.

Huge tanker waits to unload 1st Saudi oil since embargo

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Standard Oil of California prepared today to pump the biggest crude oil shipment ever to reach the Pacific Coast from an enormous supertanker into two smaller tankers.

The F. Hornsby Wassom, carrying the first Saudi Arabian oil for this country since the end of the Arab oil embargo, lay off San Clemente Island Monday, the Coast Guard reported. The 218,888 ton tanker is 1,068 feet long, 50 feet longer than the Queen Mary. It carried more than 1.5 million barrels of oil, worth $18 million. The tanker is too big to enter any West Coast port and the oil will have to be transferred to smaller tankers at sea.

The Coast Guard estimated it will take at least 40 hours to complete the pumping operation. Standard of California spokesmen have said there will be special precautions against spills, with boats standing by with absorbent materials to sop up any leaks.

Tiles give way, con lands in courtroom

HOUSTON (UPI) — Samuel G. Sanchez, 33, had almost made good his escape from the county jail. He had wormed his way through air conditioning ducts and onto the roof of the courthouse and was moving toward freedom. That's when the tiles he was walking on gave way, and he crashed through.

Martha will sue Mitchell; Nixon cited

NEW YORK (UPI) — Martha Mitchell has decided to sue her estranged husband, former Attorney General John Michell for separate maintenance, attorney Marvin Belli said Monday.

"We don't know what he (Mitchell) has so we are asking for reasonable temporary support, legal fees and division of property and assets wherever located," the San Francisco attorney said.

Mrs. Mitchell returned to New York Monday night from Phoenix, Ariz., and would move back into her Fifth Avenue condominium today after a two-week absence, Belli said.

The Mitchell's separated last September and Mitchell moved into the fashionable Essex House, where a Belli associate sought Monday night and early today to serve Mitchell with a civil summons to respond to his wife's suit.

Belli blamed the break up of the marriage on President Nixon. "I think the principle party in the whole break up was the White House," he said. "This was a good marriage and a long one, and she is a very good, substantial girl and if there is a villain in this piece it is you know who."

Two men bolt...

and Los Angeles counties began an intensive ground and air search in the Los Angeles-Pasadena area, where both Johnson and Walker were known to have numerous relatives and friends.

The escapees were finally located about 17 hours later.

Muff said that Laughlin was first given emergency treatment at the CIM hospital and then transferred to Kaiser Hospital in Fontana. He was later released in good condition. Mrs. Davis was not injured when she was knocked down by the escapees.

Muff said the two prisoners working at the CIM garage were not injured seriously. He declined to reveal their names.

Muff said that both Johnson and Walker were considered management problems and had been assigned to the Reception-Guidance Center's Palm Hall. Johnson had been transferred to CIM from the Duell Vocational Institute in February and Johnson had been transferred from San Quentin prison in October 1973.

Phillips criticized

LONDON (UPI) — A citizen complained to police that Capt. Mark Phillips, the husband of Princess Anne, mistreated the horse he rode to victory last week in the three-day Badminton riding trials.

"Capt. Phillips obviously terrified Columbus, forcing him over some of those terrible jumps," Mrs. Jean Pyke said. "I watched it all on television."

She said Britain's Protection of Animals Act made it an offense "to terrify, over-ride, beat, kick, torture or infuriate an animal."

John Lockwood, 70, owner of a home for retired horses, also threatened to take action —not only against Phillips, but also against the queen. He said Phillips rode the horse "very very hard over the 17 miles" and "the queen, as owner, should not let this happen."

He loves just her

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UPI) — Britain's Lord Snowdon said Monday he loves his wife, Princess Margaret, "and only her."

"Although there are rumors about my marriage, I love my wife and only her," the newspaper Hurriyet quoted Snowdon as saying.

Snowdon was in Istanbul working as director of photography for a film version of Agatha Christie's "Murder on the Orient Express."

Ex-singer pleads

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — William "Chad" Mitchell, 36, founder of the once popular "Chad Mitchell Trio," pleaded innocent in federal court Monday to a charge he conspired to possess 400 pounds of marijuana.

U.S. District Judge Adrian Spears set a May 31 pretrial hearing on a defense motion to supress evidence in the case.

Mitchell, president of Devonshire Music Corp., of Chicago, was arrested by federal narcotics agents Oct. 21 at a San Antonio motel as he got into a pickup camper in which the marijuana allegedly was found.

Bell enters race

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — Rex A. Bell Jr., 39, son of the late Western movie actor Rex Bell, is seeking the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor of Nevada.

Bell, a former Las Vegas justice of the peace, said Monday there was not one candidate of either party "I can't get along with."

Extradition asked

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (UPI) — Joanne D. Chesimard, reputed leader of the Black Liberation Army, refused Monday to waive her right to an extradition hearing Monday on an attempted murder indictment in New York.

Mrs. Chesimard, 25, who will stand trial in New Jersey for murder after the birth of her child expected in September, asked for a full extradition hearing before Middlesex County Court Judge John E. Bachman.

New Jersey Gov. Brendan T. Byrne signed an extradition order April 26 to move Mrs. Chesimard to New York to face charges of two counts of attempted murder, attempted assault and possession of dangerous weapons.

Burton injured

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Richard Burton, who is in the process of getting a divorce from Elizabeth Taylor, will be hospitalized for another week for treatment of a hand injury suffered in a movie fight scene, a spokesman said Monday.

Burton and Miss Taylor announced last week that they are seeking a divorce in Switzerland, ending their 10-year marriage.

Burton entered St. John's Hospital here April 14 after finishing work in "The Klansman." A spokesman said he was suffering from bronchitis, but Monday his representative said he also had a hand injury, received in a fight staged for the movie. "His lung problem is clearing up rapidly, but the doctors don't want to release him until his hand is completely healed," he said.

Miss Taylor, who returned here from Hawaii last week, has been in seclusion in a Beverly Hills hotel. She has not visited Burton.

Faith increased

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Evangelist Billy Graham says one effect of Watergate has been a national "renewal of faith" and increase in church attendance.

Graham was questioned about Watergate and his relationship to President Nixon at a news conference called to announce plans to mark the 25th anniversary of the start of Graham's career as an evangelist.

He said Nixon is now "a very busy man and I don't see him as much as I did before he was President."

Suspects make stand, terrorize residents

Neighborhood in seige as fugitives hole up

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI) — Residents of a quiet neighborhood in this college town huddled behind locked doors Monday as the forces of four combined police agencies rooted out a gang of bank robbers holed up in homes in the area.

Gunmen entered two residences in the neighborhood as they fled lawmen. In one home, an elderly man was beaten with a shotgun and his wife terrorized. In another, an ailing elderly woman was dragged to the basement of her house, where an armed suspect made his last stand.

Three suspects were apprehended and most, if not all, the bank money was recovered, authorities said. At least one suspect remained at large.

County prosecutor Milt Harper said the case began when a man entered the First Bank West dressed in women's clothing. The other bandits followed shortly, armed with shotguns and pistols. Customers and employes were held at gunpoint as money was collected.

The arrival of police interrupted the holdup, forcing the bandits to run to a getaway car, leading a chase from the West side Columbia Shopping Center.

Shots were exchanged, including a shotgun blast which injured five West Junior High School students as the chase passed the school grounds. Their injuries were described as minor and none was hospitalized.

The car was abandoned in the north part of town, where the bandits split up on foot to seek shelter in the residential neighborhood.

Police said one man entered the Albert Heisrodt home, where he beat Heisrodt, 76, with a shotgun. His wife Josephine, managed to escape and summon police. The assailant had fled when officers arrived.

Heisrodt was admitted to Boone County Hospital in fair condition. Mrs. Heisrodt, who suffered shock, was in satisfactory condition.

In another home, an elderly woman, Mabel Ray, was taken hostage. Police said they were summoned by a neighbor who had called the sick woman to see if she was all right and got no answer.

Police said they convinced the fugitive he was surrounded and talked him into surrendering.

Bad choice of street to try stealing bike

UPLAND — A young thief picked the wrong cul-de-sac street Monday in which to snatch a 10-speed bike. The residents there include three highway patrolmen and two city police officers.

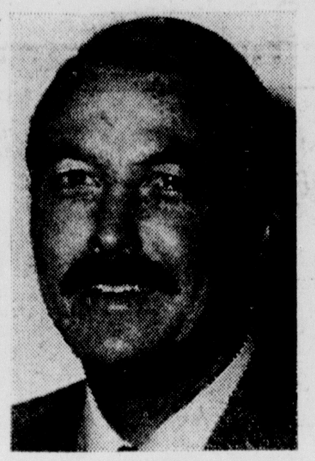
And because of one of these residents, two 17-year-old boys are in custody today.

Officer Tom Fitch of the California Highway Patrol was returning home Monday afternoon from work when he spotted a stranger crossing his neighbor's driveway and walking into the garage.

A few minutes later, the youth exited the garage riding a bike. Fitch, who had waited outside his home, gave chase in his own car. The pursuit followed a zig-zag course and finally ended in an alley where the thief attempted to put the stolen bicycle in the back of a waiting car.

When Fitch stopped his car, the youth riding the bike fled on foot between two apartment buildings. A Montclair policeman, however, spotted him a short time later in an open field.

Meanwhile, Fitch arrested another youth who had been waiting by the car in which the stolen bike was placed. Both youths were detained by Upland police.



JOHN G. PARKER, of Glendora, former captain of Los Angeles County Fire Station 85 in Glendora, has retired after 14 years of service. Parker retired because of a service-related disability and plans to continue his education in the field of fire service. He spent most of his career in the San Gabriel Valley and most recently in Glendora. Parker and his wife, Carole have three children and make their home in Covina.

Art center to get study

POMONA — The City Council by a 5-0 vote authorized the expenditure of up to $3,000 for a feasibility study into the proposed use of the vacant United Artists building as a community theater for the performing arts.

In a second motion which carried 4-0, the council authorized Mayor Ray J. Lepire and Dr. Robert Davis, chairman of the Cultural Arts Commission, to ask the United Artists chain to hold off negotiations with other parties for the lease of the building pending the results of the study.

It was disclosed at the meeting that two other parties besides the city are interested in the vacant building.

City Administrator Jerrold Gonce said he had learned Monday that one of those two parties, a movie operator from Hawthorne, had applied for a conditional use permit to reopen the United Artists. City officials did not say what type of business the two competitors were interested in opening.

Councilman Adrian T. Wright declined to vote on the second motion, indicating he did not understand what he was being asked to vote on based on the explanations of the theater proposal offered by Fred Sharp, executive director of the Redevelopment Agency, and Commissioner Philip Browne.

The commission following lengthy studies had recommended that the council enter into preliminary negotiations for the possible lease of the United Artists but that these negotiations not become final pending the results of the study.

Hit-run crash victim dies in hospital

UPLAND — Anna Marie Mosqueda, 27, of San Bernardino, died in San Antonio Community Hospital Monday from injuries she suffered Saturday in a collision with a hit-run driver.

Investigating officers said the woman was eastbound on Foothill Boulevard in Fontana when he car collided with another vehicle which made a left turn in front of her.

The driver of the second vehicle was pulled over by two sheriff's deputies two miles away from the accident scene but fled on foot and was still being sought.

Man shooting coyotes almost hits patrol car

LA PUENTE — Two helicopters and several back-up radio cars were called in by sheriff's deputies who believed they had been fired on here Monday night.

But investigation disclosed that the blast which missed a patrol car near a field at 16195 Main St. had been fired by a man shooting at coyotes, deputies said later.

The radio car was part of the sheriff's Special Enforcement Bureau which has been assigned to the area in an effort to put down youth gang activities.

Deputies said the shot was fired by Raymond Edderly, 64, and not by a sniper as they at first believed. They said they planned to seek a complaint against Edderly, who lives nearby, charging him with unlawfully discharging the gun within city limits.

Orthopedic surgery topic for nurses

Water skier injured at Bonelli Park

SAN DIMAS — A young Covina man was injured in a water skiing accident at Bonelli Park here Monday.

Witnesses said that Jeffery L. Corder's skis dug into the sand when he got into shallow water in the ski beach area on the lake's north shore. When the skis dug in, Corder, 18, was thrown head over heels.

The victim was aided by fire department paramedics who treated him for shock and a head injury. He was taken to San Dimas Community Hospital where he was admitted briefly to the intensive care unit. He was reported in stable condition this morning under routine care.

Girl injured when hit by motorcycle

POMONA — A 9-year-old girl was injured slightly Monday afternoon when she was hit by a motorcycle as she attempted to cross East End Avenue north of Phillips Boulevard.

Shelly Lynn Klinefelter, 1419 S. East End Ave., was released after treatment at Kaiser Foundation Clinic in Ontario.

The motorcyclist, John Cittel, 21, 12641 Benson Ave., Chino, said the girl started to cross the street, hesitated, began to return to the curb and then turned and started ahead again when his handlebar hit her.

Ag chief to talk in area

Glendora group plans book sale

GLENDORA — The Glendora Friends of the Library will hold their annual used book sale on Saturday, May 11, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The sale, scheduled for the Glendora Library Plaza, will include items other than books. Copies of National Geographic art objects, record albums and plants will also be sold.

All proceeds of the sale will be used to make purchases for the library. Any donations for the same may be brought to the Glendora Library.

San Bernardino County

Littering on private land banned

SAN BERNARDINO (CNA) — Littering private land will be included in the ordinance covering dumping trash on public thoroughfares, it was decided by the Board of Supervisors Monday.

The decision came after owners of vacant land, particularly those in the Chino district, protested against the high cost of weed abatement, including rubbish dumped by unknown persons.

Chairman Nancy E. Smith proposed that victimized property owners post "No rubbish dumping" as a warning to the culprits, who can be dealt with when the amended ordinance is formally adopted. Calvin C. Peterson, Chino, cited a charge of $449 for cleaning up his property last year, against the usual $50.

At present most of the contractors operate from Los Angeles County. Chairman Smith disapproved of out of county contractors and insisted weed abatement should be handled by in-county firms.

Oil nations to consider levying tax

VIENNA (UPI) — The world's major oil exporting nations announced plans today to consider levying a tax on petroleum company earnings in a bid to get an even bigger share of fuel profits.

The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) said the decision would be made next June during an overall review of long-term oil price policy.

A panel of experts from OPEC's 12 member nations, which produce 85 per cent of the world's oil exports, was scheduled today to conclude a tax study expected to provide the information for making the decision.

OPEC said the panel's findings would be submitted at the summer meeting of OPEC oil ministers in Quito, Ecuador.

OPEC Secretary General Abderrahman Khene said in London last week the recent tripling of crude oil prices had failed to give the exporting nations a large enough share of oil company profits.

"Further action is needed to correct the situation," he said.

His statement came amid reports by U.S. oil firms of record earnings despite having to pay the exporting nations a record $7-a-barrel in taxes and royalties.

After deducting shipping, refining and distribution costs, OPEC officials said, petroleum companies earn $4 on each barrel of crude oil —eight times more than the 50 cents earned before the energy crisis.

Venezuela to take over U.S. firms

CARACAS (UPI) — American executives tried today to learn the details of a surprise Venezuelan plan to nationalize the local holdings of U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Sears Roebuck and a Rockefeller-owned supermarket chain.

President Carlos Andres Perez, in a special message to Congress, announced plans Monday night to cancel iron ore exploitation rights held by the two American steel firms. The rights were to run until the year 2000.

U.S. Steel and Bethlehem have been mining rich iron deposits in Venezuela's southeastern Guayana region since the 1930's, investing more than $500 million.

Perez, who took office 49 days ago, announced the Sears and Rockefeller nationalizations earlier Monday in a speech to union leaders.

"We are going to nationalize all the supermarkets and department stores — Cada, Sears and all of them," he said.

The Cada supermarket chain is a subsidiary of the International Basic Economic Corp., partly owned by the Rockefeller family. Sears Roebuck has been operating in Venezuela for more than two decades and has branches across the country.

"All we know is what the president said in his speech," one U.S. businessman said after the announcement.

Perez also announced plans to eliminate investment tax writeoffs for international companies operating in Venezuela, the Western Hemisphere's main petroleum exporter.

The oil industry, headed by such international giants as Exxon, Shell, Gulf and Mobil, now pay a 58 per cent income tax rate —two per cent less than the flat 60 per cent stipulated by law —due to exemptions for investments made in Venezuela.

The Venezuelan Congress has been studying several bills for the takeover of foreign oil companies within the next 24 to 36 months.

Perez told members of the Venezuelan Workers Confederation his government would try to "create a bonanza situation" out of the 3 million barrels of oil exported daily, more than half to the United States.

He proposed wage increases of between five and 25 percent for the nation's 3.2 million workers as well as regulation of prices and profits on basic goods and services.

Man gives up vacant-lot home in box for apartment

TALLAHASSEE, Florida (UPI) — Harvey Smith has a comfortable garage apartment with a shower, hot plate for cooking, radio and television and an orthopedic mattress for his bad back.

Quite a come-up from several days ago when the 67-year-old Smith was sleeping in a discarded cardboard appliance box and cooking his meals on a camping stove in a vacant lot.

To top it off, he has an offer from a lonely Tennessee widow to come live with her.

"I think I'll hang on to that," Smith chuckled, tucking the letter in the pocket of his neat shirt.

Smith, who is using an alias to keep from embarrassing his six children who are grown and live away from Tallahassee, moved in with a middle-aged Tallahassee couple last week.

After his plight was made known, he received offers of help from as far away as Michigan and California.

He chose to stay in Tallahassee, however, and now has the home-like apartment.

Smith, living on his Social Security pension, isn't paying rent, but will help his landlord build a greenhouse behind the garage and do other chores.

High court upholds right of search

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's four appointees to the Supreme Court, joined by two others, ruled Monday that police applying for a search warrant in a federal narcotics case need only show that there is evidence to be found on the premises, even though the search is to be conducted at night.

Three members of the court who normally object to curbs on individual liberties, Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan and Thurgood Marshall, read the law to require an additional showing for a nighttime search. They said Congress intended to pursue "its strong policy against nighttime intrusions into the home."

Writing for the dissenters, Marshall recalled "the public outrage at the series of mistaken nighttime raids by narcotics agents in Collinsville, Ill., last April." He suggested that the way Justice William H. Rehnquist interpreted the law for the six-man majority may be a violation of the Constitution's ban on "unreasonable searches and seizures."

The case stemmed from narcotics seizures in the Dsitrict of Columbia, for which Congress enacts laws of local application only. Rehnquist held that the federal statute applied rather than local law.

Before adjourning for its last two week recess of the current term, the court, in a California case, laid down some standards for censoring prisoners' mail.

In an opinion by Justice Lewis F. Powell, Jr., it said state authorities may censor mail of prison inmates only to further a "substantial government interest" and not to suppress "unflattering opinions." It said both the writer and the recipient of the prisoner's letter have the right to free speech.

The Douglas-Brennan-Marshall trio wanted to go farther, saying that prison authorities have no "general right to open and read all incoming and outgoing prison mail."

A spokesman for the federal prison system said the opinion would apparently require no changes in its current rules.

Massachusetts, Ohio, Rhode Island and Washington all permit outgoing mail to be sent in sealed envelopes.

South Carolina and Wisconsin neither censor nor inspect outgoing mail if the adressees are on an approved list.

Alaska and Pennsylvania inspect outgoing mail for physical content but do not read it.

In other action the court:

—Refused to overturn anti-pollution standards set by the Environmental Protection Agency and challenged by electric utilities.

—Agreed to decide whether President Nixon has power to withhold from the states allotments authorized by Congress to finance water pollution control. It was the first time the court agreed to review at least part of the issue of presidential "impoundment" of funds.

Intruder shot after struggle

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A 32-year-old burglary suspect was shot to death Monday when he entered an unlocked apartment and struggled with the occupant.

Ladislas Boet, 25, told police he went to sleep without locking his front door and a short time later, was awakened by an intruder.

Boet said he seized a .30-caliber rifle and shot the intruder twice.

The suspect, Amo Burciago, an ex-convict, was pronounced dead at the scene.

Calif. produces 80% of nation's tomatoes

SACRAMENTO, California (UPI) — California tomato growers produced 4.8 million tons of canning tomatoes in 1973. This is 80 per cent of the nation's supply and had a value og $199 million.

4th suspect in torture slayings held

OGDEN, Utah (UPI) — Police have arrested a fourth man in connection with the torture slayings of three persons at a local stereo shop.

Lawrence M. Anderson, a former airman at Hill Air Force Base and now a student at Weber State College, was arrested on charges of tampering with evidence.

Keith L. Roberts, 20, was arraigned Monday on a similar charge. City Judge E.F. Ziegler continued arraignment until Thursday for two other Hill airmen charged with murder in the grisly murder spree in which five persons were forced to drink liquid drain cleaner and then were shot in the head. An 18-year-old girl was raped before being shot and a pen was shoved in the ear of another survivor.

Three of the victims died, including the girl. Two others survived but one is still in a coma. The other survivor is recovering from a superficial head wound and a punctured eardrum received when one of the killers jammed the pen into his ear and kicked it.

Charged with murder are Dale S. Pierre, 21 and William A. Andrews, 19.

U.S. keeping ties with Portugal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has accepted Portugal's new military junta without question.

State Department spokesman Paul Hare said Monday that the United States had decided to continue diplomatic relations with Portugal "without interruption."

Hare was responding to questions by State Department reporters following last week's military coup which led to the overthrow of the civilian government and its replacement by a military junta.

Hare said that the Portugese ambassador, Joao Hall Themido, had called at the State Department Saturday to deliver a note fro mthe new administration announcing its assumption of power and outlining its plans.

Monday, Hare said, the State Department had called Themido in to present him with an American note which, Hare said, marked the continuation of American relations with Portugal "without interruption."

Hare said it was too early yet for the United States to decide what it thought about the new government's policies on dealing with Portugal's African territories.

First choice of Loeb, Leopold dies at 59

CHICAGO (UPI) — Attorney John O. Levinson, 59, first choice of thrill killers Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, died Saturday in a Portland, Me., hospital, nearly a half century after "just luck" saved his life.

Levinson was 9, and a resident of Chicago's Hyde Park neighborhood when he was targeted for the kidnap-murder scheme, Loeb later testified.

But Levinson walked home a different way on the day of the kidnaping and Loeb and Leopold decided on a different victim—Bobby Franks, 14. Loeb and Leopold were defended by Clarence Darrow in the ensuing murder trial and escaped the death penalty. Loeb died in jail and Leopold spent 33 years in prison before being paroled to Puerto Rico where he became a model citizen. He died in 1971.

Leopold and Loeb testified they attempted to follow Levinson on May 21, 1924, after he finished a sandlot baseball game at 49th Street and Drexel Avenue on Chicago's South Side.

Levinson later said, "the rest of the boys went down Drexel and Loeb and Leopold followed them, thinking I was with them."

Levinson said, "I went down Ellis—not premonition or fear or anything like that. Just luck."

Realizing their error, Loeb and Leopold, members of two wealthy Chicago families, doubled back but Levinson got home ahead of them. It was then the two boys cruised through the Hyde Park neighborhood and found Franks.

Levinson, a Yale graduate who got his law degree at the University of Chicago, said he apparently was picked to be the victim of the plot when he attended the birthday party of Loeb's younger brother Tommy "four or five days before the killing."

Levinson said, "When it came time to give Tommy Loeb his birthday spanking, Dick Loeb preferred me for some reason. He grabbed me and starting whacking me."

Levinson was a member of the Chicago and American Bar Associations who spent considerable time in New England where he was the amateur golf champion three times.

Survivors include his widow, Elizabeth, and children John W. and Elinor.

165 cyclists arrested for tailgating

165 CYCLISTS—1-24 ... ...

READING, Pa. (UPI) — State Police arrested about 165 members of the Pagans motorcycle gang near here Sunday "for following each other too closely."

Nearly 100 state troopers stopped the gang members on the Morgantown Expressway about eight miles south of here and gave out citations ordering them to pay $15 fines.

"We are arresting them for following each other too closely," said Capt. Michael Kostow, Reading Troop L commander. "That is a violation of under Section 1010B."

About 25 State Police sharpshooters, looked on from hills rimming the highway as the citations were issued. The Pagons sat quietly on the roadside, and there were no serious incidents.

Kostow said a State Police helicopter had kept the cyclists under surveillance since they left a Chester County farm earlier in the day. He said there were about 200 motorcyclists, many of them from outside Pennsylvania.

They were headed, he said, for the annual Billy Huber Memorial Motorcycle Race at the Reading Fairgrounds.

Kostow said a number of weapons were confiscated but no charges were filed.

Four receive bank awards

LOS ANGELES — Four Chaffey College students have been named preliminary winners in the Bank of America's annual California Community College Awards program.

Robert Keeran a business major and Jose Hermocillo a social science and humanities major, both of Upland; and Keith Deans, a science and engineering major and Renee Lovato, a technical-vocational major, both of Ontario each won $250 in recent competition held at Mt. San Antonio College.

The four winners will go on to final competition May 1 and a chance to win one of four $2,000 first place awards.

Sound carries far

When the volcano Krakatau, exploded in Indonesia Aug. 27, 1883, the explosion was heard 2,500 miles away and tidal waves killed 35,000 persons.

Who says?

You can't go home again

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Mrs. Giovanna Ashley has given up trying to give away her dog, Lucky.

About four months ago, she gave the 5-year-old German shepard-collie mix to a friend about 30 miles north of her home. Three days later, he came home "tired out" Mrs. Ashley said.

She tried again last Thursday. She drove the animal to her stepdaughter's house 60 miles away in Yuba City.

"When I gave him away this time, I figured he can't walk home again," she said with an Italian accent. "My little daughter, Mary Ann—she's 12— said, 'Momma, why you do that for?' I say, 'Because I can't afford his license I gave him to a good home.' But she was heartbroken."

Mary Ann need not have worried. On Saturday, Mrs. Ashley heard a howling outside her gate. It was Lucky.

"I gave him a bath. He can hardly walk. He's got sore feet and I think he's got a charley horse. But Mary Ann is happy. She says, 'Momma, you can't give him away any more.' So I guess I'll have to get that license. He eats a lot, too, but I'll make room for him this time," Mrs. Ashley said.

Scripps prof publishes her latest book

CLAREMONT — Scripps College prof Thais Lindstrom's latest book, "Nickolay Gogol, His Life and Art," has been published by Twayne Publishers, Inc. of New York.

In her book, Prof. Lindstrom provides an updated critical and biographical study of Gogol's life and work.

Prof. Lindstrom has been a member of the Scripps faculty since 1970, teaching comparative literature and writing on Russian literature and authors.

Tug boat sinks, spilling oil

MORRO BAY (UPI) — The Coast Guard said Thursday a minor oil spill in the harbor from a tug boat that sank the previous day posed no immediate danger to marine life.

The tug boat Blue Eagle, carrying some 6,000 gallons of diesel fuel, sank in 50 feet of water Wednesday during dredging operations when a swell rolled the 85-foot vessel over.

A Coast Guard oil pollution investigator said the oil was leaking at a rate of 20 gallons an hour and two divers were attempting to seal the tug's fuel tanks.

GETTING READY

Ambulance firm asks city for subsidy to cover debts

POMONA — The City Hall staff was directed by the City Council Monday to come up with recommendations next week on the formation of a committee that would look into a request by the Cole-Schaefer Ambulance Service for city financial assistance the firm says is necessary to stay in business.

Cole-Schaefer, 1830 N. Orange Grove Ave., as the holder of a certificate of public convenience and necessity, is responsible for answering all calls for emergency ambulance services in the city.

It is asking the council for reinstatement of a program whereby the city was paying about $18,000 a year for debts incurred for providing emergency ambulance services to patients from whom the firms said it was unable to collect payment.

Discontinuance of the subsidy program in 1971 came following a long and bitter dispute between the council and the firm on emergency ambulance services provided under an Emergency Aid Program (EAP) administered by the county.

At a hearing Monday, Harvey Cardwell, certified public accountant for the firm, testified that since September of 1972 there has not been a quarter that Cole-Schaefer has not operated in the red in Pomona.

Cole-Schaefer here is part of a larger company that operates ambulance and other services in other cities, including Ontario, Los Angeles, West Covina and Hacienda Heights.

Charles Birkemeier, division manager for the firm, said the uncollectable bills involved the nonpayment by a "multitude" in the 20-25-year-old bracket and a "good number" of DOAs (dead on arrival) in the 18-25 bracket.

In his written recommendation, City Administrator Jerrold Gonce asked for denial of the request, saying that "if this privilege is granted, additional problems with the EAP will occur. I believe it is in the best interest of the citizens of Pomona to have adequate ambulance service but not to subsidize such services with public funds."

Gonce said a review of records revealed that the firm was allowed to retain a franchise for ambulance service after agreeing to operate without city financial aid.

The arrangement approved by the council and county supervisors in 1971 did away with the city subsidy for emergency ambulance services but did not affect the EAP provision for emergency hospital services locally.

In their written recommendations, Police Chief F. P. Wallick and Fire Chief John Fowlkes said they found the services being performed by the firm satisfactory.

But Fowlkes recommended against granting the request, saying he did not believe the city should subsidize private enterprise.

Fowlkes said fire personnel had expressed concern about the firm's slow response times, lack of knowledge of the city's geography, lack of cooperation of some of the attendants and delay in the transportation of patients since paramedic training was initiated by the firm.

Councilman Adrian T. Wright said he recalled years ago when another ambulance firm had offered to provide emergency ambulance services without city financial aid, a program he figured would cost the city in the neighborhood of $30,000 a year.

Councilman Charles W. Bader asked for a close look at the problem in view of the "warning signals" received of the possibility of the firm being unable to stay in business in Pomona.

THE LAST GOODBY

James Taylor, principal, at right, and Mrs. Sharon Brazel, PTA president, chat with youngsters for the last time at the entrance to the main administration building at Washington School in Pomona. Washington, the oldest school in Pomona, will have its administration, kindergarten and bungalow buildings demolished this summer to make way for earthquake-safe buildings. The final farewell to the oldest structures at the school was held last week by the PTA. Former administrators, teachers, students and parents at Washington attended the ceremony.

Most county employes on job; await pay vote

LOS ANGELES — County employes are heeding the recommendation of their leaders to return to work pending action on an 8 per cent pay raise offer by the Board of Supervisors Friday.

Department heads reported today that absences due to "sick leave" were lower Monday than usual for the first day of the week.

But union officials cautioned the supervisors that the wage offer has not been accepted. They said it will take 10 to 14 days to complete and tabulate votes by the 36 unions involved in the bargaining sessions.

Approximately 13,000 of the 60,000 employes involved continued negotiations for higher wages today.

Union officials said that if one group rejects the wage offer, they may all reject it.

A strike was to start Monday morning, but when the supervisors raised their offer from 5½ per cent to 8 per cent, union officials asked the employes to stay on the job, pending the outcome of a ratification vote.

Helping hand new symbol of United Way

San Gabriel-Pomona Valley Region of the United Way has adopted a new symbol to replace its traditional torch.

The new design symbolizes the helping hand beneath the rainbow of hope and promise. The change at the local level stemmed from a recommendation by United Way's corporate public information committee.

Since the logo was first adopted in 1972 by United Way of America, most of the 2,200 United Way organizations across the country have replaced their various logos with the new one to unify the organization.

The change to the new design was made to eliminate confusion from numerous logos and help the United Way maintain a single identity.

Southwest pictured in slide presentation

POMONA — A slide show picturing the Southwest will highlight the next meeting of the Pomona Valley Camera Club on Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

The show, presented by Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wooden, will feature state and national parks in Utah, Colorado and Arizona. In addition, slides taken during a ride on the narrow gauge railroad from Durango to Silverton, Colo., will be shown.

The meeting is open to the public and will be held at 300 Pomona Mall West.

Murder suspect faces preliminary hearing

POMONA — Rachel Jean Lewis, 25, was ordered Monday to face preliminary hearing May 7 on a charge of murdering Hassan Abdul Rahman Saturday night in his apartment at 955 S. Hansen St.

Miss Lewis, of 1108 Oxford Place, was arraigned before Pomona Municipal Court Judge W.J. Harpham. He ordered her held without bail.

The defendant, a teacher's aide, was arrested Sunday in San Dimas after police received a telephone tip she could be found at 306 Toluca St. She was surrendered there by her attorney and has made no statements on his advice.

Rahman, 27, died as the result of stab wounds in his throat and chest. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Investigators said the couple had argued over a new girl friend of Rahman's. They said Miss Lewis stabbed him previously, but he had refused to prosecute her.

Court site of Law Day observance

POMONA — Law Day will be observed locally Wednesday in Pomona Superior Court's Department A with an address by Robert Hickson, president of the Pomona Valley Bar Association.

City officials, as well as judges and area attorneys, are expected to attend the observance in the court of Presiding Judge Paul Egly. The event is scheduled for 9 a.m.

Law Day is observed across the nation and was originated to offset May Day, a spring-time festival marked in some other countries.

Chairman named for open house

POMONA — A student chairman and principal directors have been chosen for Cal Poly's 1974 Poly Vue celebration and open house, May 10-12.

As chairman, Bohdan Buchynsky, of Glendale, a chemical engineering major, will be responsible for the coordination of all events during Poly Vue, which is expected to attract more than 8,000 visitors this year.

Bruce Finley of San Dimas, a biology major, will supervise campus operations and transportation, while Carol Elrod of Pomona, a social sciences major, will direct the events, publicity and public relations programs.

Poly Vue activities this year include a two-day rodeo, academic displays by all six schools of the university and teacher preparation center, a horse show, open-pit barbecue, tours, carnival, dance, student skills contest, professional and special interest club exhibits.

The right answers are as follows:

Worldscope: 1-a; 2-rose; 3-Democrats, 4; GOP, 1; 4-Yitzhak Rabin; 5-b. News name: William Simon, Matchwords: 1-b, 2-e; 3-a; 4-b; 5-c. Newspicture: Leonid Brezhnev. Sportlight: 1-golf; 2-c; 3-horse; 4-a; 5-golf.

The weekly quiz, part of the Progress-Bulletin's school program, is sponsored by Pomona First Federal Savings and Loan Association.

2 killed in San Dimas cycle crash were prison escapees

SAN DIMAS — Two men killed April 11 when their motorcycle struck the rear of a pickup truck on Interstate 210 were both escapees from a Michigan prison, reported the highway patrol.

They were Richard Goodwin 36, and Robert William Riley, 35. Both men fled the Jackson State Prison in Jackson, Mich., on Jan 1, 1974.

Goodwin was sentenced for robbery and Riley for armed robbery, kidnap and attempted murder.

The two men were riding a motorcycle west on the freeway at high speed when it passed one car, whipped back in front of it and struck the rear of the pickup, said investigators. One rider was run over by the car.

At the time of the accident, Goodwin had listed his address in Madison Heights, Mich., and Riley in Glendora.

10 students to get inside view of city government

POMONA — Ten students from four area high schools will spend Wednesday at City Hall in a Youth Government Day observance sponsored by Pomona Elks Lodge as part of National Youth Week.

The students were chosen by their respective counselors and principals for their leadership abilities. What office each would fill Wednesday was decided at elections among the 10 held Monday at the Elks Lodge.

The 10 students represent Damien High School in La Verne and Pomona Catholic, Ganesha and Pomona high schools here.

Peggy Weis of Pomona High was elected mayor, with Gail Brown of Pomona High as city administrator. City clerk will be Brian Thornburgh of Ganesha. Bill Karr of Damien will be city attorney.

Ken Swart of Pomona High will be director of personnel and Laurie Thatcher of Pomona will be city librarian. The director of community development will be Maryann Cunningham of Pomona Catholic.

Dana Base of Damien was elected director of parks and recreation. Two Ganesha students, Fred Sampson and Stacy Adams, were elected police chief and fire chief, respectively.

The students will report to city Council chambers at 10 a.m. Wednesday where they will be greeted by Mayor Ray Lepire. Each will be assigned to his counterpart in city government and they will spend the day together.

The Elks will host the participants at a luncheon Wednesday noon at the Elks Lodge.

Merle Wooten, Elks Lodge Youth Government Day chairman, said the purpose of the observance, is to teach students firsthand how municipal government functions.

Biochemist claims he has found cause of arthritis

LONDON (UPI) — A biochemist said that he has discovered the cause of arthritis and a way both to prevent and control the crippling disease.

A spokesman for the Arthritis and Rheumatism Council declined comment on the claim.

It was circulated in a news conference by Dr. E. C. Barton-Wright and in a booklet aimed at laymen and medical personnel.

"I am not claiming I have discovered a permanent cure for arthritis," he said. "What I do claim is that we have discovered the cause, the method of control and the method of prevention."

Barton-Wright said the disease was caused by a deficiency of pantothenic acid, a component of Vitamin B which is easily destroyed in food processing and cooking. Other scientists have considered arthritis a rejection disease in which tissues in the body's joints are treated as foreign invaders by the rest of the body.

"Arthritis is becoming worldwide in its incidence because people are eating more and more of these so-called sophisticated, highly processed but very palatable foods," Barton-Wright said. He said this processing destroys food's pantothenic acid.

Last chance for voters to register

Deputies of Los Angeles County Registrar of Voters Leonard Panish will be on duty this week to sign up those who want to cast ballots in the June 4 primary elections.

Registration closes Sunday.

Deputies will register voters at all county fire stations as well as at Buffums in Pomona through Saturday.

To be eligible to register for voting one must be a citizen of the United States, at least 18 on or before election day, and a resident of the county for at least 30 days.

Voters who have moved to a new address must reregister.

Office will hire 60 to deliver new directories

POMONA — The Pomona Employment Development Office, 150 E. Arrow Highway, will recruit 60 people to deliver new telephone directories in this area Thursday at 8 a.m.

Jobs will last from three to 10 days with work beginning on Monday. Pay rates vary according to the routes assigned.

Applicants must be 18 or over, present a neat appearance, have a valid California driver's license and have use of a large car or truck with current California registration.

Holiday air is taking over at Garey High

POMONA — Garey High School has scheduled activities ranging from folk dancing to a field trip in observance of Cinco de Mayo Wednesday through Friday.

Cinco de Mayo, or May 5, marks the anniversary of the Mexican victory over the French at Puebla in 1867. It is a national holiday in Mexico and recognized throughout the southwest United States by those of Mexican-American heritage.

Activities will be held Wednesday and Thursday from 11 a.m. to noon in the Garey quad. The final day of school festivities Friday will include a field trip to Mt. San Antonio College.

Traffic, a Pomona Valley car club, will exhibit vehicles on the campus while students at Garey will be in charge of the "pan dulce", or Mexican bread, sale both days. Mexican folk dances by Garey students will be presented Wednesday. Students will take part in the breaking of a pinata Thursday.

A "cena," or dinner featuring Mexican food, will be held Thursday evening from 6:30 to 9. With a $1.50 ticket, the holder may enjoy tacos, rice and beans.

During the evening dinner, Mexican folk dances will be performed and Los Tilines, a mariachi band with members drawn from throughout Southern California, will provide other musical entertainment.

Mayor Ray Lepire is expected to attend the dinner affair.

The field trip to MSAC will feature festivities presented by the college's Mecha Club throughout the day.

Opinion

Is America really all that wasteful?

Americans are so used to being criticized, or to criticizing themselves, for their affluence that they have come to take it almost for granted that they alone of all the world's peoples are guilty of reckless exploitation of the world's resources.

Rather than being a credit to our technology, ingenuity and energy, our high standard of living has lately become something to reproach ourselves for, a sign of national selfishness — or so some critics would have it.

Yet if affluence is now to be equated with waste, America may actually be among the least "affluent" of nations. For while we may consume a disproportionate share of the world's resources, our consumption on the whole, is efficient, is conducive to even great efficiency, and is a contribution to the progress of the world.

Paradoxically, a nation like India, surely the world's poorest for its size, becomes in these terms truly "affluent."

In that country, millions of sacred cows roam the cities and countryside, consuming resources not adequate to feed the human population, to which 13 million are added each year. There, too, the inefficiencies of a government committed to thoroughgoing control of every aspect of the economy have barely enabled India to hold its own in the face of population growth.

The spectre of mass famine looms again in the subcontinent, and once again it is the "wasteful" United States, which sent $10 billion in aid between 1950 and 1971, that India is again calling on for help.

Chile, once one of the most stable countries in South America, was brought to the brink of economic collapse by the wasteful socialistic experiments of the late President Allende.

Those countries which practice slash-and-burn agriculture, turning forestland into desert after a few years, or which pour money into prestige items like steel mills or armies while having to import the basic necessities, are guilty of far greater waste than Americans, with all their air-conditioners and high-powered cars.

Even the Soviet Union, after a half-century of supposedly rational state control of the means of production, has still not begun to approach the ability of the American farmer to utilize the land efficiently, and despite its vaunted technology is still unable to provide its people with the kinds of consumer goods available even to the poorest American.

Rather than being a mark of virtue, as those American youths who like to play at being poor seem to believe, national backwardness is in many cases really a mark of national folly.

It is no doubt true that the world will simply be unable to support an expected population of six billion by the end of the century on a scale presently enjoyed by Americans.

It is also true that Americans have wasted much, especially of nonrenewable hydrocarbon sources of energy. But we have begun to realize this, and to take steps to utilize resources more efficiently, and to develop substitute ones.

Whether technology can win the race against soaring world population and finite resources, or whether we will all eventually be reduced to a level of living hopefully somewhat higher than that of India, is the burning question in these last decades of the 20th century.

But those nations who indict America for exploiting the poor of the world could do worse than copy some of our "wasteful" ways.

Brand X the loser again

The United States Trademark Association reports in its annual roundup of new registrations issued by the Patent Office that the motion picture industry has been granted registrations for the "G," "PG" and "R" symbols used in film ratings as an alleged guide to viewers.

The letter "X" apparently remains in the public domain, which will be good news to people who make maps of buried treasures and such.

"X" as in "Brand X" appears to be on the way out, however, says the association, now that all three major television networks permit advertisers to name the name of their competitors. The Federal Trade Commission also prefers specific references to a competing product by its trade name rather than by "Brand X" or "the leading brand."

All of which may or may not be good news to those consumers who are wont to make X-rated comments about some of the advertising they are subjected to.

Klassen's fancy Christmas presents

WASHINGTON — Postmaster General E. T. Klassen soaked the taxpayers $48,091.10 last Christmas for 350 fancy stamp albums, which he gave away as Christmas presents to friends and officials.

This is another example of the extravagance which has driven up the price the public must pay for mailing letters. In a series of columns, we have been reporting on misspending and mismanagement in the Postal Service.

The procurement director, Conrad Trahern, was so startled over the order for 350 Christmas stamp albums that he began asking questions. This got back to Assistant Postmaster General Robert McCutcheon, who fired off a sharp memo to Trahern, demanding to know who was poking into Klassen's Christmas boondoggle.

Inquiries had been made, wrote McCutcheon indignantly, about "some souvenir stamp albums prepared for the Postmaster General. Questions were asked as to how many were bought, what the costs were and what they were used for. Please advise as to why this inquiry was made and who was requesting the information . . . What was the information to be used for?"

McCutcheon got back a straightforward reply. "I am responsible for procurement, I have always made it my business to know what is going on in my organization. For the present time, the information is to be used for only my personal knowledge."

The details, thereafter, were suppressed by the postal brass. Nevertheless, we have obtained a complete breakdown of the $48,091.10 it cost the taxpayers for Klassen's Christmas presents.

Footnote: A postal service spokesman told us that the stamp albums are not Klassen's gifts, but gifts from "the Postmaster General." One hundred ninety-nine albums have already been distributed, in accordance with the "international postal tradition," according to the spokesman. He claimed the albums went only to "dignitaries" and not to Klassen's personal friends.

Trahern, who has left the postal service, would not comment on postal matters.

SPARKMAN'S STYLE: Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., a Southern gentleman who likes to travel in style, saved 18 colleagues and their wives the indignity of flying home from Paris after Easter in a cramped and unadorned plane.

The senator from Alabama telephoned the White House from Paris and demanded a more suitable plane to return the nine senators, 10 representatives, their spouses and purchases.

At first, the White House told Sparkman all the plush planes were in use. But someone close to the President, possibly remembering that all those legislators in Paris soon will be voting on impeachment, had afterthoughts.

Sparkman got a return call from the White House, offering him one of Vice President Gerald Ford's planes. Ford was vacationing in Palm Springs, it was explained, and wouldn't be needing the plane over the weekend.

The sleek jet made a special flight to Paris — at the taxpayers' expense, of course — to pick up the congressional travelers.

Sparkman was pleased with himself. "It was the same plane," he boasted afterward, "that Lyndon Johnson used when he was President."

The congressional delegation traveled to Europe ostensibly to attend the Inter-Parliamentary Union meeting in Bucharest. Their wives went along, Sparkman explained to us, "as a matter of protocol." All their travel and hotel bills were picked up, therefore, by the taxpayers.

An examination of their itinerary suggests, however, that the group spent more time Eastering in Athens and shopping in Paris then attending inter-parliamentary meetings.

PAUL HARVEY

Were Patricia Hearst your daugher . . .

I don't know about Patricia Hearst. I do know that most of us — sooner or later, one time or another, more or less — have been rebellious. Indeed, if a youngster is not a revolutionary when he's 16 he ought to have his heart examined.

But if he's still one when he's 21 he ought to have his head examined. To the degree that we can, let's look inside hers.

You see this cartoon in The Wall Street Journal: Youngster, showing his father his report card, says, "It's not me, Dad, it's the system that failed."

What evidence is available indicates that Patricia Hearst has been sold the notion that the "system" which has been nothing but generous to her nonetheless has failed.

Psychologists will attach significance to the fact that this middle daughter of five daughters of very busy parents was raised mostly by a succession of governesses and maids. She went to parochial school as a child and for two years to the Catholic Santa Catalina High School in Monterey where she found discipline "hellish." She dropped out, went to a less confining school, did better.

Patricia Hearst, as an art history student at the University of California at Berkeley, only rarely discussed politics. She left her family to share an apartment with a boyfriend, Stephen Weed.

She had a $300-a-month allowance. He had a small income as an assistant teacher. She's a good cook and enjoyed preparing candle-lit dinners. She and Weed spent their evenings listening to stereo or watching TV reruns of Star Trek and Mission: Impossible.

Patty maintained the family ties, saw her parents often, took vacations with them. I understand she was making out a wedding guest list and picking a china pattern shortly before the Feb. 4 kidnaping. The parents were relieved by this promise of marriage.

Patty and Weed had tried marijuana, preferred wine. They did not subscribe to her father's newspaper, preferred reading Cosmopolitan, the satiric National Lampoon and the travel magazine, Sunset.

And now . . .

The last thing we hear from Patricia Hearst is a bizarre tape-recorded message in which she calls her parents "pigs" and calls her fiance an "ex-fiance" and a "clown" and a "sexist pig."

She called her father "Adolf," an obvious reference to Hitler.

She calls herself "a soldier of the people's army." She says she voluntarily helped rob that bank to take money from the Fascist dictatorship for the revolutionary forces.

She insisted that she has not been brainwashed. I don't know. Any father has to pray with hers that she is, but I don't know. I do know that a lot of young folks, sooner or later, more or less, do go through the "spoiled brat" stage of rebellion. And that some of them, while in it, make an unerasable mistake.

Bicycle safety

Summer will soon be here, and many bicyclists will be out on the roads. My husband and I have noticed many times while cycling that both the motorist and cyclist do not know that both cars and bicycles are bound to the same laws of the road (excluding freeways where no bikes are allowed at any time).

Like autos, we cyclists must obey stop signs, lights, signal our intentions, yield to pedestrians, etc. Yes, we cyclists can be ticketed for the same violations as autos; and yes, cyclists can make left turns with the proper signals from the proper lanes.

We do not have to dismount our bikes and use the crosswalks. However, young children, I feel, should walk their bikes across crosswalks—although once on a public street they have, technically, the rights of a motorist, but lack of developed coordination may cause problems with this particular turn.

The bicyclist, to be legal, must ride with the traffic; against is for pedestrians only. However, how many times do we see bicyclists on the wrong side of the street, or weaving in and out of cars, never considering a signal, and riding illegally in a group, rather than single file, a legal must for the biker.

All these actions can cause problems for both the motorist and the cyclist going the correct direction and meeting a wrong-way cyclist. Poor bike attitudes by a few give the good cyclist a poor reputation, which at times causes unnecessary harrassment from motorists.

When in doubt on what to do, remember that even though you may do everything correctly, if you're hit while riding a bike you are always the loser.

More than once we have been yelled at by passing motorists to ride to the far right. There are legitimate reasons for cyclists to wish not to do this under certain road and traffic conditions.

The next time you're driving your car or taking a walk, look at the pavement next to the curbing. You will likely find uneven pavement, gravel, rocks (which can cause a bike to slide), broken bottles and beer cans (causing flats and falls), and most dangerous are streets using gratings for water drainage. These can be disastrous.

If a bike wheel gets caught in the grating, the rider could easily as not fall directly into the line of traffic. Many times it is quite unsafe to get to the "far right." A cyclist, as does the motorist, also has the problem of parked cars; there the rider should not weave from curbing to cut around parked cars.

We have found that it is much safer to pick an area three feet or so from parked cars and stay in that general line, always being aware of opening doors and people coming out between cars. A vocal "hold it!" or better yet, a bell or horn mounted on your bike can save a rider from being knocked off by a car door into traffic.

Bicyclist cannot leave their safety up to the motorist. A cyclist must always ride defensively. Bright colored clothing and safety flags are also useful.

Now that there are more bicyclists, we hope cyclists and motorists will try extra hard to be aware of each other, and each other's particular problems. Since many motorists are cyclists, this should not be too difficult. The laws are the same, and the few extra "could be" hazards on a bike can be avoided with practice and cooperation. —Mrs. Sue Norton, Claremont.

Gossip for today

Suppose you had to make an appointment, like you do in order to see your doctor, before you would be allowed to attend a church service — or maybe wait in line like you do at a service station in order to buy $5 worth of gasoline. Boy! That would be the day when all the Toms, Dicks and Harrys in the country would be falling all over themselves in their frantic efforts to get religion. So, for what it's worth, I offer this suggestion as a possible cure for today's dwindling church attendances. — One way to improve the situation might well be to make religion hard to get.

'Look, no cavities!' the old man was shouting gleefully. With good reason, too. He had finally lost his last tooth. — And despite the good advice of that kindly old druggist on TV who is forever switching customers to fluoridated tooth paste, that's the unfortunate solution to the cavity problem which faces most Americans. According to the latest survey, 55 million adult teeth are lost each year in the United States.

Presidency more powerful abroad?

WASHINGTON — At a critical time for the nation and the world, Thomas E. Cronin, distinguished young scholar of the presidency, warns us sharply against a strongly developed tendency to invest too much expectation in what presidents can do.

In a new book, "The Presidency Reappraised," a collection of essays to which he contributes and helps edit, Cronin dissects a phenomenon not new in mention but seldom more lucidly analyzed.

Franklin D. Roosevelt's dramatics in depression and war are to Cronin the obvious starting point in the building of public attitudes which place excessive hope in the presidency. What he calls an "FDR halo effect" persists, he says, even today. Continues Cronin in his essay:

"The vision, and perhaps the illusion, is that, if only we can identify the right man, our loftiest aspirations can and will be accomplished . . . But it seems to me that our textbook writers and many of our journalists have egregiously over-simplified and exaggerated the capabilities of the modern presidency for policy accomplishment. The typical 'textbook presidency' conveys an inflated, and unrealistic interpretation of presidential competence, omniscience, and beneficience."

At the close, he suggests that no conceivable ideas for betterment of the office will "measurably alter the fact that the burdens on the presidency are nearly impossible; expectations on presidents to lead us to easy victories will probably always exceed the realistic possibilities."

None of what the author says is deliberately set against the background of public disillusionment arising from President Nixon's Watergate troubles.

What Cronin has been studying for a considerable time is how the presidency and the White House establishment work not merely to frame and advance policies, but to implement those which Congress enacts and the president bears untimate responsibility for carrying out.

Since this scholar soon will have published a whole book on this subject, obviously only parts of his argument can be marshaled here — argument he offers in support of his view that the presidency, for all its great growth, is a severely limited office.

Cronin finds that, in the time of the last few presidents, they have not pressed well and hard to execute enacted programs. Their interest in the notably difficult field of domestic policy is painfully laggard.

Worse still, in interviewing 50 former White House aides, he discovered a potent consensus that White House monitoring and evaluation of domestic public policies (to gauge their execution and usefulness) have been "haphazard and inadequate — not employed when needed and often not offering much help when employed."

In fact, nearly two-thirds of those queried felt that White House capabilities in this field were "poor," "terrible," or almost non-existent.

Cronin repeats what we all know, that a president brings many of his key campaign helpers into the White House with him, and fills most of his cabinet and other top agency posts with men whose competence and fitness he has little time to weigh.

Domestic-area cabinet officers in rare White House visits have to act like super-salesmen, and still find decisions affecting their vast bureaucratic balliwicks being made by young men generally without prior experience in the areas concerned.

So, while presidents are usually basking in the glamour of foreign, policy headlines, except for the economy they are likely to be grossly ineffectual on the tangled home front.

Montclair mayor proclaims law observance week

MONTCLAIR — "Respect for Law Week," an annual observance sponsored by the Optimist clubs of the West End, has been proclaimed by Mayor Harold Hayes for Wednesday through Monday.

The observance marks the attempt by Optimist clubs in the United States and Canada to encourage citizens to become actively involved in combating crime.

Lorin Myers, vice president of the Montclair Optimist Club and chairman for the special week, said that the first step in creating a climate in which respect for law can exist is through establishing full cooperation between citizens and their local law enforcement officers. In areas where this cooperation has been accomplished, a measured decrease in the rate of crime has been noted, Myers added.

Optimist International's program was initiated seven years ago in reaction to public apathy towards the increasing problems of crime. Since that time, other civic groups throughout the country and Canada have joined in the effort.

"The Optimists are quick to point out that their program does not reflect a blanket endorsement of the practices and personnel of all law enforcement agencies, but does emphasize the need for citizens to demand good law enforcement and to offer cooperation in every possible way," stated Myers.

Gabriel A. Ferrer, president of the Breakfast Optimist Club of Montclair, reported that a special presentation by Police Chief Ray McLean will be featured at the 7:30 a.m. Thursday meeting at the Howard Johnson Restaurant in Claremont.

All members of the Montclair Optimist Club will have the opportunity to "ride-along" on police patrols during the special week of observance.

Rock-roll festival

ONTARIO — Chaffey High School will present a rock and roll festival Friday from 5 p.m. to midnight in the school auditorium to raise funds to establish a Student Center.

Five bands will play. They are Black Creek, Dixon, Lucille, Pegasus and Roadside.

Tickets are $3 per person and may be purchased at the Chaffey bookstore, and at the Pizza Warehouse on Bonita Avenue and D Street in La Verne.

Rowland Heights

Class in backpacking offered to beginners

ROWLAND HEIGHTS — The Rowland Recreation Department will offer a class in backpacking for beginners starting Wednesday.

It is open to familes, couples, fathers and sons and scouts. The instructor, Ken Morse, said this is the best time of year for backpacking in Southern California mountains.

Completion of this class, and a trip, may be used toward the Presidential Sports Award in backpacking.

Subjects to be covered are the care and use of equipment and clothing, trail safety, food and its preparation, compass and topographic map reading and first aid.

An overnight outing and a class manual are included.

The class will meet each Wednesday from 7 to 8 p.m. at Alvarado Intermediate School. It will consist of six one-hour classroom sessions, and four hours of instruction on the outing.

Those interested in enrolling may register now at the recreation office at 1830 S. Nogales St. The office telephone number is 213 965-2541. The fee is $10 for the first family member and $7.50 for each additional member. There is a minimum registration of 12 students required for the class.

Panther Press gains top award

ALTA LOMA — Chaffey College's Panther Press has received a first place award for excellence from the Columbia Press Association.

The college's paper scored 934 out of a possible 1,000 points for content-coverage, writing-editing and design-display. In the content-coverage category, the paper received 249 of a possible 250 points.

The association, sponsored by Columbia University and comprising colleges and high schools across the nation, described the newspaper in these terms: "The Panther Press covers the campus well, paying attention to all events and activities. Your readers have to be proud of their college paper."

MSAC schedules variety of Chicano Week events

WALNUT — Folk dancing and music, guest speakers, an art show, high school visits, a health fair and blood drive will be features of the Mt. San Antonio College Chicano Week Wednesday through Friday.

MSAC's own Folklorico will open festivities Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. with a presentation on the Student Center Patio. At 10 a.m., inmates from the California Institute for Men will discuss the problems of Mexican-American prisoners, and at 11 a.m. Maria Montes, candidate for Congress, will be guest speaker.

At noon Wednesday, members of the campus Mexican-American Club, MECHA, and other Mexicana-American students will present Mexican dances. In addition, the MSAC Teatro will make its first appearance, also at noon.

Wednesday evening has been designated Community Night and will present children's art on the Student Center Patio. Youngsters from all over the MSAC District have donated art works for the display. Mariachis "Tenampa" and the MSAC Folklorico and Teatro, will perform and Mexican pastries and punch will be served.

During the three-day affair, students from area high schools will be the special guests of the MECHA members. On Wednesday, students from Bonita, Pomona, Nogales and Bassett will be on campus for the day. Thursday will see visitors from Sierra Vista, Garey, La Puente and Workman High Schools and children from the Bassett Head Start Program. Ganesha High School students are expected on campus Friday.

MSAC's first health fair and annual blood drive will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Thursday at the Student Center, jointly sponsored by MECHA and the Student Activities Council. Blood donations will be accepted from persons both on and off campus. Interested people may make appointments to donate blood by calling the MECHA office or Student Center on Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday.

The health fair will include displays, information and personnel from 16 community and MSAC agencies. MECHA's purpose in sponsoring the event is to disseminate accurate information on health care and health careers to students and area residents, and to afford opportunities to all to take tests offered by some of the agencies.

On Friday 10 a.m. Estaban Torres, candidate for Congress, will be the guest speaker in the Student Center. A food sale, featuring all types of Mexican food, will begin at 11 a.m. and continue through the noon concert.

Changing Times and Higher Ground will be featured Friday evening as MECHA is host at a dance from 9 a.m. to 1 a.m. in the Student Center. Admission is $2 per person.

Throughout the week, MECHA will be collecting canned foods for its United Farm Workers Food Drive.

An art show, presenting the works of artists in the Chicano community, new talent, children and prison inmates, will be on display in the college's Art Gallery all week.

Montclair High Key Club named most outstanding

MONTCLAIR — Montclair High School Key Club was named the most outstanding club of 1973-74 at a recent Kiwanis-Key Club-Circle K Divisional banquet.

Matt Burkhart, Montclair junior who is secretary of the Key Club, was chosen lieutenant governor of Division 15. He has been in the Key Club since his freshman year and currently is club parliamentarian. He was installed lieutenant governor at a convention in San Diego.

Montclair junior John Lesko is the club's 1974-75 council president. Other officers are Robert Engle, vice president; Nrian Noyes, secretary; and Doug Minor, treasurer.

Daniel McCarter is advertising manager. Michael Aller is parliamentarian. George Lesko is historian.

Upland Mayor's prayer breakfast

UPLAND — Dr. Ralph L. Byron, chairman of the Department of General and Oncologic Surgery at City of Hope, will speak at the second annual Upland Mayor's Prayer Breakfast on Wednesday.

Sponsored by the Upland Kiwanis Club, the event will be held in the Brethren in Christ Church. Breakfast will be served at 7 a.m. and the program will begin at 7:20 a.m.

Dr. Byron is an active layman in the Lake Avenue Congregational Church in Pasadena and is a member of the Tokyo Christian Crusade team of World Vision.

The public is invited to atend the breakfast. Tickets are $2.75 and may be obtained by calling Don Deal at 986-5847.

Pomona is raising prices for street-tree planting

POMONA — Starting Wednesday the Parks and Recreation Department will charge higher rates for the planting of young street trees, which will be larger than they have been in the past.

The Parks and Recreation Commission, with the concurrence of the City Council, authorized that 15-gallon size trees rather than the five-gallon size be planted in residential, commercial and industrial areas.

Roger Taylor, superintendent of parks, said the change was requested because the five-gallon trees planted are susceptible to damage, disease, drought, vandalism and other critical early growth problems.

The charge for a residential tree planting will be increased from $10 to $15, and $25 per tree will be charged in the commercial, industrial and multiple family residential areas.

A charge of $36 per tree will be made for replants due to neglect.

Xerox employe given leave to help in English program

POMONA — Lee Stone, an employe of the Pomona branch of the Xerox Corp., has been granted a six-month "social service leave" to help the Volunteer Vital English program.

The program is made up of 150 persons who go into non-English speaking homes to teach the English language.

Mrs. Stone is one of 34 persons chosen by the corporation from applicants from throughout the country.

The corporation grants fully-paid leaves of absence for periods ranging from one month to a year so that employes can pursue social service projects of their choice.

This is the third year Xerox has participated in the social service program.

Mrs. Stone lives in Cucamonga with her husband and a son. She has served as a volunteer teacher in Vital English since 1973.

The next two orientation meetings for persons interested in becoming teachers will be held Thursday, May 16, at 7 p.m. at the Mt. San Antonio College Education Center, 1158 W. Mission Blvd., Pomona, and on Tuesday, May 28, at 7 p.m. at the United Methodist Church of Cucamonga.

Entries accepted for Chino fair

CHINO — Entries are now being accepted for Queen of the Chino Junior Fair and Dairy Festival.

To be eligible, contestants must be high school students. There is no entry fee, nor is a sponsor necessary.

Applications should be sent to the Junior Fair Association at P.O. Box 767, Chino.

The Junior Fair and Dairy Festival will be held July 18 to 21 at the Junior Fairgrounds.

For further information, persons may call Helen Boer at 627-3661.

MRS. CHESTER ALCORN

Mary Ellen Story and Dr. Chester LeRoy Alcorn exchanged wedding vows in a double-ring ceremony at the Alcorn home in Pomona.

Pastor C. H. Peaden of Chino officated at the rites.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Johnson of Pomona, the bride was given in marriage by her son, Craig Bernard Story.

She wore a gown of light green chiffon and carried stephanotis on a nurse's white prayer book.

Donna Michelle Alcorn was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Julie Diane Alcorn and Mrs. Dennis Alcorn.

Dennis Warren Alcorn was best man for his father. The groom, son of Mrs. Geneva Alcorn of Lynwood, chose Douglas Alcorn and Craig Story as ushers.

Dr. and Mrs. Alcorn have returned from a wedding trip to San Diego and are making their home in Pomona.

Coming Events

WEDNESDAY

EMERA CLUB, Order of the Eastern Star, home of Mrs. Nell Williamson, 375 W. Jefferson Ave., bring white elephant, dessert, 1 p.m.

Mrs. Watkins to entertain NABA group

North American Benefit Association members will meet for a sack luncheon Friday in the home of Mrs. Mary Watkins, 429 S. Cataract St., San Dimas.

Games will be played during the afternoon and members are requested to bring a white elephant for a prize.

The group will hold its second meeting of the month at 10:30 a.m. May 17 when the local review will entertain the Tri-County Club at a luncheon.

Red Cross seeking volunteers

The Pomona Chapter of the American Red Cross is seeking registered nurses and other volunteers for its twice-weekly blood donor center operation.

The center at 420 N. Reservoir St. is open every Tuesday from 2 to 6:30 p.m. and Wednesday from 1 to 5:30 p.m.

According to Mrs. Dorothy Prickett, volunteer coordinator, workers were formerly asked to serve a full shift if possible. Now the center is seeking volunteers who will help for half a shift.

Mrs. Prickett suggests that mothers of school-age children volunteer for the earlier part of the afternoon and working women or older volunteers serve during the latter part.

Needed to continue the highly successful program are registered nurses, typists, hostesses and nursing aides.

Persons who are interested in the community service project which provides blood to local hospitals are asked to call the Red Cross, 629-7455.

Woman given scholarship

GLENDORA — Mrs. Blanche Epps of Glendora has been selected as a recipient of one of 10 $300 scholarship awards presented by Alpha Gamma Sigma, the state honor society.

Mrs. Epps, a past officer of the Citrus College chapter of the society, was selected on the basis of her academic achievements in competition with students from all California community colleges.

Persons having articles to donate who are unable to bring them to the church may call the church office or Mrs. John Heesen.

Folk Dance Festival scheduled

Mt. San Antonio Council Camp Fire Girls' annual Folk Dance Festival is scheduled at 2 p.m. Saturday at Charter Oak High School in Covina.

Hundreds of girls from the council will participate in the colorful event which has "It's A Small World" as this year's theme. The girls have created the costumes they will wear as they perform dances representing different countries of the world.

The Camp Fire members learn to perform folk dances from other lands and recreate native costumes to help them understand different cultures and people.

The festival is one of the largest of its kind. The one-hour show is open to the public without charge.

Girls from 25 cities from the San Gabirel River to the western portion of San Bernardino County will perform, according to Mrs. Vincent Van Detta, general chairman.

Engagement announced

Miss Colleen Patricia Kelly and James Anthony Caponigro have set Nov. 14 as the date of their wedding.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Kelly of La Verne. She graduated from Bonita High School and Sawyer's Business College.

Miss Kelly is employed by Los Angeles County in Pomona.

Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Caponigro of Vista. He graduated from Vista High School and Cal State Pomona where he was affiliated with Ta Beta Pi fraternity.

Mr. Caponigro is employed by General Dynamics—Pomona Division.

Inflationary pressure causes fee increase

CLAREMONT — Tuition at Pomona College will be increased next Sept. 1 from $2,730 to $2,950 and room and board charges will be raised from $1,400 to $1,600 it was announced by Dr. David Alexander, president of the college.

Formal announcement of the increases was made in a personal letter from Alexander to Pomona College's 1,300 students and their parents. The costs of other general fees will remain unchanged.

Alexander in his letter blamed "inflationary pressures" and mounting costs for food services, "increases which are virtually unprecedented in American experience," as reasons for the cost boosts.

He further noted that "it should be of interest to all students and their parents that the budget for 1974-75 shows that tuition and fee income provides only one-half of the educational and general costs, the other half being made up from endowment income, gifts and other sources. This half represents the college's subsidy of every student."

College student, 20, is Selassie successor

ADDIS ABABA (UPI — Aging Emperor Haile Selassie, his government rocked by military, political and civilian unrest, has unexpectedly picked a 20-year-old college student as his eventual successor.

Selassie, 81, in a surprise announcement to 700 guests gathered at the imperial palace for Easter, named his grandson, Prince Zera Yakob Asfa Wossen, Sunday as acting crown prince and next in line to assume the throne.

Prince Zera, a student at England's Oxford University, replaced his ailing father, Crown Prince Asfa Wossen, 57, who was paralyzed by a stroke more than a year ago.

The move came after a series of military uprisings, worker protests and legislative rebellions this year over demands for higher living standards and an end to government corruption.

The unrest forced the "Lion of Judah" emperor, who once held absolute rule over his ancient kingdom, to name a new cabinet and give the legislature additional powers.

(In London, the Guardian newspaper said in a dispatch from southern Ethiopia at least 15 persons were shot and killed Friday at the town of Arba Minch. The dispatch said peasants revolting against local officials and landlords burned farms along a 250-mile stretch of the fertile Rift Valley.)

Selassie did not say why he named Prince Zera as acting crown prince, but diplomats said it was possible the youth's father, hospitalized in Geneva, had become too ill to ascend to the throne.

The diplomates noted however, the ailing prince's position at the palace had become clouded long before his January, 1973, stroke.

"The emperor has never really forgiven Crown Prince Asfa Wossen for what he sees as his treacherous role in the abortive 1960 military coup when the prince reluctantly sided with the rebels," a Western diplomat said.

Zera Yakob, who studied at Canada's McGill University before Oxford, was described by diplomats as a diligent, level-headed young man who remained aloof from court infighting sparked by his father's illness.

"The choice of the crown prince's eldest son is in line with the constitution and as such will probably be welcomed by almost everybody," a diplomat said.

Oregon girl named top homemaker

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Susan Van Wechell, 18, a senior at Sunset High School, Beaverton, Ore., has been named Betty Crocker 1974 All American Family Leader of Tomorrow.

Miss Van Wechel recently won over more than 703,000 high school seniors from all 50 states and the District of Columbia.

She will receive a $5,000 scholarship from General Mills, sponsor of the annual education scholarship program. Her school will receive a 20-volume reference work, "The Annals Of America" from Encyclopaedia Britannica Educational Corp.

Miss Van Wechel is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Van Wechel, Portland, Ore. She plans to major in chemistry or biochemistry when she enters college this fall.

The Gordo Van Wechels live at 9303 NMW. Cornell Road.

Flying saucers final show topic

ALTA LOMA — The flying saucer controversy will be explored in depth during the Chaffey College planetarium's final show of the academic year.

The program, "UFO's — Fact or Fiction?" will be presented Tuesday, May 7 and 21 at 7:15 p.m.

Features of the show include the age of the universe, the possibility of life on other planets, the speed of light, the alleged sightings of unidentified flying objects, and the motivation for these so-called visits from outer space.

English attire, including hard hats, must be worn in order to ride. Scheduled starting time is 8:30 a.m. All classes have a $3 entry fee. Further information may be obtained by calling 599-3647, 983-8765 or (213) 335-7416.

Women's cancer topic for MSAC seminar

WALNUT — Nine nationaliy and internationally known medical experts will conduct a one-day seminar on cancer in women Saturday at Mt. San Antonio College.

The seminar, "A Symposium on Diagnosis and Clinical Management of Cervico-Uterine and Vaginal Cancer and Related Disease States," is being jointly sponsored by the American Cancer Society and the Inter-Hospital Council for Continuing Medical Education.

Taking part in the symposium, the first of its kind in the area, will be Juan A. Del Regato, director of radiotherapy at Penrose Cancer Hospital, Colorado Springs; James W Reagan, professor of pathology at Case Western Reserve University Medical Center, Cleveland; Stanley J. Robboy of the Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston Steven Silverberg, chief of the pathology department, University of Colorado School of Medicine, Denver; Gay Guzinski of the City of Hope Medical Center, Duarte; Charles P. Schwinn, director of cytopathology service of the County-USC Medical Center; Duane Townsend of the gynecologic oncology section of USC School of Medicine; Watson Watring of the UCLA Medical Center; Lydia Oswaldo, chief of surgical pathology at Mt. Sinai Hospital, Beverly Hills; and J. Douglas Smith, chairman of the American Cancer Society, East San Gabriel Branch, committee for medical education.

The inter-hospital council is comprised of staff from San Dimas Community Foothill Presbyterian and Glendora Community hospitals.

No leniency for this one

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A thief who stole $306 from a cash box in a county building ought to figure that if he gets caught, there's no point throwing himself on the mercy of the court.

The money was taken sometime between Monday night and Wednesday morning police said.

Then he escaped with the Superior Court judges' petty cash fund.

Nice bid can finish last

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South was pretty bitter about the whole thing. He had bid three notrump on the theory that the way to get top scores in match-point play was to play all hands in notrump.

He had won the heart lead and promptly led a spade. West had produced the king on that first spade lead and after mature deliberation, South had let that king hold. He was afraid it was a singleton, and in that case it was necessary to duck the first spade in order to score five spade tricks.

Opening lead—♥Q

West's play of second-hand high held South to three notrump and one match point on the score in the duplicate game.

How did this South get one match point?

It seems a couple of North-South pairs reached six spades. One made it.

At the other table the six-spade declarer won the opening heart in dummy; tried a spade finesse and then led a diamond to dummy's king.

West ducked as if he didn't have a care in the world. Later on North led a second diamond toward dummy and rose with the queen. West took his ace and promptly led diamonds back. If he hadn't, North would still have made the slam by means of a club-diamond squeeze against East.

She needs affection

By JEAN ADAMS

CUTTER: (Q.) My big hassle is that I'm on probation. I'm 15 years old and have been cutting school for almost two years.

Everybody talks to me about it but I just don't listen. That's my whole trip.

Can you give me some advice so I can get my head straight and keep in school? —Outsider in California

(A.) You need school more than school needs you. Face up to that fact. Stop copping out. The rest of your life depends on it.

LITTLE LOVE: (Q.) What can I do to make Jim more affectionate?

We have been dating off and on for a year and a half. We go to the movies and bowling but when we are alone he is like a tree trunk. Cold. When he leaves for the night, it is a quick peck on the cheek, with no embrace.

I really need affection. Not sex or heavy petting, but warmth. He is 20 and I am 18½ — Discontented in New Jersey

(A.) Discuss your feelings with Jim.

Then if he does not change for the better perhaps you should team up with a more affectionate human being.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The basic rights of human beings are being violated on every continent and in every region of the world, Nobel Peace Prizewinner Rene Cassin said Sunday.

Cassin, president of the International Institute of Human Rights, said in an address on Judaism and Human Rights, "there is no region of the world that is exempt from the taint of violence, no continent that does not offer the spectacle of the violation of fundamental human liberties."

Dodgers start quickly, hold off Mets

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES — There was only one game scheduled at Dodger Stadium Monday night. But 21,934 paying fans really saw two.

The first lasted just two innings and was an 8-0 Dodger victory. The second lasted 6½ innings and was won by the New York Mets, 7-0.

Walter Alston's spirited young crew outhit the Mets, 8-1, in the two-inning conquest. But the New Yorkers turned on their tormentors and lashed 12 hits to the Dodgers' none in the 6½-inning romp.

At least that was the way it looked from the press box.

Actually, the Dodgers, held on to take a narrow 8-7 decision from the visitors in one regulation game. But they were looking over their shoulders the last three innings.

The Angelenos played errorless ball. The Mets were guilty of two mistakes physically, two mentally, and one spiritualllly.

The last is the one that killed them. You can lay it on Felix Millan, the visitors' fine second baseman and number two hitter in the New York lineup.

Millan was hit by an errant Don Sutton pitch in the first inning. It made him mad. There's an old baseball axiom that says if you get hit, you take it out on the shortstop or second baseman.

Millan didn't have to try and steal. He got his chance when Cleon Jones, the next hitter rapped a double play ball at shortstop Bill Russelll.

Russell fired to Lopes for the first out. But there was Millan bearing down on the Dodger second baseman like a runaway express.

Somehow Lopes got the throw away to complete the double play. Then Millan crashed into him knocking him five feet backwards before he went down, completed a backward somersault, and wound up flat on his back.

Millan had done his job under the unwritten rules in spirited fashion. But it was a big mistake.

Lopes got up slowly, ignored Millan, stared briefly into the Mets' dugout and then trotted off the field. The visitors had been notified. A note was due and would soon be collected.

What followed was nearly a virtuoso performance. Lopes singled and stole second. Millan twice tried to sneak over for a pickoff attempt. Twice Lopes retreated toward the bag. Twice Millan turned back to his position.

The third time was different. As soon as Millan turned and started toward his position, Lopes was off like a shot for third base. He made it easily.

Meanwhile, pitcher George Stone had retired Tom Paciorek and walked Jimmy Wynn. Ron Cey should have been an easy out on a grounder to third baseman Wayne Garrett.

But Lopes dashed toward home to draw a throw and got himself into a rundown. While the Mets were trying to nail the elusive Lopes, Wynn and Cey were running flat out and reached third and second respectively.

Stone and first baseman John Milner were over between third and home now too. With all the traffic on the basepaths Mets catcher Ron Hodges, who didn't have the ball at the time, got in the way of Lopes.

Umpire Ed Sudol called interference and Lopes was awarded the next base which was home plate. Hodges was charged with an error.

So instead of two out and two on, the Dodgers had a run home, two on and only one out. Steve Garvey's tap to third should have been the third out. But it was only the second.

Singles by Willie Crawford, Steve Yeager and Bill Russell plus an error by Harrelson brought in three more runs, all unearned. Four hits in the second inning plus two walks and a sacrifice fly accounted for four more.

They needed them all.

"Lopes put on quite an exhibition," agreed Alston. "Without his determination, we couldn't have scored any runs in the first inning."

The Dodger play so far has opened the eyes of Mike Marshall and reduced the erstwhile scholar-instructor to words of one and two syllables.

"It's really something," he said. "This club can go out and play its average game, the players doing just what they do naturally, and play the greatest ballgame I've ever seen. There's an awful lot of talent."

It goes on display again tonight at 7:30 p.m. Tommy John (5-0) and Jerry Koosman (3-0) will be the pitchers.

Celtics in command?

LOCAL - NATIONAL Sports

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Tommy Heinsohn, while he denies it, has to feel a little like the guy in the drivers' seat.

His Boston Celtics won the first game of the National Basketball Association championship series Sunday. And they're in good shape for the second game tonight.

"We've proven we can play our style of game," he said. "But the Bucks haven't proved they can play theirs against us."

Bucks Coach Larry Costello has made some changes in an effort to prove his style of basketball can work against the run, run style of the Celtics.

"The Bucks aren't a running team," Heinsohn said. "They like to set up and work the ball for the shot."

Boston came out in a full court, game long press Sunday and they forced the Bucks to take so much time getting the ball into the forecourt there wasn't much time for Milwaukee to get set up.

Heinsohn can be expected to employ the same strategy tonight and some people expect Costello to try and get some help for his guards in bringing the ball up.

In the first game, which Boston won 98-83, Oscar Robertson hit only two of 13 shots from the floor and was generally ineffective on both ends of the court.

"But Oscar's a great, great player and you can't expect him to have that kind of a game all the time," Heinsohn said. "He'll be back in fine shape next time."

The Bucks will need good performances from Robertson and Bob Dandridge, who had only 12 points in the opener. Many people think Dandridge is the key to the entire series. As he goes, so go the Bucks, they say.

But the Celtics obviously feel very good about the series. They're confident and aware that they have set the tone so far.

"The intensity in the playoffs is great and you go out and do what you do because you have to," said center Dave Cowens.

"Everyone on this team is willing to sacrifice," he said. "It's not so much whether you hold your man down in points. It's the little things, like picking up a loose ball or geting a steal that can make the difference."

Heinsohn was confident, but not overly so on the eve of the second game.

"This series isn't over by a long shot," he said. "But the Bucks have to make some adjustments. Of course, if we win tonight, they'll have to make super adjustments."

Following tonight's game, the series shifts to Boston for games three and four Friday and Sunday.

Willie Crawford scores one of the Dodgers' four runs in a wild first inning Monday night in an 8-7 victory as Mets' pitcher George Stone tries in vain to get the ball in time to make tag.

Derby hopefuls get final chance

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — "I wish I was here with a lot more ammunition and had more time!"

Those were trainer Gene Cleveland's sentiments today when he sent Laguna Seca's Ga Hai to the post in the $20,000 added Derby Trial Stakes, a race that will decide whether the son of Determine takes on the nation's best 3-year-olds Saturday in the 100th running of the Kentucky Derby.

Eight horses were entered for this final prep race for aspiring Kentucky Derby winners. Two were withdrawn and another loomed as a possible scratch. That left Ga Hai, Crimson Ruler, To the Rescue, Robard and Perfect Aim as starters in a race that hasn't produced a Kentucky Derby winner since Tim Tam turned the trick in 1958.

Prove Lively hurt himself in his stall. King of Rome was too exhausted to race, according to his trainer. Gallant Cord is getting over a touch of colic but may be able to start.

"Ga Hai has blossomed since he arrived in Kentucky. But we really need more time. Four days to the Kentucky Derby after the Trial is too close. But we had no choice. if he runs a good race and doesn't come back all stretched out, we will run him back in the Derby," Cleveland said.

Ga Hai hasn't raced since he won a division of the Gold Rush Stakes on March 30.

"I planned to run him in the California Derby but he developed a low fever. It wasn't anything but he missed a workout and I couldn't start him. Now we are behind schedule and I hope we can make it up in the Trial."

Churchill Downs officials can count 18 sure runners in the richest renewal of the race that will be worth more than $300,000 if as many as 20 start.

The winner would get most of it, more than $200,000. Second place will be worth only $30,000 with $15,000 to third and $7,500 to fourth.

"That practically makes it a winner-take-all race," said one trainer, who said he would be more than glad to start his colt in the Twin Spires Purse on Saturday's program if its value was increased from $25,000.

Judger, Cannonade, Rube the Great, Accipiter, Agitate, Confederate Yankee, Flip Sal, Gold and Myrrh, Hudson County, Little Current, Sharp Gary, Triple Crown, Consigliori, Lexico, Set n' Go, J.R.'s Pet, Sir Tristram and Buck's Bid are expected to be entered on Thursday.

Destroyer, Bold Clarion and Silver Hope, along with the strong runners in the Trial, probably will join them and what once loomed as an unmanageable field will have shrunk as low as could be expected.

McCraw loves Fenway Park

BOSTON (UPI) — It was a night in the life of a utility ballplayer—the kind of game every bench warmer fantasizes about over and over.

It was Tom McCraw's night Monday. He was put in the California Angels' lineup after the team had dropped five straight and eight of their last nine, including six by one run.

McCraw, 1-for-7 on the season, tripled his batting average off Luis Tiant in hitting two homers and a pair of doubles to knock in four runs in a 7-2 victory.

"I always have had good luck in Fenway Park," McCraw said. "When I walk out in this ballpark, I feel like I want to play ball. This is the nicest park in the American League. It's neat, it's clean; I love it here."

The 33-year-old infielder-outfielder, now with his fourth American League team in his 12th major league season, displayed his love affair with chummy Fenway in front of 9,674 voyeurs that included a couple of streakers.

McCraw erased a 1-0 Boston lead with a second inning home run; set up a fourth inning run with a double; doubled driving home a sixth-inning run and scored moments later on the first of shortstop Dave Chalk's two triples; and homered with a man aboard in the eighth.

Boston went ahead on a walk to Doug Griffin (whose 0-3 night broke a 15-game hitting streak), a single by Cecil Cooper and a sacrifice fly by Carl Yastrzemski.

The Angels scored single runs in the second, third and fourth innings, added two in the sixth and two in the eight. The Sox got one back in the bottom of the eighth when Bernie Carbo's single scored Cooper who had walked.

Designated hitter Winnie Llenas was lost to the Angels for seven to 10 days when he was spiked by catcher Carlton Fisk while sliding home with the third California run in the fourth inning. Outfielder Joe Lahoud also suffered a minor injury in the game—pulling a muscle in his left side while batting in the first inning.

Boston could do little with right-hander Bill Singer. Singer, now 3-2, said he had most of his success "with my slurve ball— that's a cross between a slider and a curve."

Singer said his shoulder bothered him in the middle of the game. "The right shoulder kills me every game this year, starting about the fifth inning."

But it was Singer's "slurve" that killed the Red Sox, as seven batters struck out in Boston's sixth loss in seven games.

Angel players met for 1-½ hours in their Fenway Park clubhouse without Manager Bobby Winkles or the coaches.

"The meeting settled things," according to McCraw. "It helped bring problems to the top. We talked about the guys who weren't playing and thought they should be and things like that.

"I said, 'Why worry about not playing? That's the manager's job. It's up to him to put what he thinks are the nine best men on the field. It's not our worry. Don't take on his headaches—just be ready.'"

McCraw certainly was ready Monday night.

Walton to meet groups

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Bill Walton, UCLA's All-American center, was to meet today with two groups from the American Basketball Association who reportedly want to put a franchise in Los Angeles if Walton signs with the league.

Sam Gilbert, Walton's adviser, said the Bruin star also will meet with the San Diego Conquistadors of the ABA Wednesday and the Portland Trail Blazers of the National Basketball Association Thursday. Gilbert indicated Walton will make a decision Thursday on his professional future.

The Trail Blazers have the NBA draft rights to Walton and the Conquistadors have the ABA rights. San Diego had not previously indicated it would exercise its rights but a team representative Monday asked for a meeting with the Bruin center.

Gilbert would not identify the two groups involved in today's meeting.

"Bill has seen all the offers (except San Diego)," Gilbert said, "but the groups want to meet with him personally and it is only morally right that they do."

Sandoval joins U.S. boxing team

POMONA — Albert Sandoval, the defending AAU regional and national 106-pound boxing champion, has been named to the U.S. team which will meet the Russians in a series of three matches in the Soviet Union, May 11-19-22.

Sandoval, an 18-year-old freshman at Cal Poly, is one of 12 young boxers who will represent the U.S. It will be his second trip abroad as a member of the U.S. team.

The squad will leave New York, May 8 and return to this country May 24, in time for several members of the team to compete for AAU national titles at Knoxville, Tenn. in June. Sandoval will defend his 106-pound title at the nationals.

Broncos recruit cager

POMONA — Cal Poly basketball recruiter Allen Van Winkle has come up with his first top prospect to help rebuild the Broncos' cage fortunes.

Van Winkle, who handles most of the recruiting for head coach Don Hogan, announced the signing of forward-guard Denny Weisse, a 6-5 transfer from Casper (Wyo.) College.

Weisse is already enrolled at Poly.

A product of Marmian Military Academy and Aurora West High School in Aurora, Ill., Weisse averaged 12 points and 10 rebounds in his two seasons at Casper.

"Denny is an excellent shooter and I feel he will be an exciting player for us," Van Winkle said. "He is constantly moving and hustling. He brings real versatility to the team being able to play forward or guard."

Asked about deciding to transfer to Poly, Weisse said, "I considered Illinois State and Jacksonville before selecting Poly. My wife, Drew, and I are really enjoying California and are happy to be here"

Cal Poly, Chaffey players honored

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Dave Metkovich of Cal Poly and Dennis Hawkins of Chaffey College were named Players of the Week at the weekly baseball luncheon Monday at the Castaway Restaurant.

Poly played four games last week. The Broncos won two of three conference games from Cal State Northridge and lost a non-conference tilt to UCLA.

In the four games, Metkovich had five hits and batted in two runs. The sophomore from Torrance has played in 25 of the Broncos' 42 games. He has 19 hits including one double in 55 at-bats for a .345 average and has batted in six runs and scored six.

Chaffey outslugged Palomar 10-8 last week, but lost to Grossmont 11-3 and Citrus, 3-2.

Hawkins seven hits in 14 at-bats and stole nine bases in nine attempts. He batted in two runs and scored four.

The freshman from Fontana has stolen 44 bases in 48 attempts and has been successful 30 of 33 times in conference play. He is batting .363 overall.

The two edged three other strong candidates for honors.

Brad Koppel of Claremont-Mudd went six-for-10 as the Stags won two of three crucial extra-inning games from Occidental.

The former Pomona High player had three doubles and batted in five runs and brought the Stags from behind twice in a 15-inning marathon.

He doubled in the only C-M run in the 10-inning loss Saturday and singled in one of the three runs the Stags scored in extra innings to win the nightcap, 4-1.

Koppel leads the club in doubles with 10 and is tied for the club lead in runs batted in with 21.

Mike Alonso of La Verne had four home runs and eight runs batted in as the Leos swept three games from Pomona-Pitzer, 14-1, 9-6 and 23-0. For the season the big designated hitter is hitting .478 with 13 home runs and 38 runs batted in.

Quoting the coaches:

BILL ARCE, CLAREMONT-MUDD — "Brad Koppel is a pre-med major and has to take an examination Saturday morning. He'll miss at least the first game of our doubleheader at Whittier and may miss the second. Mike Bruno is throwing without pain now, but we can't afford to experiment with him as a starter because of the tight pennant race. However, we will use him in relief if needed."

BEN HINES, LA VERNE — "The race is going right down to the wire between Claremont-Mudd and La Verne although Whittier could back in. John Verhoeven has a bone bruise on the finger where the nail was torn loose and it hurts him when he throws a curve. Alonso is hitting the ball so hard that anything close to the foul pole is trouble. The ball clears the fence and lands a hundred feet beyond and the umpires are going by where the balls land instead of where they are when they clear the fence. He (Alonso) had another homer called foul Saturday. He lost two the week before."

TOM NELSON, APC — "Jim Donker (pitcher) suffered a separated shoulder last week. Our pitching has been our problem all season. Chuck Van Schoych has bated in 56 runs in 37 games. It's phenomenal. I've never seen anything like it. He's money in the bank whenever we get a runner on second or third.'

JOHN SCOLINOS, CAL POLY — "It's going to be rough trying to wind up the season .500 or better overall. Our guys deserve it. But we're 20-22 now and we play USC and UCLA this week along with USD. Next week we wind up with Cal State Fullerton."

SKIP CLAPROOD, CITRUS — "We've won eight of our last 10 games and that's a tribute to our athletes. I think it's indicative of our conference's strength that there are four teams that have won 20 or more games. There have also been five tournament championships, two seconds and two consolation titles."

JIM SCHROEDER, CHAFFEY ASSISTANT — "The key to stealing is getting on base and Dennis Hawkins does that. I've never seen anybody take the lead that he gets. A single is like a double. He's a great kid and does anything you tell him."

ART MAZMANIAN, MSAC — "We lost four games to Cerritos this year but we played good ball. They were great games. If you could package the games and change the results, I'd buy 'em. They were just four fantastic games and we could have won all four.

Olympic rules

LONDON (UPI) — The International Olympic Committee (IOC) Monday announced the draft for its new rule 26 on eligibility for the Olympic Games. A draft of the bylaws accompanying it is as follows:

Eligibility code

To be eligible for participation in the Olympic games, a competitor must:

1. Never have received any financial reward or material benefit in connection with his or her sports participation and concurrently with the bye-laws to this rule and the IOC rules (fundamental principles), 2 (antidiscrimination), 22 (affiliation), ... (doping), 27 (special conditions) and 49 (reporting, etc.) 2. Observe and abide by the rules of his or her international federation, as approved by the IOC, even if the federation rules are more restrictive than those of the IOC.

By-laws to Rule 26

1. A competitor must NOT:

A) Be or have been a professional in any sport, (or have competed in world championships open to professionals and amateurs.)

B) Have allowed his person, name, photograph or sports performance to be used for advertising other than what is for her international federation, national Olympic committee or national federation enters into a contract for sponsorship or equipment. All payments must be made to the international federation, national olympic committee or national federation concerned, and not to the individual. No competitor shall carry advertising material on his person in an international competition.

C) Have acted as a professional coach or trainer in any sport.

2. A competitor may:

A) Be a physical education or sports teacher who gives elementary instruction. B) Accept, during the period of preparation and actual competition, which shall be limited by the rules of each international federation:

I Assistance through his or her national Olympic committee or national federation in respect of : food and lodging, cost of transport, pocket money to cover incidental expenses, insurance cover in respect of accidents, illness, personal property and disability, personal sports equipment and clothing.

II Compensation, authorized by his or her national Olympic committee or national federation, in case of necessity, to cover financial loss resulting from his or her absence from work on basic occupation, on account of preparation for, or participation in, the Olympic games and international sports competitions. In no circumstances shall payment made under this provision exceed the maximum which the competitor would have earned in the same periods. If the compensation is not paid by the employer, it may be paid by the national federations or the national Olympic committees at their discretion.

III Accept prizes won in competition, within the limits of the rules established by the respective international federations.

3. Eligibility commission:

A commission may be appointed to enforce this rule and by-laws during and between the games.

Horrifying start

Astros can laugh

By United Press International

An evening that started on a horrifying note Monday night turned out to be a regular laugher for the Houston Astros.

The Astros were taking batting practice before the game with the Chicago Cubs when shortstop Roger Metzger, running laps in centerfield, and pitcher Don Wilson, shagging fly balls, collided head-on, causing Metzger to momentarily swallow his tongue.

The 26-year-old shortstop's life was saved by the quick reactions of third baseman Doug Rader and catcher John Edwards, who administered first-aid to the stricken player.

"He had swallowed his tongue," Edwards said, "and he was turning grayish and his eyes rolled where all you could see was white ... it really scared me."

Rader ran to Metzger, who was stretched out on his back in the outfield, and began pounding the side of his jaws with his fists. He succeeded in getting Metzger's mouth open and told Edwards to pull out the tongue, which he did.

Metzger then was rushed to the hospital and pronounced fit, except for a chipped bone at the base of his left thumb. Astro officials placed him on the 15-day disabled list.

The incident was similar to one involving Jesus Alou, a former Astro player who swallowed his tongue in a game against Pittsburgh a few years ago. Alou's life was saved in the same fashion by Pirate trainer Tony Bartirome.

Metzger's mishap might have taken the fight out of many clubs but the Astros certainly didn't show they were distraught. Instead, they pounded six Cub pitchers for 20 hits and equalled a club single game scoring record in an 18-2 triumph.

"When we got the good news that Roger was okay—that it was nothing serious—we all felt very good," said Astros' manager Preston Gomez. "We said 'let's win this game for Roger' and we went out and had a good night."

Lee May had the biggest night of any of the Astros, equalling a major league record by hitting two home runs in one inning and collecting five hits in five at bats. May hit a pair of two run homers in the sixth when the Astros scored nine runs. He also singled home another run.

Dave Roberts, allowing seven hits, went the distance for Houston to get his fourth win in six decisions. Roberts admitted later, however, that the sight of Metzger lying on the Astroturf was almost more than he could bear.

"I didn't want to see him lying on the Astroturf. It kind of upset me. It kind of drained me," Roberts said. "I went back to the locker room and started signing autographs. When we did get word from the hospital, somebody said Roger wanted to play. Can you imagine that?"

In the only other National League game, Los Angeles edged the New York Mets 8-7 while in the only American League games, California downed Boston 7-2 and Cleveland nipped Minnesota 3-2.

Indians 3, Twins 2

Dave Duncan's bouncing single over third base with two out in the ninth inning capped a two-run rally and gave Steve Kline his first victory in an Indian uniform. Kline, acquired from the New York Yankees last Friday night, went the distance scattering nine hits to boost his record to 3-2. Harmon Killebrew hit his 548th career homer for Minnesota while George Hendrick hit his fourth of the season for Cleveland.

Utah's Willie Wise tries to cope with Uniondale 'jinx'

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI) — Utah Stars forward Willie Wise has a problem to overcome in the American Basketball Association championship series starting tonight against the New York Nets at the Nassau Coliseum.

And if he doesn't overcome that problem, the Stars are in deep trouble.

"I don't like this building, I don't like this city," Wise said in mid-season. "Every time we come here we play bad. I think it's got a jinx on me. I don't think I've ever had a good game here."

Wise made those statements right after the Stars had gotten blown out by the fast-breaking Nets.

Monday the Stars went directly from airport to arena for practice and back at his hotel Wise was asked whether his feelings had changed.

"I still don't like this place," Wise said. "But maybe the bad luck will hold off awhile."

The Nets, youngest team in the ABA and hoping for their first league title, don't think they need goblins in the rafters to beat the Stars.

"We've got the talent to beat anyone," said Julius "Dr. J" Erving, who may be guarded by Wise in the series, though Wise rarely played him defensively during the season. "I don't say we'll beat them in four straight like we did Kentucky but I think we're a better rebounding and running team and I'm glad we're playing Utah rather than Indiana."

The Nets sat waiting and watching for nine days after their blitz of the Colonels in the East finals while the Stars and Pacers battled to seven games. New York coach Kevin Loughery admitted Monday that both he and his players had gotten a little edgy waiting for an opponent and he wondered whether the layoff would have a positive or negative effect on his team.

"The first two periods will tell," Loughery said. "We'll have to come out strong. You don't want to play catch-up to a veteran team like Utah. We're healthier now and certainly well rested but we may have lost some of our competitive sharpness."

Utah has a serious handicap with strong 6-foot-9 center Zelmo Beaty still sidelined with an infection. Beaty will not play in the first game but is expected back for the second game Saturday night, also at Nassau Coliseum. The third and fourth games next week will be played in Utah.

Stars' coach Joe Mullaney said he was surprised the Nets handled Kentucky so easily and had hoped the Colonels would beat New York.

"I would rather have played Kentucky," Mullaney said. "We've found it hard to keep up with the Nets. They're so fast and strong off the boards. We'll just have to rely on our shooting. If we're hitting our shots it's harder for them to run on us. But if we're not hitting, we may have to look for cover."

Black Hawks get one last chance

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Black Hawks, who never have beaten the Boston Bruins in a playoff series, get a last chance tonight to try to break that jinx.

The Hawks meet the Bruins on the Chicago ice for the sixth game of their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semifinal series, and it's a win-or-go-home contest for the Hawks. Boston holds a 3-2 lead in games and can advance to the finals against the Philadelphia-New York winner with a victory.

A win for the Hawks wouldn't be entirely unexpected. In the regular season Chicago won two and tied three against the Bruins, losing none, and in the playoff, Boston has won once in Chicago and twice at home while the Hawks have won once on each rink.

But the Hawks played subpar hockey in the last two games, both victories for Boston, and Coach Billy Reay conceded he was "disappointed" in the way his team played.

"We can play better," he said, "and we're going to have to play better."

But the Bruins have been gathering momentum in the series and, even though playing in Chicago, had to be favored to wrap up the event tonight. Coach Bep Guidolin of the Bruins was expected to use Gilles Gratton in the net again while Reay was expected to assign Tony Esposito.

The Hawks might be hampered a bit if left wing Dennis Hull can't play, and whether he will probably won't be decided until the pre-game warmup. Hull suffered a back spasm midway through the fourth game and was ineffective the rest of the contest. The ailment kept him out of the fifth game.

Both clubs were expected to have ice available this morning for warmups, but there was no indication how much skating either team would do. The Bruins arrived late Monday while the Hawks had a team meeting with little skating.

Reay did not indicate surprise at the fact the Hawks are trailing the Bruins since throughout the series he has praised his opponents as a "great" team. "They capitalize on our mistakes," he said, "and we have to make practically no mistakes to beat them. We have to capitalize on their's too, and they don't make many."

Should the Hawks win tonight, the seventh game would be played in Boston Gardens Thursday night.

Lakers hoping to sign Russell

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — The Los Angeles Lakers are bidding for the services of Golden State Warriors forward Cazzie Russell.

"I think we have a good chance of getting him," Alan Rothenberg, the Lakers' attorney, said Monday. "We're offering the same money that other teams are who want him and Cazzie wants to play for us."

Tryouts tonight for Sr. Division

LA VERNE — Tryouts for the La Verne Little League Senior Division (ages 13-15) will be held this evening at 5 p.m. at Pelota Park. Late sign-ups will also be accepted.

La Crosse game set

CLAREMONT — An all-star la crosse game will be played Wednesday night at 7 p.m on Pomona College's Alumni Field.

There will be no charge for admission to the event which will feature two teams made up of the best players in the eight-team Southern California La Crosse Association.

One team will be chosen from the players in Wednesday night's game. This team will play national champion Johns Hopkins of Baltimore, Md. Sunday, June 16 at USC's Cromwell Field.

Rangers can put Flyers away tonight

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The injury-plagued Philadelphia Flyers are faced with a must-win situation tonight when they host the New York Rangers in the fifth game of their Stanley Cup semifinal series.

The Flyers, who won the first two games of the series here, turned around and lost two games, two players and their momentum in New York.

"I guess we've just got to go home and regroup," said Flyers' captain Bobby Clarke after Sunday's 2-1 sudden death loss at Madison Square Garden.

"It's a best-of-three series now, and two of the games are in Philadelphia. I'd say that puts us in the driver's seat."

Rangers' Coach Emile Francis disagreed with Clarke's analysis of the home ice advantage.

"Nobody has an edge on home ice when two teams are evenly balanced," he said. "All you have going for you is what's going in a particular game."

What the Rangers have going for them is the confidence that comes with winning two pressure-packed games they had to win and the fact the Flyers have been hit with a rash of key injuries.

The most important was to defenseman Barry Ashbee who took a puck just above the right eye late in Sunday's game.

Sports news in brief

JACK GORDON, who was named general manager of the Minnesota North Stars last Thursday, also was named coach Monday by club president Walter Bush. Gordon, 46, was the coach of the Stars until last fall when he resigned for health reasons. Many believed this was a diplomatic way of bowing out after disagreements with Wren Blair, 48, general manager since the club was organized as a National Hockey League team in 1967.

CALE YARBOROUGH holds a less than 38-point lead over Richard Petty going into Sunday's Winston 500, final event in the first leg of the NASCAR Grand National standings. By beating Petty by 2.1 seconds in last Sunday's Virginia 500 at Martinsville, Yarborough climbed back into the lead with 517.14 points. Petty, the previous leader, now has 479.16.

AFTER 15 National Football League seasons with the San Francisco 49ers, defensive tackle Charlie Krueger is hanging up his cleats. Krueger said Monday his decision was "final." Coach Dick Nolan previously talked Krueger out of retirement in 1968 and Krueger did not miss a game in those next six years. The 49ers picked Krueger as their first round draft choice from Texas A & M in 1958. Now 37, Krueger said Monday "I delayed announcing my retirement for personal reasons but I plan to live and work in private business in the San Francisco Bay Area.

THE MILWAUKEE BREWERS said Monday they have placed veteran Felipe Alous on waivers for the purpose of giving him his unconditional release.

THE CINCINNATI Stingers, scheduled to begin play in the World Hockey Association (WHA) in 1975, were expected to name Terry Slater as head coach at a news conference today. Slater coached the Los Angeles Sharks of the WHA for two seasons. When the Stingers begin play in 1975 they will occupy new Riverfront Colisum, currently under construction along the Ohio River next to Riverfront Stadium.

THE SAN FRANCISCO Giants, hit by injuries at second base, Monday purchased utility infielder Damaso Blanco from their Phoenix affiliate in the Pacific Coast League. A Giants' spokesman said Blanco, 32, who spent parts of the last two seasons with San Francisco, was used primarily as a shortstop at Phoenix but is expected to fill in at second until Tito Fuentes and Mike Phillips are fully recovered from their injuries.

BALTIMORE COLT tackle Tom Drougas has signed a contract with the Portland Storms of the World Football League, it was announced Monday. Drougas, a 6-foot-4, 257-pounder, was the No. 1 draft choice of the National Football League Colts in 1972. Details of his Portland contract were not disclosed. The Storms said he would join their club in 1976.

Angels deal Scheinblum for Schaal

ANAHEIM (UPI) — The California Angels traded righthanded hitting outfielder Richie Scheinblum to the Kansas City Royals today for third baseman Paul Schaal in a straight player deal.

Schaal, 31, who started his major league career with the Angels before going to Kansas City in the 1969 expansion draft, was expected to rejoin California Friday when the Angels open a nine-game homestand.

Schaal, the player with the longest continuous service with the Royals, was batting only .176 this year. He was with the Angels five years before going to Kansas City.

The 29-year-old Scheinblum, used mainly as a designated hitter by the Angels, was hitting .154 this season after finishing 1973 at .328.

The trade will enable the Angels to move Bob Oliver back to first where he prefers playing, with Schaal taking over at third. Kansas City has been looking for someone to hit behind John Mayberry to keep the Royals' slugger from getting walked so often.

Pomona Kings collect doubleheader victory

PICO RIVERA — The Pomona Kings remained in contention for the Northeast Softball Association title Sunday by sweeping a doubleheader against the Los Angeles Braves.

The Kings, led by Dominic Acossano's four-hitter, defeated the Braves in the first game, 4-1. The Kings needed a little pressure to down the Braves in the second in eight innings, 3-2.

Edd Hoops' line drive in the eighth scored Mike Baker for the winning run in the nightcap.

The Pomona Royals didn't have the same kind of luck, however. The Royals dropped 11-2 and 15-0 decisions to La Mirada Sunday.

Hacienda prelims close

By KEVIN CLOE

LA VERNE — Unlike the Hacienda League dual meet season this year, San Dimas High failed to completely dominate the league's track preliminaries Monday afternoon at Bonita High.

However, the Saints did qualify the most athletes for Thursday evening's league finals, but two other teams just about matched them.

A total of 23 varsity and frosh-soph positions were grabbed by the San Dimas spikers, while Royal Oak and Ontario produced 22 qualifiers each and Alta Loma 20.

Numerous frosh-soph league records were established in the meet, but not a single varsity mark tumbled.

Most of the frosh-soph marks were recorded simply because there were no records in the books for the specific events.

Alta Loma qualified nine athletes for 13 varsity positions, the most varsity spots in the league. However, Royal Oak produced 10 qualifying athletes for 12 spots, while Ontario came up with eight athletes filling in 12 positions.

San Dimas could only claim 10 varsity qualifying spots, using eight athletes to do it.

Double qualifiers for the Saints on the varsity level included hurdlers Shelley White and Darrell Craig. White won his heat in the 120 high hurdles in 15.0 seconds.

Ontario and Alta Loma had four spikers each record doubles.

The guys who made the twin killings included hurdler Jim Donaldson, and sprinters Gilbert McCroey, Dave Warren and Joe Jefferson.

Alta Loma's double qualifiers were hurdlers John Lawrence and Pat Cowan, and sprinters Ron Ward and Mark Stokes.

Walnut failed to have any of its varsity athletes qualify in more than one spot. But sprinter Mike Pfeil had his chance. Pfeil qualified in both the 100 and the 220, but decided to pull out of the 100 and concentrate on the 220. So Royal Oak's Lenwood Young will fill the spot vacated by Pfeil.

The varsity field events were not held Monday, but will be conducted Thursday in the finals. Thursday's finals are scheduled to begin at 5:30 p.m. for the field events and 6 p.m. for the running events, all at Bonita.

The finals for the frosh-soph field events were held Monday, with two league records broken and one tied.

Ontario's George Beckner won the pole vault at 11-0, which topped the previous mark by three inches. Sierra Vista's Mark Caproni captured the long jump at 20-9¼ and upped the league record of 19-6¾. Bob Gildea of Gladstone tied the league record in the frosh-soph high jump at 5-8. Gerold Burleson took first place in the shot put (10 pounds) at 53-5.

Bruins rate as favorites over Trojans

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — University of Southern California track coach Vern Wolfe and UCLA's Jim Bush both predicted Monday that the Pacific-8 dual meet between the Trojans and the Bruins at the Coliseum Saturday probably will be close.

"I think the meet will go down to the mile relay,' Bush told the weekly luncheon meeting of the Southern California Track Writers. "And if I had money I would bet that we would win because our mile relay team is the best in the country.'

'It should be a close meet," said Wolfe. 'It could go either way. However, one or the other team might win by a big margin.'

Nineteen of 26 writers and coaches at the meeting picked UCLA to win the competition. The largest margin predicted for a Bruin victory was 93-52. The biggest margin given by a Trojan supporter was 80-65.

Wolfe said that his team will have to win the 440-yard relay and get at least one-three in both sprint races (the 100 and 220) to be able to win.

He also said that the javelin and long jump are key events.

"If we mess in these events,' Wolfe noted, 'we could be in real trouble.'

Bush listed nine events which could go either way—440 relay, both sprints, 440 intermedjate hurdles, javelin, high jump, long jump, pole vault and mile relay.

Wolfe announced that sprinter Guy Abrams, who reinjured a leg muscle last Saturday in the Mt. San Antonio Relays, will not be able to compete this weekend.

Long Beach State will host an invitational meet Sunday. Five name athletes have accepted invitations; long jumper Jerry Proctor, pole vaulters Casey Carrigan and Bob Richards Jr., and intermediate hurdlers Jim Bolding and Wes Williams.

Jerry Tarkanian's lawyer ask NCAA to hear client

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Nevada-Las Vegas basketball coach Jerry Tarkanian's lawyer has written a letter to NCAA Executive Director Walter Byers asking for a hearing for his client, it was disclosed Monday.

The letter, sent by attorney Richard Phillips, was dated last Saturday.

In effect, the letter threatened a suit against the NCAA unless Tarkanian was granted a hearing to refute four charges of misconduct inferred against him by the NCAA.

The charges included a long list of alleged violations of NCAA rules by former Long Beach State personnel in a release made public by the NCAA Council last Jan. 6.

Tarkanian was the head basketball coach at Long Beach for five years. He coached here last season.

In the letter, Phillips said he had been advised by Tarkanian that "these allegations bear no truth in fact as they pertain to him."

Stating that Tarkanian has never been allowed to confront his accusers and present evidence in his own behalf, Phillips told Byers:

"I am well aware that no action has been taken against coach Tarkanian and therefore he is not entitled to review. However, it should be abundantly clear that the action of the council adversely affects my client's interest. I requested that the appropriate administrative relief be granted in the form of a hearing and the eventual revision of the resolution; otherwise we will have no recourse but to litigate."

Tarkanian was never referred to by name in the allegations by the NCAA, which has placed Long Beach on probation for at least three years.

But the charges said "the former head basketball coach" engaged in illegal recruiting practices in four separate instances.

Claremont Cardinals switch to Legion play

CLAREMONT — Anyone from Claremont or Damien highs and living in the Claremont School District up to 18 years old, as of August 1, is invited to tryout for Jack Helber's Claremont Cardinals.

The Cards, who participated in the Connie Mack program last summer, will be switching to the American Legion program this year.

Helber will coordinate the sign-ups and tryouts Saturday morning beginning at 9:30 a.m. at Claremont High.

Practice will begin on the Monday immediately following the high school season.

Rowland qualifies eight

WALNUT — Eight Rowland High track athletes qualified for the Montview League finals Monday at the league's preliminaries.

None of the eight who did qualify won their heats.

A total of 14 frosh-soph spikers from Rowland moved into the finals, with sprinter Vic Garcia turning up the only victories. Garcia won the 100 in 10.5 seconds and the 220 in 24.0 seconds.

The Montview finals will be held at Mt. San Antonio College Thursday afternoon at 3:30 p.m.

Webb beats Sherman for 6-0 league mark

RIVERSIDE — Webb High took a 1½ game lead in the Arrowhead League standings Monday afternoon by virtue of a game-shortened 9-1 win over the Sherman Indian School.

Sherman's Daniel Lyons walked 10 batters, uncorked four run producing wild pitches while catcher Mike Monogye was charged with four run producing passed balls in the five inning fiasco.

"The game got started late and the wind was blowing extremely hard," said Webb coach Joe Zakem. "The wind was blowing so hard that their junk ball pitcher couldn't get the ball over and with the game starting late and the wind and them getting so far behind — they called the game after five innings."

Dan Wood picked up his fourth win in five decisions on the season and ran his Arrowhead slate to 2-0. Wood went the distance allowing three singles, including a second inning homer to Gus Hurtado, walked three and struck out seven.

Webb improved its record on the year to 13-5 and remained unbeaten against league opposition in six outings. Sherman dropped to 0-6.

The Gauls await today's outcome between defending champion Notre Dame (3-2) and Aquinas (4-1).

'Pack golfers edge Damien

CHINO — Claremont High, in its closest golf match of the year, still managed to keep their unbeaten record intact with a 211-216 victory over Damien at the Western Hills Country Club (back nine) in Chino.

The Wolves' Chuck Rosin took low medalist honors with a one-over par 38, his second good round in a row.

Damien's John Muchmore and Charles Ralston and Claremont's Andy Koppel all finished at 42 for runnerup honors.

The Spartans' Charles Fox and the Packs' Ralph Haas and Scott Sullivan toted 43's.

Claremont ran its 1974 record to 11 straight, 7-0 in league, and hope to make it 12 in a row Wednesday when they return to Western Hills for a match with Chino.

The Wolfpack junior varsity team also remained unbeaten in 11 matches with a 219-261 rout of Damien.

At Bridges Auditorium

Brendel presents recital

By RALPH PIERCE

CLAREMONT — Southern Californa pianists and music lovers who are in the know turned out in good numbers Thursday night to hear Alfred Brendel give one of his memorable recitals of great masterworks for the paino. Those who chose to stay at home and accounted for some of the empty seats in the large Bridges Auditorium were the losers.

In our present day concert world it seems that most performers feel they have to have a gimmick of some sort to justify the adulation of their public. Some rely on spectacular technical facility, others on unusual programming or various devices. This simply isn't necessary for Brendel. When he walks on the dimly lighted stage wearing a conservative business suit, you could mistake him for a college professor, but when he sits down to the keyboard and plays with his particular degree of sensitivity he is set apart from just about all of his contemporaries. He never includes any of the "show pieces" of piano literature but instead builds his programs from the great masterworks of piano repertoire.

From the opening Haydn Sonata in C to the closing bars of the monumental Beethoven Sonata Op. 111, one was constantly aware of the genius of the composer. For this reviewer it was the first time in a decade that the Beethoven Sonta Op. 111 was performed in a way that was completely convincing. The last few Beethoven sonatas have baffled many pianists as well as their listeners and only an artist of this calibre, who has studied and performed all 32 of the Beethoven sonatas, can project the work with the degree of understanding which gives the listener an insight into the composer's thinking.

The same thing was the case with the Schumann "Kreisleriana" which, because of its length and fragmentary sort of construction, has defied many pianists. It often comes off as a series of unconnected short excerpts but not as played by Brendel. As the work unfolded the listeners were made aware of the big concept of the composer as well as its programatic form. In this , as with all of the other works on his program, the emphasis was always on the composer rather than on the interpreter. If one were to try to make a listing of all of the greatest musical interpreter in all fields of music Alfred Brendel would have to come out awfully close to the top of the list.

Local chorus seeks singers

POMONA — The Pomona Community Chorus has issued a call for singers to present Brahms' "German Requiem" at the Pilgrim Congregational Church June 2.

Raymond Woods, director, will conduct the concert. Soloists will be soprano Tanya Harrell and bass Klass Volbeda. Gary Toops will accompany on the organ.

Singers interested in taking part in the concert can call Woods at 623-5251, Ext. 332, during business hours, or 983-6265.

Local groups represented at CAR convention

Three local agencies of the California Association for the Retarded (CAR) will send delegates to the CAR convention May 8 to 11 at the International Hotel, Los Angeles.

Keynote speaker for the convention will be Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Sending delegates will be Friends of Pacific State Hospital, Pomona, Retarded Children's Association of San Gabriel Valley, Covina, and the Ontario-Pomona Association for Retarded Citizens.

For Wednesday, May 1

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll not make as much of opportunities today as you should. This will be due to your indifferent attitude and lax judgment.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Too much of a good thing can be just as bad as too little. Be careful you don't over-indulge in gratifying pursuits.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Today you'll feel you have to be something you're not — to make a favorable impression on one whose position intimidates you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Choose your words and topics for discussion with friends carefully. You're apt to say something you'll want to retract, but can't.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your generosity will take precedence over your common sense and this could make a considerable dent in your wallet.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Even though you will know better, you'll succumb to pressure from another and make a wrong decision based on their advice.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It's nice to help others, particularly those who'd help you. Today, however, you'll neglect one who is helpful to assist one who isn't.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You will not be at your best if you are dealing with too large a group. Keep committees and advisers to a minimum.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Try not to take credit for something you haven't accomplished as yet, even though you feel it's a certainty. There will be a small delay.

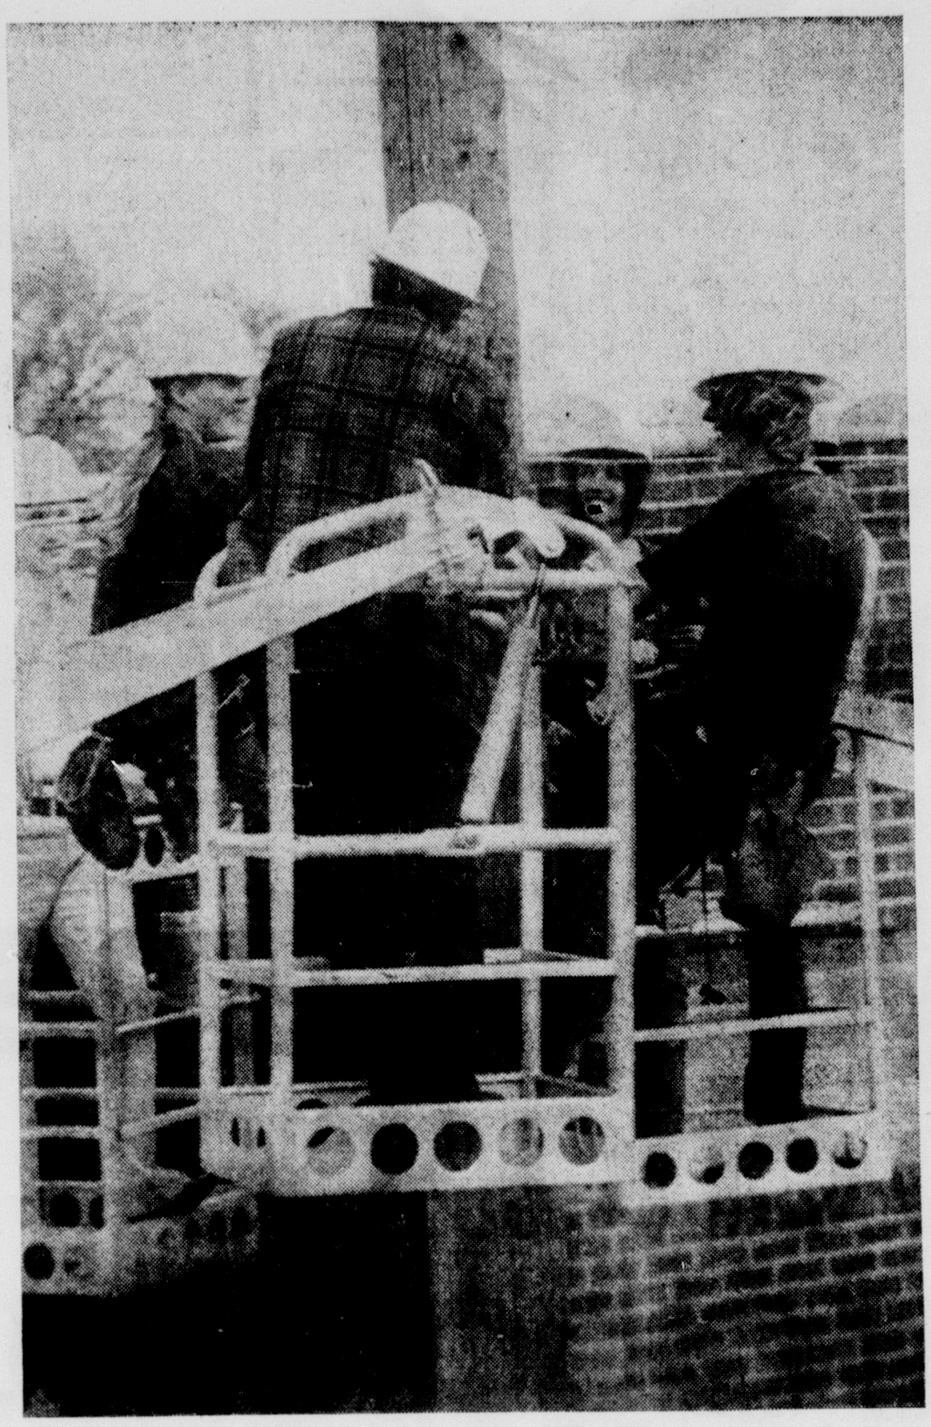
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Someone you know with some very grand ideas tells them in a manner that's quite believable. Dividing them in half is nearer their worth.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your're not the best adviser today in helping another sort out business affairs. It would be wise to offer as few suggestions as possible.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't rush into making hasty judgments today. You're likely to overlook important details that should be considered.

Your Birthday
May 1

This will be a very active year for you socially. New groups you will travel in offer new opportunities if you're on your toes.



UP IN THE AIR OVER WEDDING — John Thornton, right, and Sue Rees, left, exchanged traditional wedding vows in a nontraditional setting Saturday. They were strapped to a telephone pole in North Des Moines, Iowa. Thornton, a foreman for a cable-TV firm said poles are his way of life "so why not get married this way?" The young couple are shown exchanging vows while magistrate Gerald Levy (back to camera) performs the ceremony from a bucket truck next to the pole.

Wallace says he will run for president

ABERTVILLE, Ala. (UPI) — All the voters have to do is ask and Gov. George C. Wallace says he will run for President in 1976, making his fourth bid for the office.

"I'll run for the Presidency in 1976 if they want me to run, whether my critics like it or not," Wallace said as he campaigned this weekend for his unprecedented third term as governor.

"If I think it will help Alabama and the country —that will be the main thing," Wallace said. "When I was shot in the last primary I had more votes than anybody."

Wallace was paralyzed from the waist down during an assassination attempt in May, 1972, as he campaigned in the Maryland presidential primary, which he won the day after he was shot.

"Despite all the dark days, I would do it all over again because I love Alabama, and if you elect me governor again, I'll make you proud of me," Wallace said.

At another weekend campaign stop, in mostly black Tuskegee, Wallace said he wants "to have the endorsement of all the people of Alabama" in his bid for reelection.

Wallace recently was endorsed by several black leaders around the state including Tuskegee Mayor Johnny Ford and black probate Judge William McKinley Branch of Greene County. Wallace's reaction to the black endorsements have been terse. While in Tuskegee' he told a civic group he "appreciates very much" Ford's endorsement.

The endorsements by Ford and others, who claim Wallace's stand on segregation has changed, drew criticism from Joe Reed, chairman of the Alabama Democratic Conference, the state's largest black political group.

Reed said Wallace could expect nothing but "nonsupport" from his group in any political race he chose to enter.

"These folks who pretend they are going to get blacks to vote for George Wallace are just whistling Dixie," Reed said.

Traveling pet needs health certificate

By DR. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: Is it always necessary when going into Mexico to have a bill of health for your dog? — T. A.

Dear T A: Yes, you need a current health certificate (Form 7743, available from your veterinarian) validated by the Mexican Consulate, each time your dog enters Mexico. A current rabies vaccination is also required.

Incidentally, you need the same health certificate to bring your dog back into the United States from Mexico.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Mudder and Merriweather are my freshwater mussels. I got them as pets but they're very dull as far as I know because I never see them. They move around in the sand, though, so I guess they are exciting to each other. My questions (which I know you are waiting for) are: (1) What are they eating? (2) Are they always going to be this kind of pet? — E. G.

Dear E. G.: Freshwater mussels feed on algae in the sand, presuming of course there is some. Mudder and Merriweather may not be quite as interesting as some pets but there are advantages. They do, indeed, have modest mealtime requirements. They are friendly, never getting into fights that disturb the neighbors — and they never need to be walked in the rain.

DEAR DR. MILLER: I'm rather new at the petting game, myself. I've always loved animals but never had any until now. One thing that worries me a little: How do you know whether a furry list beastie is ever in pain or not? — I. G.

Dear I. G.: Pain in a pet may be subtle and obscure or pronounced and obvious. A puppy whose paw is stepped on may cream and limp about on three legs or perhaps not even move. One more phlegmatic, or with a slightly lesser injury, may not fuss at all or hardly even limp. A dog may have a very painful stomach ache, and still respond with enthusiasm to going for a walk. A cat with a painful spine may resent handling but remain active and move about with no easily apparent problems

All pets, like owners, vary from the inordinately infantile to the sedately stoic where pain is concerned. The susceptible sissies usually let their owners know soon enough when they have a sore spot. For the rest, you should know your animal's normal behavior. If this pattern changes, consider pain as a possible reason. Your veterinarian is the logical adviser on what to do.

Six persons die in crash

FARMINGTON, New Mexico (UPI) — Six persons, three of them small children, were killed early Sunday in a headon collision outside Farmington, police said.

Police said the accident occurred shortly before 4 a.m. on a hill one mile west of State Road 170 on U.S. 550.

One of the victims was Henderson Talk, 24, of Shiprock, who was alone in his pickup.

The other victims, all of whom were in the same car, were Ruby Mae Merritt, 30, Aneth, Utah, her 9-year-old son, Peter, her 6-year-old son, Amos, and her 2-month-old daughter, Diane. The other victim had not been identified, and police said she was believed to be a hitchhiker about 19 years old.

Mrs. Merrit's 3-year-old daughter, Karen, was critically injured and was in the intensive care unit at the San Juan Hospital in Farmington.

Apartment hunting

Young Wallace tests interracial reactions

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — George Wallace Jr., son of Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace, said Monday he did not get clearance from his father before he and a young black woman went apratment apartment hunting.

Wallace, a 22-year-old Huntingdon College student, and Huntingdon coed Evelyn Bradford visited four local apartment complexes as a part of a social problems class study to get the reaction of persons to unusual circumstances.

He and Miss Bradford posed as an interracial couple about to be married and apartcent hunting.

"I only told Daddy that we were having a sociological experiment at school, the mustachioed young Wallace told UPI. "It was fun. It gave me a lot of insight into people."

Wallace, who is dating a white girl, said one apartment manager was willing to rent to them as a prospective couple and the others turned them away. He said several of them recognized him as the governor's son and were dumbfounded before they were told it was an experiment.

"One showed us around and the others were cold," he said.

"At first they looked at us, looked away and then acted like we had knocked the breath out of them," young Wallace said.

"I was really a little apprehensive about the whole thing," he said. "I thought the attitudes would be worse, but the times are changing."

Other Huntingdon students pretended to be blind shoppers at stores, posed as female slaves offered for sale at $2,500 each in the shopping mall, and some painted their faces green to get the reaction of fellow shoppers.

Kaiser receives emission delay

SAN BERNARDINO (UPI) — The County Air Pollution Control District hearing board recently agreed 5-0 to grant Kaiser Steel Corp. of Fontana variance until Dec. 31, 1976, on emissions from its coke ovens.

The firm is currently experimenting with a device to reduce such emissions.

You're doing your part.

We're doing ours.

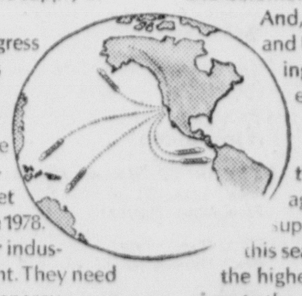
Long before the energy shortage hit the headlines, we were anticipating a shortage of natural gas in Southern California.

That's why for the past four years, the Southern California Gas Company and its parent company, Pacific Lighting Corporation, have been doing everything possible to increase the supply of natural gas.

And we are making progress. In terms of an adequate gas supply for residential customers, our area is in better shape than most parts of the country. Even without additional supplies, we can meet these needs at least through 1978.

But the outlook for our industrial customers isn't so bright. They need more gas, along with other energy sources, if a cutback in production and employment is to be avoided.

So, we're working to bring even more gas into Southern California. For example, we have a contract already signed in Indonesia for a minimum twenty-year supply, subject to governmental approvals. And an agreement in Canada with Pan-Alberta Gas Ltd. for a six-year supply.



We've filed an application with the Federal Power Commission to build a coal gasification plant in New Mexico. We're negotiating with producers in the Cook Inlet area of south Alaska for a liquefied natural gas source. We're supporting exploration and development of gas supplies in Australia, Panama and Colombia.

And, along with other California and U.S. companies, we're working on the largest energy project ever conceived: The $5.7 billion Arctic Gas pipeline.

Nowhere in the world is there a more widespread and aggressive search for new gas supplies. We pledge to you that this search will continue. And that the highest priority attention will be given to the environmental effects of our proposed projects. Sufficient energy and environmental protection must go hand in hand.

We're doing everything within our power to eliminate unnecessary delays and to continue serving you with clean-burning natural gas at a price that will still make it a bargain among energies.

Has your cigarette "changed" lately?

Maybe it's time to change your cigarette.

Has your brand changed its filter? Its taste? Its pack?

Change to Kent.

It'll give you back what your brand took away. Maybe even more.

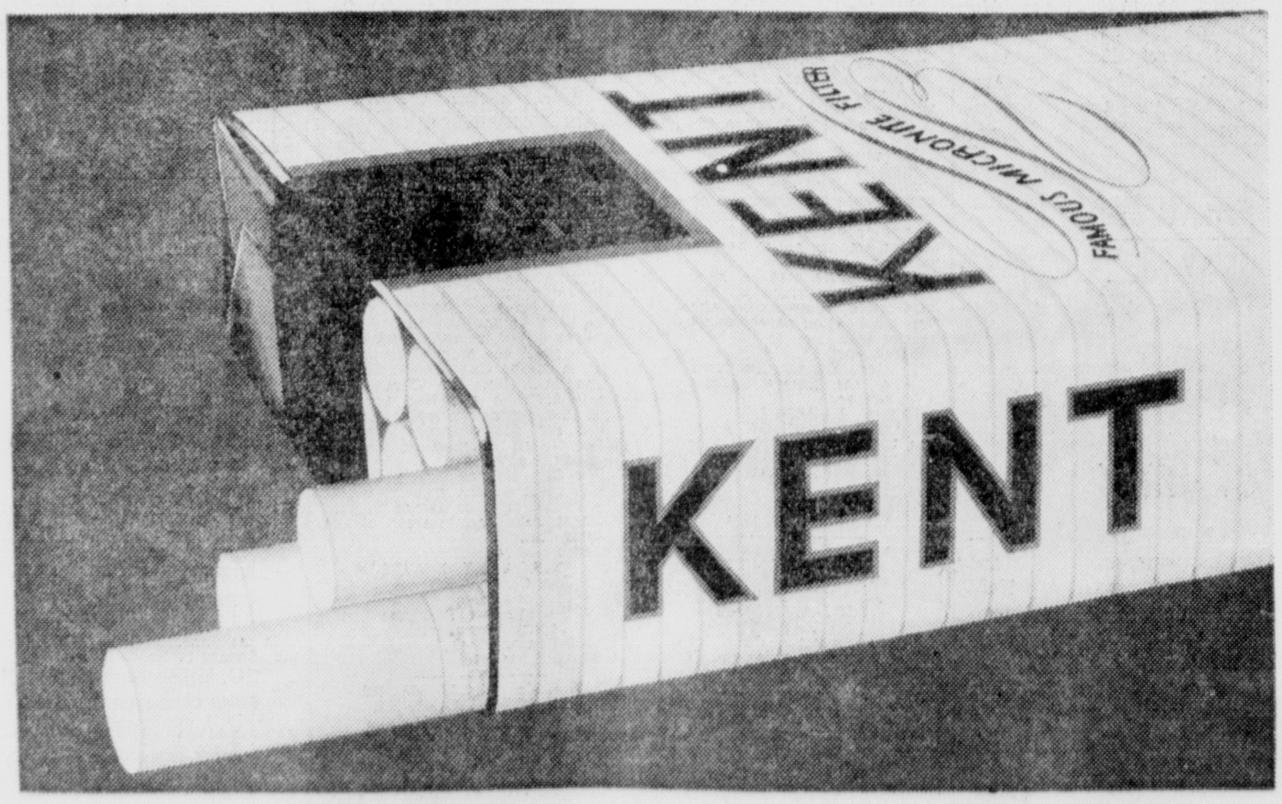
The mild, smooth taste you want.

The clean, white Micronite filter.

And, of course, the famous Kent quality.

Try a taste that's too good to change.

Mild, smooth taste. Famous Micronite filter. America's quality cigarette.



Kent. We wouldn't change it for the world.

WINTER GUESTS — This family of Canadian geese strolls along the shore of Lake Merritt in Oakland enjoying the East Bay sunshine. An expert at the San Francisco Zoo said the parents probably decided to spend the winter in the Bay Area instead of flying south with the rest of the flock. He said the birds will probably fly north as soon as the youngsters have learned how to fly. (UPI telephoto)

S.F. business hurt by Zebra

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The rash of random street murders by the "Zebra" killers have caused a sharp drop in business in many parts of San Francisco.

"Zebra has petrified the city," says Davey Rosenberg, the portly spokesman for the city's North Beach District. "If it weren't for the Japanese tourists, we'd all be out of business."

He said that businesses with valet parking or garages nearby are doing far better than those without.

"People simple wont walk the streets after dark anymore," said Rosenberg.

Rosenberg called on Mayor Joseph L. Alioto to either resign or quit his campaign for the governorship.

"This is a crisis. We need a full-time mayor," he said.

Republicans facing rough 1974, says Ford

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republicans are in for "a tough time in 1974," says Vice President Gerald R. Ford, and part of the trouble is that they are worrying about the 1976 presidential election instead of their chances this year.

"Republicans in 1974 are facing a tough election and we should not sweep under the rug the fact we've lost some special elections this year," Ford said Wednesday at a meeting of the Republican Women of Capitol Hill, an association of congressional secretaries and aides.

"I find too much concentration among Republicans on 1976 and not enough concern about 1974," he said. "The fact we have to recognize is that the Republican party is having a tough time in 1974."

He urged the women to "go back to your bosses and tell them to be optimistic rather than pessimistic."

Marco DeFunis case

Supreme Court action threatens split in civil rights movement

WASHINGTON UPI) — In sidestepping a decision on the merits of a controversial discrimination suit, the Supreme Court has left unresolved an issue that threatens to split the civil rights movement down the middle.

The Court rejected a few days ago the claim of a white law student that he was discriminated against by the University of Washington's programs for admitting minorities. The Court thus left undecided the central issue of the case — whether quotas or preferential admissions constitute a form of reverse discrimination.

At stake is not only the issue of admissions policies in colleges and universities, but potentially affirmative action programs of both corporations and labor unions designed to increase minority participation in predominantly white institutions.

In the University of Washington case, Marco DeFunis argued he was turned down for admission to the Law School even though blacks with lower grades and qualifications were admitted.

For many in the old civil rights coalition —that included religious groups, labor unions, public interest organizations and black groups —quotas or preferences for blacks are considered necessary at this time and represent a logical implementation of the Supreme Court's 1954 decision outlawing segregated school systems.

Supporters of this view argue that the effects of racial discrimination are so deeply embedded and long-lasting that special or affirmative actions need to be taken to erase those effects.

Opponents of minority preference programs argue that institutions should be color blind and persons should be judged only on how well they meet an institution's qualifications. Quotas or preference systems, in this view, constitute reverse discrimination and violate constitutional guarantees.

In addition, many Jewish groups harbor strong memories of the use of quotas as a discriminatory device used to limit their admission to certain institutions.

The depth of the split in the civil rights coalition can be gauged in part by the volume of "friends of the court" briefs filed in the DeFunis case.

Among them are briefs from practically every civil rights group, many major religious groups, several unions and some prominent members of the legal profession.

Justice William J. Brennan, one of four dissenters in the 5-4 ruling on DeFunis, said the number of briefs indicate that "few constitutional questions in recent history have stirred as much debate, and they will not disappear."

Brennan added: "They must inevitably return to the federal courts and ultimately to this court."

The breakdown of the briefs suggests the size of the break in the rights coalition.

Among those supporting DeFunis were the American Jewish Congress, the American Jewish Committee, the Anti-Defamation League of B'Nai B'rith, and the AFL-CIO. Groups supporting preferential admissions policies included the United Auto Workers, the United Mine Workers, the National Education Association, the Union of American Hebrew Congregations and the National Council of Jewish Women.

For the rights movement, the danger is that in having agreed on the principle of a desegregated society —and pushed that principle to legal acceptance in the 1954 school desegregation decision —it will break apart over its implementation.

Former Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg recently summed up the scope of the DeFunis case when he said "there is a clear and present danger that the fissure in the civil rights coalition evident in the DeFunis case will widen to busing and other difficult cases which are coming to the courts for adjudication."

Record month seen for speeding cases

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California Highway Patrolmen will arrest a record 100,000 speeders this month in a "saturation point" crackdown on violators of the energy crisis-spawned 55 mile per hour limit, Commissioner Walter Pudinski said today.

Pudinski said arrests so far this month were averaging 3,623 a day—nearly triple the number cited in April of last year.

"Speed enforcement is approaching the saturation point, based on the number of men we can put on the road at any given time," Pudinski said. The CHP has 4,900 men in the uniform traffic division:

"Violation percentages indicate we could arrest 100,000 per day if we had enough men and equipment," the commissioner added.

Speed studies for March and April, he added, show that 70 per cent of vehicles are exceeding the 55 m.p.h. maximum limit on rural freeways and from 30 to 45 per cent on the San Diego and Los Angeles urban freeways.

"Speed enforcement will continue at this peak level until evidence shows that violations are headed down. We will keep the pressure on until motorists comply voluntarily," Pudinski added.

"The need to conserve energy still exists, and as long as the law is on the books it will be enforced," the CHP chief said.

He also said that truck and bus arrests number from 160 to 200 per day with the balance of the current 3,623 representing passenger vehicles and motorcycles."

N.Y. health dept. warns of imports

NEW YORK (UPI) — Drums, wine skins, rugs and other items made in Haiti from untanned goatskin with hair attached may be contaminated with anthrax, an acute bacterial disease which can be fatal if untreated, the New York City Health Department warns.

No cases of anthrax illness have been reported in New York State, but a health department spokeman said a Florida woman was reported last week by the National Center for Disease Control to have been affected by the illness.

The city health department said recently anyone who has bought any such untanned goatskin products from Haiti should immediately put them in a sealed, tied plastic bag and bring them to health authorities for proper disposal.

"People should not attempt to sterilize or decontaminate the items themselves, or throw them away," the health department said. Inspections were ordered today of music, curio and souvenir shops and boutiques in New York City to look for contaminated products.

First to use police whistle

First policeman who used a whistle to direct traffic was Capt. Bernard Hoppe on the Boston force in 1908. File that . . .

Just $15,000 was all the inventor of the brassiere made out of that useful device . . . A billboard in that carrot country around Holtville, Calif., advertises a pesticide thusly: "Fear no Weevil" . . . Only one out of every 50 cases of Rocky Mountain spotted fever crop up in the Rocky Mountains . . .

Before age 3, boys get more colds than girls. After that, it's vice versa. All the way up.

A German doctor named Professor Fritz Roeder at Gottingen University claims he has cured repeat cured nine out of 10 of the alcoholics and drug addicts he has treated by use of brain surgery. With no serious side affects. The craving, he says, centers in a small area of the brain. By destroying cells in that area, he reports, the urge to partake is also destroyed. Interesting, if true.

Part of the registration fees at the University of California at Los Angeles pay for the cost of contraceptives which are available free to students there.

What, an oyster stew without oysters? Certainly. The roots of that Algerian oyster plant known as salsify make excellent oyster stew.

Just as gloves have separate places for fingers today, so did the socks in old Rome have separate places for toes.

That word "opera" means "work" in Italian.

Q. "What sort of standard allowances do parents give their children, say from ages 6 through 12?"

A. Age 6, nothing to a quarter. Age 7, a quarter. Age 8, a quarter to a half collar. Age 9, a half dollar. Age 10, a half dollar to a dollar. Age 11, maybe 75 cents to a dollar. Age 12, a dollar or more. So reports the researchers.

You may consider yourself an exceedingly Seasoned Citizen if you can remember the day when it was good manners for a man with a sulfur match to light his own smoke first before offering the light to the ladyfriend.

Remember, young lady, the bigger the pineapple, the better. That's because the larger pineapple has far more good grub in it in proportion to its shell than does the littler pineapple.

Drag racing crash kills one

LONG BEACH (UPI) — One person was killed and another seriously injured Sunday when their car was struck by an auto which allegedly ran a traffic signal while drag racing.

Dead was Jennie Macenski, 51, of Bellflower. Her husband, Alex, who was driving their car, suffered serious injuries.

Charged with suspicion of manslaughter were a 17-lear-old youth who drove the car which collided with the Macenski auto, and Carman J. Lachat, 20, the driver of the other car in the race.

Sheriff's officers said the drag-racing autos were clocked by radar at 87 miles an hour before the crash.

Bradley budget $739.3 million

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Mayor Tom Bradley Monday presented a $739.3 million proposed budget for the 1974-75 fiscal year to the City Council.

This represents a $43.5 million increase over the current budget.

About $594 million of the money was set aside for general government operations while the other $145.3 million makes up the "noncontrollable" section of the budget.

The "noncontrollable" part is expected to result in an 89-cent rise in property taxes for every $100 of assessed valuation. This would place the city's property taxes at about $2.85 for every $100 of assessed valuation.

The council's finance committee will hold public hearings on the budget next Monday.

Vesco terms N.Y. verdict a surprise

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fugitive financier Robert Vesco said he was surprised at the outcome of the Mitchell-Stans trial, telling CBS news Sunday it was "the first fair verdict I've heard in a long ime."

But he added he has "no desire to come back" to the United States. Vesco was reached at his San Jose, Costa Rica, home.

The government alleged Vesco looted $224 million from four overseas mutual funds and the $200,000 campaign donation was made with the hope of stopping the Securities and Exchange Commission probe.

Vesco said he was surprised at the not-guilty verdict because he thought the publicity would override the legal process.

"My own view ... the pretrial publicity had been so serious that it may override the proper judicial process ... that they may be found guilty due to nonlegal facts."

When told former Attorney Genera John Mitchell did not share surprise, Gesco said, "he's in a much better situation than I."

"I certainly would hope that people would take proper notice ... that this would have a dramatic favorable impact ... because the type of circumstantial evidence that surrounds the impeachment process is comparable to what Mitchell and Stans had there in New York."

Olympic winners

The United States won the first 10 modern Olympics Games, beginning in 1896 in Athens and continuing unbroken until 1936 when Germany was the unofficial winner in Berlin. After the World War II hiatus, the U.S. won in 1948 and 1952, the Soviet Union in 1956 and 1960, the U.S. again in 1964 and 1968 and the USSR was the winner of the last games in 1972.
